'Obey Civil Rights Law' Alabama Firms Urge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Twenty-two of Alabama's most influential business groups, possibly indicating a crack in the state's "hard line" segregation stand, today called upon the people of Alabama to obey the civil rights law.

"In light of recent developments in Alabama, we feel that the business community has an obligation to speak out for what it believes to be right," the groups said in a full page advertisement in the Birmingham Post-Herald, Alabama's largest morning newspaper.

The far-ranging statement said many Alabama people disagree with the civil rights law, but added, "we do, however, have an obligation to abide by it, and this we will do."

There was no immediate reaction from Gov. George Wallace or other state officials.

But observers saw the statement as an indication of growing support by Alabama business leaders for acceptance of the law, severely criticized in the state.

These observers also sensed a more moderate stand on civil rights by Alabama lawmakers. A special session of the legislature currently is engaged in legislation to ease voter registration requirements in the state.

WIRE BRIEFS

Ceasefire Proposed

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India has agreed to Pakistan's proposal for a cease-fire on the Kutch-Sind border, where Indian and Pakistan forces have clashed during the last few days, External Affairs Minister Swaran Singh said today.

Third Day of Riots

SEOUL (Reuters) — The South Korean government moved troops into the centre of Seoul today to quell violent riots over relations with Japan. Some 3,500 demonstrators, led by students, fought through tear gas and smoke in clashes with riot police for the third straight day.

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Some 250 Samaritans living in Israel today crossed through the Mandelbaum Gate of this divided city on their way to Nablus in Jordan for passover.

Windfall Shares 'Regarded as Loan'

TORONTO (CP) — John Campbell, former director of the Ontario Securities Commission, testified today he got 5,000 shares of Windfall Oils and Mines Limited stock from Mrs. Viola MacMillan.

Mr. Campbell—who held the securities post at the time—told a royal commission investigating Windfall's July, 1964 fluctuations he was handed the stock by Mrs. MacMillan, wife of Windfall president, at a time when he was working to keep Windfall from being suspended by the Toronto Stock Exchange.

He said he regarded the transaction as a loan. The commission had heard previous evidence that he repaid the stock Aug. 4, 1964. He obtained it July 12.

Mr. Campbell testified Mrs. MacMillan handed him the 5,000 shares at a hotel here, where he had gone to try to persuade her and her husband George to provide additional information about Windfall for the exchange. It was threatening to suspend the stock because of lack of information to counteract rumors of an ore strike that had sent Windfall skyrocketing.

RECORD CREST EXPECTED FRIDAY

Mississippi Inches Up

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, both in a state of emergency, watched the rampaging Mississippi River inch upward today toward an all-time record crest.

St. Paul lowlands were flooded and at least five Minneapolis industrial areas were threatened.

The Mississippi reached 25.5 feet in St. Paul today—11.5 feet above flood stage—and the river is expected to crest at 27 feet Friday and hold that level several days.

The big St. Paul dikes through the heart of St. Paul were holding and engineers were confident they'll stand the crest, although underground water gushed up, flooding a four-mile-long stretch on the east side of the river.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin said today that under present conditions it appears southern Manitoba's Red River Valley will have flood conditions within the next two weeks of "equal dimension" to that of 1948.

This means that "very serious" flooding may be expected in the town of Emerson on the North Dakota border and in Morris, 30 miles north of Emerson.

Flooding could also be expected in the Elm Park area of metropolitan Winnipeg.

WILSON TELLS LBJ:

U.K. Supports U.S. Stand In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today after a conference with President Lyndon Johnson that Britain strongly supports the U.S. position in Viet Nam, but that no aid can be expected from London in the struggle against Communist guerrillas.

Wilson said Britain was unable to offer more than expressed support because it is so heavily committed in Malaysia and the Middle East.

Johnson and Wilson conferred for about an hour before a White House luncheon in the prime minister's honor.

The luncheon itself was delayed more than 30 minutes while the two leaders completed their business talk. Johnson planned to leave later today for an Easter weekend in Texas.

CORDIAL, FRUITFUL

Johnson said the private meeting with Wilson was "very interesting, very cordial, very fruitful."

While mutual monetary and economic problems were high on the agenda, the situation in Southeast Asia, as expected, came in for considerable discussion.

Wilson said:

"I expressed the very warm support our people gave to his Baltimore speech (on Viet Nam). "It was very much welcomed by our people. It answered the doubts a lot of people had all over the world."

At this point, Wilson was asked whether he foresaw an "increased British role in Viet Nam." The prime minister quickly ruled this out on grounds that British strength is "quite fully committed" in Malaysia in addition to extensive peacekeeping efforts in the Middle East.

However, Wilson gave enthusiastic support to the U.S. position as outlined in the Baltimore speech for three reasons. He said it reflected U.S. determination to continue resistance to violence in Southeast Asia, it held out the hope of the discussion and negotiation of peaceful settlement, "and it was forward-looking — raising the horizons by very hopeful suggestions" of co-operative economic development of the area.

"I think the president said quite fully what the position should be on discussions and it is now up to other countries to respond to that position," Wilson said.

YOUTH CORPS

Canadian Task Force Head Named

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson today announced initial steps to get his company of young Canadians organized and on the road.

The troop-leader for the job will be 29-year-old Duncan Edmonds, persently executive assistant to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

Edmonds has been associated with a number of student organizations including the Canadian university service overseas which Wednesday received a promise of $500,000 from the government to expand its work.

A former political science lecturer at Carleton University in Ottawa, Edmonds will be the secretary of the organizing committee. Other appointments will be announced soon.

Pearson said the CYC would be a focal point for "the service to the community which many young Canadians are eager to give, both at home and abroad."

He said he had been overwhelmed with the response from youth groups and individuals who wished to contribute to the young task force.

With a wry chuckle he said he had decided to bury the phrase "eager beavers" which he had initially used in describing the company.

Kent Guides Nation's War On Poverty

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson confirmed today appointment of his special assistant Tom Kent as chief of staff for the Canadian government's war on poverty and the setting up of a cabinet committee to make plans.

The special cabinet planning committee will oversee the five-point program set out in the throne speech April 5. Mr. Pearson will be chairman and Labor Minister MacEachen vice-chairman.

The program covers a Canada Assistance Plan, the Company of Young Canadians, a rural development fund, labor mobility and training measures, and extension of area development programs to provide new forms of industrial assistance in low-income areas.

A special planning secretariat directed by Mr. Kent, will begin work on four tasks:

1. Analysis of existing federal measures aimed at overcoming inadequate economic and social opportunities.

2. Assessment of the extent and nature of the problems of poverty and inadequate opportunities.

3. Development of proposals for further federal measures and for their co-ordination in the interests of maximum effectiveness.

4. Consultation with the provinces so federal action can be made in concert with provincial measures.

Firm Gets Go Ahead

OTTAWA (CP) — Atomic Energy of Canada Limited has declared "technically sound" the heavy water production process proposed by Western Deuterium Company of Victoria, Industry Minister Drury announced today.

The announcement, in effect, is the go-ahead for Western Deuterium's big heavy water plant at Estevan, Sask. (See story on Page 8.)

Wig Thieves Loot Second Toronto Firm

TORONTO (UPI)—Police today linked a $7,000 theft of some 125 hair pieces with an international ring of wig thieves.

A downtown wig store was looted Wednesday night of an assortment of wigs and police said it was possible that the same gang is responsible for a $10,000 theft of wigs from another Toronto firm in February.

"We've been told this has got to be a real big business in the States," said Det. George Hogg. There's a wig shortage down there and it's possible the stolen goods are heading that way."

Police said it was possible the Toronto thefts were connected with wig thefts in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago, and other American cities.

Target Inside South Viet Nam

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—An armada of 230 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes bombed a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border from "dawn to dusk" today in the biggest air raid of the Viet Nam war.

U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine aircraft based in South Viet Nam were joined by navy planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway and Skyraider fighter-bombers of the South Vietnamese Air Force. They dropped approximately 1,000 tons of bombs.

It was the first time U.S. Navy planes had gone into action against targets inside South Viet Nam. Previous navy raids have been made on North Viet Nam.

Planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet also carried out the first United States night flight over North Viet Nam Wednesday night. A spokesman said no bombs were dropped or rockets fired because no targets were seen.

Radio Saigon said South Vietnamese fighter-bombers also were over North Viet Nam after dark and that they bombed a military convoy.

A Communist broadcast from Hanoi said the U.S. planes struck at night "in an attempt to avoid the disastrous defeats which had befallen their previous raids conducted in plain daylight."

DENOUNCED THE RAID

North Viet Nam denounced the night raid which it said was over "several villages" and protested to the International Control Commission on Indochina about raids on populated areas.

A U.S. spokesman said the target of today's bombing raid near the Cambodian border was a tangled jungle region nearly two miles wide by 3½ miles long in Cay Ninh province, 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

STRIKE AT BUNKERS

The raid was directed against "bunker type" installations as well as other Communist targets.

By late afternoon a huge wall of smoke and fire obscured the Cambodian border. There had been six secondary explosions, presumably from Viet Cong ammunition caches.

DRIVING CAR

Mountie Killer Sighted In Burnaby?

BURNABY (CP)—A reported positive identification of murder suspect Russell Spears turned a police hunt to this suburban Vancouver municipality today.

But police had found no sign of Spears at noon, 15 hours after the report.

They kept their main activity centred on the Okanagan Valley, where the shot was fired last Saturday that fatally wounded an RCMP constable.

Burnaby police said a person spotted driving a sedan car was identified from a photograph as Russell Spears, 59, of Westbank.

Spears is charged with capital murder in the slaying of Const. N. M. Bruce, 26, who died four days after suffering a gunshot wound last Saturday at a cabin in the Okanagan Valley.

The suspect was driving a sedan with a trailer hitch and Hula-girl mascot in the rear window. The police informants, not identified, did not get the licence number and RCMP in the main search area in the interior said Spears did not own a car of the description given.

Const. Bruce was shot when he investigated a report that a 17-year-old girl was being held against her will near Westbank.

"We don't know just how much importance to attach to the identification by photograph," a police spokesman said. "But we can't ignore it.

"He is still believed to be in the Westbank area but there's always the possibility he could have got a car and got out."

The girl, Beverley Charest, was shot in the jaw in the same incident and is unable to speak. She has written an account of the circumstances for police.

FLAG LOWERED

The flag in front of the RCMP station was lowered to half staff Wednesday as more men and dogs were brought in to intensify the search that has been in progress since Saturday.

Most of the RCMP efforts are concentrated in the rugged Black Canyon-Powers Creek area about 20 miles southwest of here, a region of clear slopes frequently dotted with deep, steep, bush-filled ravines and swift-running creeks. Old prospectors' cabins abound in the area.

There is snow on the ground above the 4,000-foot level.

Police said Spears has a long history of living off the land. It

EXECUTED

Viet Cong Terrorist Ran Out of Names

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—A Vietnamese firing squad today executed a young Viet Cong terrorist who tried to bomb a hotel filled with American servicemen.

A crowd of about 2,000 civilians watched the execution from roof and tree top perches ringing the soccer stadium.

A ripple of applause could be heard from the spectators gathered atop a railway bridge as bullets tore into the body of Le Dua, 24, a Communist agent with a long record of terrorist activities.

Le Dua was the confessed leader of three separate terrorist squads operating in the Da Nang area. He was captured April 4 as he carried a transistor radio packed with explosives into Da Nang's grand hotel.

A military court quickly ordered the death penalty for Le Dua but he won several reprieves by revealing the names of fellow Viet Cong agents. As Le Dua continued to talk the execution was postponed.

He ran out of names yesterday. A Military tribunal tried him again yesterday and reaffirmed the death sentence.

ORCHARDIST FEARS FOR SAFETY OF FAMILY

'I Saw Someone Staggering Up . . .'

KELOWNA (CP)—An eyewitness to Saturday's shootings in Westbank said today he will not stay in his own home at night.

George Webber, a fruit farmer, said he takes his family away from their house at night to stay with relatives.

He returns to tend his orchards only during the day.

Mr. Webber, who turned in the complaint Saturday morning that Const. N. M. Bruce was answering when he was shot, said householders in the area are jittery.

He said they fear murder suspect Russell Spears is still in the area.

Mr. Webber said he phoned the Kelowna RCMP detachment Saturday morning after his 14-year-old son told him about a man trying to "corner" him in Black Canyon.

Mr. Webber said his son became suspicious when a car without lights drove slowly past the Webber home about 6 a.m. Saturday.

The boy followed the car about half a mile to a Black Canyon cabin, where a girl called out to him from behind a tree.

A man appeared from the cabin and ordered the girl inside then tried to "corner" the boy.

The youth ran home and told his father. When the police arrived, they parked in Mr. Webber's front yard, he said, and told him to stand by the radio in the car.

Const. K. E. Jones stationed himself atop a bluff near the trail to the cabin, and Const. Bruce walked along the trail.

Mr. Webber said the next thing he knew, Jones was shouting to him to radio the Kelowna detachment.

Mr. Webber said he was unable to operate the radio, and when Const. Jones ran to the car, he too had difficulty.

"Then I saw someone staggering up the trail yelling for help," said Mr. Webber.

"At first I thought it was the constable, there was so much blood. I started to run over that way, and I saw it was a girl . . . she was all blood, all over her face. Her sweater was soaked with it."

Mr. Webber took the girl, 17-year-old Beverley Charest, to hospital in Kelowna.

"I'm a veteran," said Mr. Webber, "but it got me to see something like that right here."

LONDON—After 31 years as headmaster of a Church of England school at Tongham, Surrey, Geoffrey Birch has retired and became a bookie.

"I can make far more money," said Birch, 60.

"Being a bookie is something I've dreamed about for at least 15 years. I only wish I'd made the decision earlier."

Birch said that for the last year he's been getting experience by working weekends and during school holidays at one of Britain's many legal betting shops.

Wednesday, the local betting licensing committee granted the retired headmaster a licence to run his own shop and take bets on horses and greyhounds.

Birch said the vicar at the school "seemed thrilled about my new career.

"He didn't throw up his hands in holy horror. On the other hand, he didn't ask to open a betting account with me."

LONDON — A former leader of Britain's anti-fox hunters said Wednesday he had been wrong.

"I now believe that until something better comes along fox hunting is the best way of controlling foxes," he said.

Not only did Norman Redman, 20, renounce the League Against Cruel Sports, he added insult to injury by going fox hunting Tuesday with the Crawley and Horsham fox hounds.

Dressed in cavalry twill trousers, a hacking jacket and a riding hat, Redman was booed and jeered by his former friends, members of the West Sussex Hunt Saboteurs.

A year ago Redman was arrested and fined £25 ($75) for actively sabotaging a fox hunt in Sussex.

Redman said he changed his mind after doing research on fox hunting and talking to fox hunters.

SAN FRANCISCO—You know the guy who always gets to work on time and does his job well—makes the rest of us look like slobs? Well, the poor fellow may be suffering from chronic anxiety.

The chronically anxious feel miserable, but they are physically, intellectually, emotionally and socially above average, Dr. Herman A. Dickel, University of Oregon medical school psychiatry professor, said Monday at a convention of the American Academy of General Practice.

When the person bottles up his emotions but forces himself to keep going while holding back, he's a typical victim of chronic anxiety. He is like persons who "drive a car by stepping hard on the gas, and then put their foot on the brake to hold it down to the speed they wish to go."

And they worry all the time, Dickel said. They even worry about worrying.

Pair Hanged For Murders

LANSING, Kan. (AP)—Richard Hickock and Perry Smith, partners in crime, were hanged at the state prison Wednesday almost 5½ years after they were convicted of one of the bloodiest murders in Kansas criminal annals.

"I don't have any hard feelings," Hickok told witnesses. "You're sending me to a better place."

Smith smiled, but his last words were a complaint.

"I think it's a hell of a thing that a life has to be taken in this manner. I think capital punishment is legally and morally wrong."

They were found guilty of slaying Herbert Wesley Clutter, a wheat farmer, his wife, teen-aged daughter and son at the lavish Clutter home west of Garden City, Kan., the night of Nov. 14, 1959.

Small Jobs Need Early Attention

By HILDA BEASTALL

While we await more settled weather and somewhat warmer nights before putting out young bedding plants raised in the greenhouse, there are plenty of small jobs to be done around both the greenhouse and the garden.

Hilda

Sweet peas, which were sown in peat pots back in February and were planted out last week, should be checked over to be sure that each stem has been pinched back part way.

If this is not done when the little plants are about four inches high, the vines are inclined to be weak and spindly.

Pinching back does not delay flowering, but it does make for stronger growth, larger flowers, and a longer season of bloom.

Two shoots will normally begin to grow from the lower part of the stem, and for general garden decoration and cut flowers both may be left to grow.

If exhibition flowers are wanted, the thinner or weaker of the two is nipped out, leaving one to grow on the supports.

Pinching back is also done now on the young snapdragon seedlings. They may be already planted out, since they are hardy to light frosts if properly acclimatized beforehand.

Like the sweet peas, the centre of each plant is removed with the thumb and forefinger. Within a week the shoots at the base should be seen growing strongly.

This treament prevents the snapdragons from rushing into bloom before the root system is large enough to handle a perfect spike, and produces instead three or more large spikes of flowers all at the same time.

These in turn are removed as the flowers begin to fade, and before any of the pods set seed. Each plant will then continue to produce more and more spikes right through the season until about late October.

One tagged plant of the white variety named Alaska produced for us five dozen usable flower spikes in a controlled count.

These were cut twice a week, never allowing a seed pod to remain on the plant.

RISK INVOLVED

S.E. Asia Aid Must Be Swift

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Eugene R. Black, picked by President Johnson to lead an international assault on hunger and poverty in Southeast Asia, wants to get the program under way as quickly as possible.

Black considers swift action necessary to create a climate of co-operation in Southeast Asia and to enlist the aid of Western Europe.

Johnson offered U.S. investment of $1,000,000,000 in a vast international program to attack Southeast Asia's economic woes.

Like the president, Black sees vast prospects in the harnessing of the mighty Mekong River, which flows through Southeast Asia and empties into the South China Sea.

A United Nations program with Canadian financial and technical help already has been started there. Since 1958, hydrological and other surveys have been made, so that much data already is available.

SOME RISK INVOLVED

In an interview, Black acknowledged there is an element of risk: The possibility that China may, in any event, eventually dominate all Southeast Asia.

"But that is the risk we must take," he said. "We must go ahead on the assumption that they will not. There is a better chance that the Chinese will dominate if the people of the area are not well fed. People will adopt communism more quickly if they are hungry."

Black, 67, became a U.S. director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank) in 1947 and its president in 1949, a post he held until his retirement in January, 1963.

Since his new assignment was announced, he has been spending much of his time in Washington studying the problems involved, and has been conferring at the United Nations in New York with Secretary-General U Thant. He pictured the secretary-general, too, as eager to see the program get under way.

The war in Viet Nam, the hostility between Indonesia and Malaysia, and problems of politics and instability may prove difficult, but they do not dismay Black.

'NEED NOT WAIT'

"Of course," he said, "it is always harder if there is a lack of pacification and stability, but it is not impossible. It does not mean we must wait for the end of hostilities."

In fact, he said, if the program should not get under way promptly, "we may be surrendering an area that can be saved."

Black said he would welcome Soviet participation, too, but he did not appear to entertain much hope that the Communist countries would accept.

'No One Gets Turned Down On Paint-Up'

"We don't turn anybody down," said special projects and architectural consultant Roderick Clack today after a woman complained of discrimination by city hall in its paint-up program.

Mrs. Edith Worthington, of Ainslie Worthington Agencies, 1322 Government, wrote city council saying the 1300 block of Government was discriminated against and classed with semi-slum area.

Mr. Clack said only one proprietor in the block had failed to apply for plans and advice in the current paint-up '65 program.

He said although the 1300 block was outside the target area for this season, any business premises or landlord will be given aid to improve building appearance.

"Plans for other buildings in the (1300) block have been processed by our office.

"Mrs. Worthington was told earlier the office would be only too pleased to provide a color scheme for the Worthington Agency building," Mr. Clack said.

BOY GETS DAD

'I've Been Waiting So Long'

TORONTO (CP) — "Are you my father?" asked the solemn-faced little boy at Malton Airport's immigration barrier. "I've been waiting so long, and I'm so happy."

Eleven-year-old Ma Ka Yeung speaks no English, but his adoptive father Harry Loo, 61, of Toronto interpreted for the boy who Tuesday was seeing for the first time the family that had supported him since birth at Hong Kong.

Ka Yeung's natural parents, refugees from Communist China, had agreed to the boy's adoption in 1954 because of inability to support their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Loo, Canadian citizens, wanted a son to join their only daughter, Lorena, now 12. They adopted Ka Yeung through Mrs. Loo's uncle, Kwan Kok Kong, with whom the boy has lived through 10 years of unsuccessful attempts to get him into Canada. The Loos have provided $60 a month for his maintenance.

Mr. Loo said the long delay in getting the boy into Canada resulted from too rigid a reading of the law by the immigration department. Only in March this year did the minister of immigration sign an order-in-council permitting Ka Yeung to enter Canada.

The boy was escorted on the Hong Kong-Tokyo-Chicago-Toronto flight by schoolteacher Kong Wai Ying, the bride-to-be of Jack Wong, 28, of Belleville.

Canada Would Agree To C'wlth Assembly

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson today termed a suggestion for a Commonwealth parliamentary assembly "an extremely interesting idea."

The proposal was put forth this week by Britain's Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley.

Bottomley said that such an assembly would be a natural development after the commonwealth secretariat is formally established when the 21 prime ministers meet in London in June.

An assembly, he said, could provide a political forum to examine the secretariat's work.

Pearson said that if the idea were discussed and received general approval at the meeting, "we would certainly go along with it."

He pointed out, however, that there already was a Commonwealth Parliamentary Association which had proved "very useful and successful."

"Perhaps this existing body could be expanded to meet with the idea of an assembly," he suggested.

RULE CHANGES URGED TO END 'DICTATORSHIP'

MONTREAL (CP)—A former Progressive Conservative MP Wednesday suggested Parliament's rules be changed so that a government could only be defeated on a special motion calling for its resignation.

Egan Chambers, who sat for St. Lawrence-St. George between 1958 and 1962, told a service club that once a party leader becomes prime minister he becomes a "virtual dictator."

He said that if a government proposal could be defeated without bringing about defeat of the government itself, it would give "the opinions of the members and opinions of his constituents the importance they deserve in the House."

"Such a defeat would merely mean one aspect of government policy would not be accepted," he said, and called for a fresh look at the political system to enable it to cope with the 20th century.

PROPAGANDA DRIVE BY REDS PREDICTED

WILLY BRANDT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt predicted today that the Soviet Union and East Germany would launch an anti-western propaganda offensive next month to mark the 20th anniversary of the German surrender in Europe.

He said the Communists could be expected to exploit memories of conditions and sentiments then existing to try to "confuse things" for the German people and the western allies.

Brandt made the prediction at a news conference one day after meeting with President Johnson. Brandt is on a 10-day visit to this country.

MAN STABBED

Violence Marks Canadair Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Eleven men have been charged with disturbing the peace and police are looking for the person who wounded a tool designer with a knife as the Canadair strike moved into the Easter weekend.

Police arrested seven of the 3,100 aircraft plant strikers Wednesday after a mass of pickets tied up traffic between the plant gates in suburban St. Laurent.

They were charged and released on $950 bail with trial set for April 24, the same day as four men arrested Tuesday on similar charges.

Police are seeking the assailant of Douglas Wheaton, 42, a tool planner at Canadair for 17 years who was stabbed in the thigh while passing through a group of strikers on the way to work.

He was given hospital treatment for his injury and then released. There are 1,600 employees continuing on the job. The company said major production lines are operating but at a "vastly reduced" pace.

The strikers, represented by the International Association of Machinists (CLC), walked off the job at 12:01 a.m. Monday in support of higher wages. There have been no talks between union and management.

'Suspend Air Attacks' Galbraith Urges LBJ

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—John Kenneth Galbraith has urged that the United States suspend air attacks on North Viet Nam.

Galbraith said the Democratic administration had made a mistake in initiating the raids and that they were based on a misreading of public opinion.

But the Harvard economics professor, a Democrat, praised President Johnson for his willingness to negotiate a settlement of the war. He said the president's speech last Wednesday was a "bold, liberal statement."

Galbraith spoke Wednesday night at an eight-hour "teach-in" at Harvard on Viet Nam policy. Ten professors from Harvard and neighboring universities expressed varied views before an audience of several hundred.

Galbraith said the bombing of North Viet Nam has risked escalation of the war and could only stiffen the enemy's will to resist. He said it might also serve to push the Soviet Union back into the embrace of China.

He said a settlement "along the lines reached in Laos" would be the best solution the United States could hope for at present.

Boy Jailed 12 Years

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — Maurice Devost, 16, was sentenced to 12 years imprisonment Wednesday for manslaughter in the stabbing death Nov. 29 of Marie Lavergne, 69, in nearby Cache Bay. Devost was on trial for five days for capital murder before he pleaded guilty to manslaughter April 2.

AFTER THIRD DEFEAT IN TWO DAYS

Labor Fires Salvo at Lords

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—While Prime Minister Wilson was promising to "knock hell" out of U.S. business competition in New York Wednesday night, his supporters were threatening to slam the stuffings out of the House of Lords in London.

The Lords handed Wilson's Labor government its third defeat in two days and Socialist ministers immediately put the word about that their lordships were going too far.

Wilson is prepared, if necessary, to pack the Lords with hundreds of new life peers if the Tory-dominated upper house persists in delaying or amending legislation, senior ministers said.

Newspapers generally gave front-page splash display to Wilson's New York speech in which he told of a resurgent Britain eager to do battle with the giants of trade and "knock hell" out of U.S. bankers, financiers and industrialists in business competition.

There were also front-page accounts of the goings-on in the House of Lords where, for the second consecutive day, the Socialist government was humiliated by adamant Tory peers.

TORY MOVE WINS

By 38 votes to 34, the Conservatives pushed through an amendment to limit to three years the term of office of commissioners engaged in law reform.

On Tuesday, Tory, Liberal and cross-bench peers decisively defeated the government—by 75 votes—on a bill to block compensation for an oil company that suffered heavy losses in Burma in the Second World War.

In all, there now have been six defeats of the government in the Lords since Wilson came to power last October and the new ones have added greatly to Labor's mounting anger at the delay to its heavy legislative program.

William Hamilton, a leading Labor backbencher from Scotland, plans to introduce a bill to abolish the Lords' power to hold up government measures for a year. He had asked Wilson earlier to "liquidate" the upper house.

Ministers recalled pointedly that Henry Asquith, the late Liberal prime minister, threatened to create 600 additional peers in 1911 when he was having trouble with the upper house, always Tory-dominated because of its hereditary basis.

NOW 1,100 PEERS

There now are 1,100 peers in Britain and, observers feel, nobility would indeed be thickly spread now had Asquith gone through with his threat.

Fewer than 700 peers are described as "active," however, and daily attendance in the Lords is generally about 140—so that even the so-called active aristocrats are not regular attenders.

Canada in Africa

OTTAWA SEEMS TO BE TAKing a gamble against long odds with its decision to equip and train an air force transport organization for the East African Republic of Tanzania. External Affairs Minister Martin announced in the Commons that $9 millions had been allocated for the program and that an air force mission would be sent to Tanzania within six weeks to get things under way.

Since the Canadian government must be well aware that Tanzania—an amalgamation of the newly-independent states of Tanganyika and Zanzibar — is the prime target of Communist Chinese penetration in Africa, it can be concluded that this air transport program is a last-ditch attempt to maintain Western influence in the country. Originally, West Germany had agreed to undertake the project but backed out when Tanzania granted diplomatic recognition to East Germany. Tanzania's President Julius Nyerere then asked Canada to take over this task in addition to an earlier Canadian commitment to supply a military training mission for the army.

The whole situation is made extremely complicated—and risky—by these factors:

In addition to the Canadian military training mission, there are also Chinese and Soviet military instructors in Tanzania and there is sharp competition between Russia and China for influence and control;

Tanzania has become the headquarters and marshalling ground for the East African "liberation" movement whose first aim is to drive the Portuguese out of Mozambique;

The vastly-enlarged Chinese embassy at Dar es Salaam is considered to be the focal point for Chinese Communist subversion in both southeast and southwest Africa;

As well as accepting Chinese military advisers, President Nyerere came back from a recent visit to Peking with a group of agricultural and economic advisers and a loan equivalent to $34 millions;

To top it all off, although Mr. Nyerere claims that he needs an air transport arm to preserve order in his country, Portugal believes that the ultimate use to which it will be put is to invade Mozambique.

This all adds up to a very confused and unstable situation which poses serious risks for Canada. Nevertheless, if there is a chance that Western influence can be maintained by Canada during the difficult period ahead, and if President Nyerere's apparent desire to maintain Tanzania as a neutral state will be strengthened, then perhaps the risk is worth taking.

Canadians may, in fact, take a certain pride in the fact that their country's aid was sought by Tanzania. It is recognition of Canada's status as a peace-seeking nation with no colonial ambitions in Africa.

At the same time, Canadians should be aware that in equipping and supplying a Tanzanian air transport force, and in providing a military training mission, they are projecting themselves into a situation which could have serious repercussions.

The Wrong Approach

THE proposal of Britain's Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley for creation of a "Commonwealth Parliamentary Assembly" needs considerable clarification before it can be properly assessed. But on the basis of what has been advanced so far, if the assembly were in truth to function as a legislation-passing parliament it would not fit the structure or needs of the Commonwealth; while if it is to be merely a loose consultative group, this function is already filled by the periodic Prime Ministers' conference.

A body designed to pass legislation common to all members of the Commonwealth would immediately run into the problem which is one of the chief anomalies of the United Nations today: the major powers can be out-voted by the large numbers of new, small and inexperienced states whose ballots are equal in weight to those of the larger nations. In a similar Commonwealth voting assembly, would India, say, or Canada or Australia permit itself to be committed to a majority decision on the basis of votes from Tanzania, Ghana or Ceylon?

The strength of the Commonwealth has always resided in its flexibility, its adaptability to the peculiar circumstances of its evolving members, its looseness of attachment which yet retained a sense of community. To try to impose uniform legislation on today's congeries of Commonwealth nations would have little chance of success.

It would be almost impossible to fashion legislation of any importance that could be applied equally to Canada, India and Britain, to say nothing of the other lands. Canada, with its inevitable involvement in North American affairs; Britain, with its commitments to the European Free Trade Association and perhaps in the future to the Common Market; India, with economic and social problems differing so radically from our own —these could derive little benefit from a common parliament, for such a body could deal with no more than trivialities. Trade agreements, common defence arrangements, financial aid—such important Commonwealth activities are and have always been implemented without the need for a Commonwealth parliament.

The Commonwealth still has a great role to play in world affairs. It is the world's outstanding example today of the fact that western and Asian countries, industrialized and primitive populations, peoples of differing race or skin color, can join in a viable association with advantage to all. Here is international co-operation in principle and practice which presents an example to the rest of the world. But the very diversity of the membership demands a looseness and flexibility of organization which a common parliament could not provide.

Mr. Bottomley is pursuing a laudable purpose in seeking to strengthen the Commonwealth association. But his suggested means could well damage, even destroy the Commonwealth, rather than improve it.

Saanich's Two-Pockets Pants

SAANICH COUNCIL HAS BEEN given an optimistic view of revenue and expenditure as it surveys the municipality's 1965 budget.

Spending will be higher, according to present indications. But, say officials, the increase will be generally matched for the home-owner by increased revenue from the provincial government. It will come in a larger per capita payment to Saanich and in an increase of $15 in the home-owner's grant.

This is one way—and the cheerful one — of looking at the major problem of municipal finance. It reveals a situation in which the average home-owner will expect to dip no deeper into his pocket this year than last to meet higher costs of carrying on services and municipal business in Saanich.

And it has the advantage of blurring the picture of commitments. School costs will be substantially higher. So will those for other services. But what does it matter, if the extra is paid from a source other than the individual's savings?

Where will the extra come from? The provincial government. And where does the government get the money to pay the extra? Mainly from the taxpayer's other pocket.

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Need for a Miracle in Viet Nam

WHILE the President's Baltimore address introduced a certain change in the tone of the official policy, it was quite evidently not intended to bring about any marked change in the course of the war. There was no illusion that the Viet Cong and Hanoi would be willing to cease and desist, and it was no less evident that the President's offer of "unconditional discussions" was not meant to bring about a cease-fire.

Lippmann

The address did in some measure correct some of the defects of the public relations of the administration—such as its refusal to begin discussing a cease-fire unless Hanoi met certain preconditions, which were never explicitly and specifically stated. The address also took notice of the criticism that the administration's policy is all "stick," that is wholly military, and no "carrot," that it opened no attractive prospect of an eventual peace in Southeast Asia.

In trying to correct these weaknesses, the President provided our allies, the non-aligned governments and the United Nations with at least something, something concrete, on which their diplomacy may be able to work. And, of course, quite obviously the address was an attempt to reassure and rally our own divided people.

Though no one can prove it, it is just possible that a year ago such a presidential statement could have changed the course of the war. Now it is certainly too little, perhaps because it is too late, to change the course of the war. The basic fact today is that the adversary believes himself to be in sight of victory in South Viet Nam, while the President has committed himself not only to preventing a military defeat of South Viet Nam, but of snatching victory from the jaws of defeat. Both sides are for the time being intending to win victory on the battlefield.

Both Insist on Victory

Neither side is willing to negotiate. The Viet Cong and North Viet Nam do not want to stop fighting because they expect to impose the terms of peace. The President is not ready to negotiate until be has reversed the military position and transformed Saigon from a loser into a winner. The stark reality of all this is that as long as both sides insist on victory, both sides prefer a military showdown to a negotiated peace.

Although there are reports of a certain improvement in the military morale of South Viet Nam, we must not underestimate the size and nature of our undertaking. The President has engaged himself to transform a government, which is at least half-defeated and is greatly demoralized, into a victorious power. This purpose calls for the performance of a miracle, and it is in the attempt to perform this miracle that the administration has for the past two or three months been transforming the war from a South Vietnamese struggle to put down a rebellion, in which we assist the government, into an increasingly American war in the whole of Viet Nam, both South and North.

We are now operating on the theory that a measured bombing of North Viet Nam will stop the infiltrators and enable Saigon to win the war. There are as yet no signs whatever that the bombing is doing what it is supposed to do, and there are some signs that it is doing again what bombing has so often done in other wars—it is stiffening the will to fight on. The answer of the proponents of victory by bombing is that President Johnson's "measured" bombing—which does not permit attacks on cities—should be escalated into area bombing which would kill masses of North Vietnamese.

But it is widely realized that even such cruelty as that is not likely to reverse the military situation in South Viet Nam. So, among those who believe that it is a vital interest of the United States to win a military victory in South Viet Nam, there is planning, argument and pressure for the commitment of a huge American army to another Korean War on the ground.

Road to War?

The administration is now on a course which could lead to such a war. But it is reluctant and unconvinced, which in practice means that it will escalate the war slowly, will do a little more bombing and will send in more and more American soldiers. The test of its strategy will be in South Viet Nam, and if the policy does not succeed, if Saigon is not converted into a winner, it is a fair guess that some government in Saigon will negotiate with the Viet Cong. This would end the fighting itself, and with that the North Vietnamese intervention and the American intervention.

This seems to be the current expectation in Peking, in Hanoi and in Moscow and in the headquarters of the Viet Cong. If it is to be prevented, if it is a vital interest of the United States to prevent it, the President will have to work a military miracle in South Viet Nam.

Practical Issue

In our own public debate about this tangled and difficult problem, we must realize that the immediate practical issue is not whether, being committed on the mainland, we can or should scuttle and run. The immediate practical issue is whether the military miracle can be worked, whether the Saigon government, now on the verge of defeat in a civil war, can win over and can pacify the village people of South Viet Nam.

The test is on as to whether this can be done. The President will try to work the miracle. But if he cannot work it there will still be a great problem to solve which affects the peace of the world and American interests. To do this, the President will need not only an informed American opinion but a cool opinion, an opinion which is not unbalanced by the fevers of war.

Cigarettes

Fire Under The Smokes

By CHARLES BARTLETT
from Washington

CONGRESS appears ready to require cigarettes to be labelled as hazards of health but the reform spirit may not be strong enough to require that the warning be projected into the wonderful world of cigarette advertising.

This world in which freshness, taste and flavor abound is protected on both sides of the capitol by agents of the 22 states in which tobacco farmers abound. The latest perils medically ascribed to cigarettes seem less persuasive at present than the momentum of an industry with annual gross sales exceeding $7 billion.

The hearings have been partially distorted by an effort to convince the legislators that the Surgeon-General's Advisory Committee erred in its finding that cigarette smoking is "casually related to lung cancer in men" and bears some relationship to other lung diseases. A parade of dissenting doctors and scientists has gone before the Senate and House committees.

Ill-Equipped

Congress is ill equipped to make medical judgments, particularly upon the mountain of evidence that was analyzed by the Advisory Committee, as impartial and qualified a panel as could be assembled. These findings are supoprted by similar studies in Britain, Italy, and Sweden and by a recent poll of American physicians. Of the 62,000 doctors responding to the poll, 95 per cent described smoking as a health hazard and only 2.8 per cent maintained that it was not.

The tobacco industry wants national legislation in order to avoid the complexities of state legislation. It will accept a labelling requirement, which will ward off lawsuits by victims of lung cancer. But the industry does not want to be forced to include the health warning in its advertising, as the Federal Trade Commission proposes.

The cigarette companies maintain that the value of their television advertising will be negated by a necessity to include the health warning. But many have noted from the tobacco sales figures that this advertising, doubled by some companies since the concern over cigarettes arose, has largely managed to negate the impact of the warning by the Surgeon-General's committee.

No Advertising Restraint

Now marked as more hazardous and habit-forming than alcohol, cigarettes enjoy a freedom from advertising restraints which Congress took away from alcohol in 1935. The Treasury Department supervises liquor advertising in a way that has kept it off television and free of the romantic and social inferences that figure in the cigarette ads.

The tobacco industry has just begun to police itself with a code that bans testimonials by celebrities along with other misleading appeals to youth. This is evidently a sincere effort but it does not come to grips with the basic issue of whether the public interest is served by urging people to smoke without warning them that their health may be damaged.

MRS. NOGGINS BREWS IT UP

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

How to Win Without Votes

ON my return from a long absence my neighbor, Mrs. Alfred Noggins, brought my Canadian news up to date.

Hutchison

"Of course there'll be a general election," said the secretary-treasurer of the local Progressive Conservative Association, "but it don't really matter. Tommy Douglas is sure to win anyways. Look at the record of the Diefenbaker and Pearson gover'mints and then look at the new speech from the throne and you'll see that Douglas and 'is boys 'ave won every election for the last 20 years.

"They don't get the votes but they got all they wanted and more than they 'ad any right to 'ope. Best of all, they enforced their policies but didn't take the cruel responsibility of governin' the country and collectin' the taxes. Wot could be sweeter for Tommy?

"But you must realize that we've entered a new Canadian era that makes Johnson and 'is Great Society look like a piker. Yes, sir, we're bein' led down the Gordon path.

"The way to increase revenues, says Gordon, is to cut taxes and by the time 'e's abolished 'em altogether there'll be no deficit at all. That's simple arithmatic.

"In the meantime the next Gordon deficit is nothink to worry about. Like 'e says, we couldn't afford deficits, they was drivin' us to bankruptcy, so long as the Tories was in power. But deficits is useful, safe and constructive so long as they wear a Grit label.

"Tory deficits is bad, Liberal deficits good. That's a basic axiom of finance and 'as nothink to do with shoddy partisan politics.

"Jest the same, the present gover'mint is followin' exactly the policy laid down by Donald Fleming but gives 'im no credit for 'is wonderful discovery.

"So they're feelin' rather bad about poor Fleming and in a fit of remorse they're goin' to build a statue of 'im, made of rubber like 'is dollars.

Rubber Statues

"And they'll build one to Gordon, of the same material, as soon as 'e can achieve another devaluation of the currency. Well, 'e's workin' 'ard, day and night, and 'opes to succeed in time for the centennnial year as a birthday present to a grateful nation on its 'undredth anniversary. You can trust 'im to do it.

"Still, things is goin' to be rough fer a while yet.

"The gover'mint is 'avin' trouble to keep Dief in the Tory leadership as its only reliable ally and vote getter. The Tories is terrified that Gordon may quit too soon and leave them no target to shoot at, no chance of even getting reelected.

"They needn't worry. The Liberals 'ave re'abilitated Gordon by the greatest work of construction since the Pyramids with the mummy of 'is first budget safely buried inside where the excavators will find it, a thousand years from now, and enjoy a 'ollow little larf in the empty desert.

"That's not the end of it. Balcer 'as drove 'is party out of Quebec, the gover'mint is 'eart-broke to see 'istoric Conservative become only English-speakin' and the Liberals' crocodile tears is floodin' the streets of Ottawa and engulfin' the 'elpless in'abitants.

"Dief, with a sickly sort of smile, 'as warmly welcomed Fulton back into the fold so long as 'e leaves 'is constitutional formula and all 'is sacred principles at 'ome.

His Kind of French

"Tis grossly untrue, says Dief, that I'm anti-French. No, sir, a Conservative gover'mint will never coerce the Quebec people if they do wot they're told.

"Then there's trouble, too, with the Kingdom of Bennett which 'as severed diplomatic relations with Canada over a bankin' quarrel but with a little patience on both sides a declaration of war may be avoided and the forts disarmed on the line of the Rockies.

"Well, 'aving loaned Quebec a 'undred millions, Bennett nacherally wants reasonable interest on 'is investment. So 'e expects Lesage to show a little gratitude by 'elpin' 'im to blow up the Bank of Canada and inflate the money system. Tis a small thing to ask.

"None of the provinces really wants to destroy the federal gover'mint, you understand. They're quite ready to let it co-exist so long as it doesn't get too big fer its britches and interfere in important business.

"Pervided it pays all the bills it's perfectly free to design flags and write cute speeches from the throne and all that kind of thing but it must learn to keep its place and recognitze its betters.

"The way I see it, Mike Pearson is at the bottom of the whole trouble. That man always said 'e'd re-organize the country. Yes, sir, 'e'll re-organize everything except the cabinet.

"But the Liberals never believed 'im when 'e told 'em flat out that 'e was a left-wing, radical reformer. Good old Mike, they said, is only bluffin' fer political purposes and remains a solid, reliable conservative at 'eart. Now, to everybody's 'orror, it turns out 'e meant it.

"Why sure, tis shatterin' to find that 'e's an honest man after all and before 'e's finished 'e'll make Douglas look like a black reactionary even when the New Democrats win the next election, as usual."

Looking Back

From The Times of April 15, 1890.

Washington: The sum of $1 million has been appropriated for improvements on the Columbia River in the U.S. in a bill just completed by the rivers and harbor committee of the House. Half the amount is for continuation of the jetty work at the mouth of the river. Some $120,000 will be spent for jetty work at Coos Bay and $100,000 at Yaquina Bay. Lesser amounts are allowed for jetty work and dredging at other points on the Columbia. The story was printed under the headline: "More than B.C. gets."

To the Editor

Viet Nam in Hansard

In Hansard of April 2, 1965, the subject of Viet Nam is discussed, the Liberals and Conservatives, carefully side-stepping any blame against the U.S.A., until Mr. Herridge rose. He was replying to a speech by Mr. Nesbitt, who had stated that "there were reasons why the U.S.A. was in Viet Nam, or they would not be there."

Mr. Herridge gave the "reasons." He quoted from a speech, made by President Eisenhower at a State Governors' conference on August 4, 1953, where he said, "Now let us assume we lost Indo-China. If Indo-China goes, several things happen right away. The tin and tungsten that we so greatly value from that area would cease coming. So, when the United States votes $400,000,000 to help that war, we are not voting a give-away program. We are voting for the cheapest way we can to prevent the occurrence of something that would be of a most terrible significance to the United States of America, our security, our power and ability to get certain things we need from the richest of the Indo-China territory, and from Southeast Asia."

This is the official "reason" as given by a head of state, and all the slaughter with napalm, phosphorous bombs and gas is the United States' experiment in "special warfare" to protect their right of way to the tin and tungsten mines of Southeast Asia.

Modern Procedures Needed

OTTAWA—When the members of the Commons voted themselves an $8,000 raise two years ago, they justified it on the ground that being an MP is now a full-time job. Then they went on to prove this—to the complete dissatisfaction, I suspect, of some of them.

Another major lesson of the 14-months-long 1964 session is that the Commons cannot handle the volume of work entailed in checking and controlling our computerized Big Government unless it modernizes methods that are basically unchanged from those a century ago. The way Parliament operates now, the legislative program outlined in the Throne Speech is enough to keep the MPs busy for the rest of the year, leaving little time for the equally important scrutiny of more than $7 billions of government spending.

The MPs had no vacation last summer. They want one this year, and Prime Minister Pearson has stated he hopes to give them one. But if they take July and August off, the session again will spill over into the next year—unless the MPs agree to drastic changes in their procedures.

* * *

The government has faced up to the problem by undertaking to sponsor proposals for procedural reform that, as the Throne Speech puts it, will enable "effective debate and criticism to be combined with effective dispatch of public business."

No MP is likely to argue against this generality. But when the government gets down to specifics that cannot help but curb the hours of debate, limiting if not the right then at least the opportunity for every MP to speak his mind fully on every question, it becomes quite a different matter. It becomes suspect in the eyes of the opposition as a device to help the administration escape accounting for its various mistakes, shortcomings and sins.

Then the cry is likely to be that a permanent form of closure is being imposed, infringing on freedom of debate, and weakening the basis of parliamentary democracy, the responsibility of the executive to the House of elected representatives of the people.

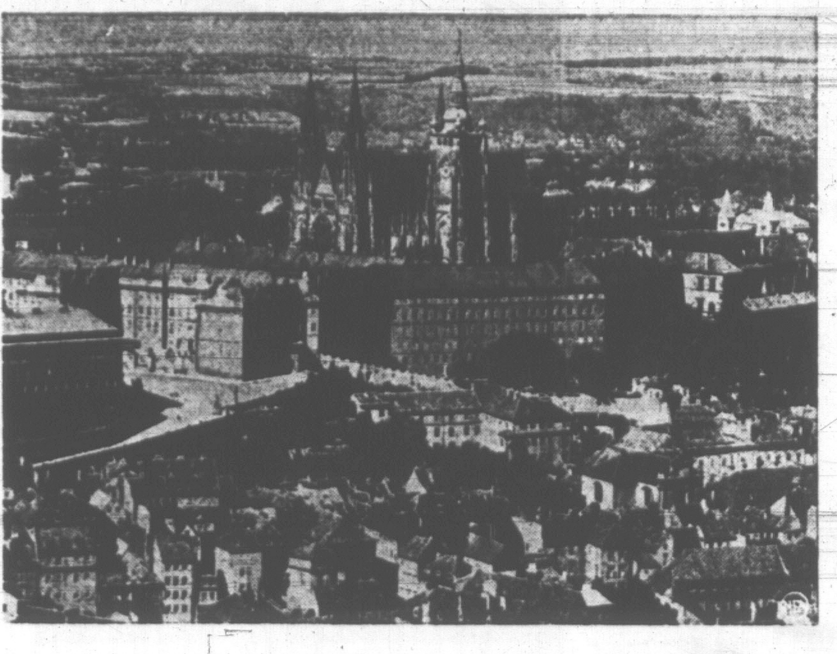
* * *

The best answer to this criticism is that (a) limitation of debate would be by common consent rather than imposed by the government as through frequent use of closure, and (b) strict limitation of debate in the British Parliament, not only by consent, but also by the government's use of its majority to cut debates short by forcing votes, has caused no noticeable deterioration in the quality of British democracy.

While the Pearson government has not yet disclosed the reform measures it will propose, Prime Minister Pearson has made it clear that in his mind the most pressing need is to schedule and apportion the House's time among the many demands on it.

The NDP's Stanley Knowles, an outstanding House rules expert, proposed informally two years ago that the House leaders of all parties meet regularly to set limits for impending debates, and that when no unanimity could be reached, the majority decision should apply save that the final day's debate should continue as long as anyone arose to speak, even if it lasted all night.

Knowles' suggestion was rejected by the Conservatives. But that was before the experience of the 1964 session, and when the Tories had more going for them than they now appear to have.



Once one of the most beautiful cities of Europe, Prague is shabby and rundown today after years of Communist rule. It is the centre, however, of a revival of intellectual and artistic life in Czechoslovakia.

Czechs Leading Eastern Europe In Search for 'Creative Freedom'

By JOHN RUTHERFORD

PRAGUE—Not so long ago this was the most "conformist" of Communist bloc capitals. Destalinization passed it by for years. The change now has to be heard and participated in to be believed.

In this city today one can hear the arts discussed and the demand for creative freedom aired as forthrightly as in Warsaw in 1956. And more outspokenly often than in Budapest, which a year ago began to take pride of place from the Poles.

Warsaw today is a place where writers talk sadly of their disappointments after the vistas opened up in the first flush of freedom when—eight years ago—the present Gomulka regime rejected Soviet domination and set a new pattern for independent "national Communism".

Poland still has a free peasantry, farming its own land while the rest of the bloc is severely collectivized. The regime has whittled down the church-state modus vivendi of 1956 but the Catholic Church still has more latitude than in other Communist states. The private citizen is still immune from the old police terror which Gomulka halted when he came back to power.

Dull Press

The curbs have been applied mainly in the intellectual field. The once penetrating Polish press has become deadly dull. Many Polish writers — bitter and resentful — have lapsed into silence rather than accept regime demands for more "positive" and less "pessimistic" writing.

I spoke to one this week, on his way to the West after being denied a passport for several years. "I feel," he said, "that I can write nothing more in Poland for the time being. Perhaps when I return . . ."

Yet one must concede that, broadly speaking, Poland is still the freest of the Soviet bloc states. One explanation of the present mood of stagnation — apart from its general economic causes — is that 1956 promised too much, too quickly. The new leader, Wladislaw Gomulka, was astute enough then—much more so than Imre Nagy in Hungary—to see that things must not go so far as to invite Soviet intervention.

Applying Brake

In this he succeeded; and for five or six years now he has been steadily applying the brake, because he is essentially a middle-of-the-road man and a realistically loyal collaborator with Moscow. Furthermore, being suspicious of intellectuals, he is determined to prevent them from rocking the boat.

In Hungary — the country where things got "out of hand" and the tragic Nagy proved himself no Gomulka—things proceeded slowly. Relaxation was not essayed until the regime installed by the Russians after the failure of the uprising began to feel safe. Since then "liberalisation" has gone far. It has achieved a wide degree of reconciliation between a Communist regime and a non-Communist minded nation. It has led to a stimulating measure of literary and other artistic laissez-faire.

Leaders Timid

Even with Stalin safely out of the way, the Czech leaders moved timidly. But, since early 1963, their timidity has been borne away on a new wind, rising first in Slovakia and then sweeping through the whole country. Menacing warnings from party leader, President Antonin Novotny, and his aides were unheeded. Proscribed writers like the formerly imprisoned Laco Novomesky, Ladislav Mnacko and Miro Hysko maintained the demand for a "clean slate" and protested at the slow pace of change.

Novotny had no option but to jettison several "old guard" associates to preserve his own vulnerable position. Today there is something of a truce between him and the rebels.

But what a different place Prague has become! It is still so rundown and shabby that anyone who knew this lovely city of old, even in the years just after the war, must weep at its neglect. An effort at repair and restoration is on hand now. It will take long to complete. But intellectual, artistic life—and night life—have been "renovated." Conversation with people in general committed to the regime — party members, in fact — is often a revelation of a critical, unprejudiced search for true, untrammelled expression.

Pop music, "beat" groups, savagely satirical revues can be found in 50 or more nightspots around town. (The recent visit of Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong—almost a "square" to Western teenagers—was still a near riot.)

New Look Cinema

The Czech cinema — with a tradition which Stalinism did not, mercifully, quite quench—is assuming a brave new look. Scripts long banned have emerged in pictures winning acclaim at Western festivals.

A group of young playwrights is making a similar new challenge in the theatre. There are the regime dramatists, defensively turning out the old "socialist realism." There are the "revisionists" who will trim a play to stay within the limits of approved "liberalisation." There are now younger writers who decline self-censorship and insist on writing what they please. If it is denied production, they refuse to rewrite and have another go with another theme, equally daring.

Typical example is Ivan Klima's once-banned The Castle. Czech audiences now know at once that his castle was the pampered vacation retreat of the Writers' Union in the Stalinist time. A young man — the new generation — ventures into the castle and is killed by the Stalinists, some of them easily identifiable as ex-leaders. As he dies, a new young man walks across the courtyard to symbolize the Stalinists' inability to halt the march of events.

Protests Heard

The regime seems just as powerless to muzzle the general awakening of Czech life. Protests against "certain cultural manifestations" have come in from provincial party organizations, criticizing the new outspokenness in radio and TV comment as well as the satire on the stage.

It has been suggested that these complaints "from below" have been engineered by the regime's top leadership. I don't think so. It is much more likely they represent a cri de coeur from local party bosses who see their days and ways numbered, both in the radical changes now being made in Czech economic organization and in the new freedom of criticism and expression which no one seems able now to stop.

To the Point

Should Britain, U.S., Join Forces in Asia?

By CLAIRE HOLLINGWORTH, The Manchester Guardian

SAIGON—Many British officers believe a new Anglo-American military alliance for Southeast Asia may be necessary if the British government's efforts toward negotiating peace in South Viet Nam fail.

These officers say it is impossible to separate the problems of Viet Nam and Malaysia, where British troops are involved, because they are militarily, politically and geographically interrelated. There is tremendous waste of manpower and materiel by having separate commands with two armies, two navies and two air forces in Southeast Asia, they argue.

Senior officers in Singapore feel a Communist takeover in South Viet Nam would mean Malaysia would crumble. The British are helping Malaysia in its defence against Indonesia's "Crush Malaysia" campaign.

No Details

No one appears to have worked out details of the proposed Anglo-American alliance, but one suggestion is that a new Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) should be negotiated, excluding France and Pakistan but creating a strong active military alliance of the U.S., Britain, New Zealand, Australia, Malaysia and South Viet Nam.

The U.S. Seventh Fleet and more than 1,000 aircraft the U.S. has based in this region could relieve the pressure on the Royal Air Force and Royal Navy, the officers feel. The main difficulty seems to me to be that the U.S. does not see Indonesia's President Sukarno in the same light as Britain, though it is believed here that Washington's views are moving toward those in London.

British army men believe they could contribute help toward the problem of pacification in Viet Nam. Until men on the ground attempt to control the Viet Cong terrorists in the countryside, these men feel, the initiative on land will remain in guerrilla hands.

Supporters of the military alliance claim it would enable many economies by avoiding unnecessary duplications, but a larger British military mission in Saigon would be an essential prerequisite.

Indian Communists Make Voting Gains

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI — Communist election successes in opposite corners of India spell trouble for the ruling Congress party.

The elections — a municipal poll in the northeast city of Calcutta and a state election in southwestern Kerala—clearly reveal a rebellion against the party of Gandhi, Nehru and Indian independence.

In Calcutta, a combined opposition called the United Citizens Committee, representing both wings of the divided Communist party, won more votes than the Congress party —300,000 to 280,000—and took 39 seats in the 100-member corporation council.

The Congress won 39 seats, no improvement over the 39 it won in the 80-member council in 1961 elections.

Kerala Communists won 40 state assembly seats, compared with the Congress' 36.

A feature of both elections was the Congress' inability to defeat Communist candidates who were in jail or underground hiding from police. In Kerala, 29 imprisoned Communists won over Congress candidates who had the necessary time and money to campaign.

Aside from poor election showings, there are other signs of weakness in the immense Congress party, which has almost 15,000,000 members.

Party rank and file revolted in several state byelections and Congress whips in state assemblies have difficulty lining up a united front against burgeoning Communist and left-wing socialist opposition.

Bigwigs in New Delhi are not setting examples of party discipline.

African 'Liberation' Forces Ready to Invade Mozambique

By ANDREW WILSON

Details of African plans for an invasion of Portuguese Mozambique, and Portuguese preparations for stopping it, are disclosed in a paper sent to members of the Institute for Strategic Studies in London. The paper was prepared by Colonel Donald H. Humphries, U.S. Air Force, a senior research associate of the Institute, which is linked with the semi-official U.S. Rand Corporation.

Its publication coincides with a denial by the Portuguese that South African troops are helping them against Mozambique rebels, and an announcement that Canada is to equip and train the Tanzanian air force.

South Africa Next

Colonel Humphries says the so-called Committee of Nine set up by the Organization of African States to direct the liberation movement envisages the invasion of Mozambique as a step to the eventual invasion of the South African Republic. Of 1,000 trained troops so far assembled, about 150 leaders have been trained in guerrilla warfare at Tlemcem in Algeria. Training courses are three to nine months long and concentrate on small arms and explosives, sabotage, subversion and commando tactics.

Last October about 2,000 men of Zanzibar's Soviet-trained People's Liberation Army, equipped with anti-aircraft and anti-tank weapons, and accompanied by six Russian military advisers, were deployed by ship to Mtwara in southern Tanzania.

At first it was thought that this unit would augment liberation groups who launched six commando teams into Mozambique the month before. But the movement appears to have been a training exercise for the newly-arranged Tanzanian (Tanganyika and Zanzibar) forces.

Poor Fighters

The Committee of Nine has now found that nationalist leaders and refugees make poor freedom fighters; and a possible move is the formation of an African International Brigade, officered and manned largely by professionals, including mercenaries, of all races.

Colonel Humphries says that Portgual is fully prepared in Mozambique, because of the lesson of Angola. Reinforcements have brought the Portuguese army in Mozambique to about 25,000 men and four airstrips have been built to augment communications in the northern part of the territory.

Closing Gap

On the Malawi (Nyasaland) frontier the Portuguese are prepared to seal off more than half Dr. Banada's country if necessary. They would do this by closing a 60-mile gap—35 miles of it lake water—above Blantyre-Limbe, the main city, and Zomba, the capital. For this purpose they have established a marine commando base at Porto Arroio on Lake Malawi, a few miles from Vila Cabral.

Although attacks from the north have been sporadic and ineffective, some observers believe that a new series of incursions is not far off, says Colonel Humphries. He believes the Portuguese hold an overwhelming advantage over the "freedom fighters" — though the latter do not recognize this and are unlikely to abandon the struggle.

On the question of Communist intervention the paper says there has been a noticeable lessening of direct Soviet activity in East Africa during the past year, and an increase in Chinese influence. Beginning with the Zanzibar revolution in January last year the Chinese Communists have tried to replace the Russians in key points throughout the continent. In East Africa, Chinese financial and technical aid is increasing, but military assistance is small.

Directs Aid

The Chinese Ambassador to Kenya, Wang Tu-tient, former Director of West African and Asian Affairs in the Foreign Ministry in Peking, directs Chinese aid operations in East Africa.

However, says Colonel Humphries, the Chinese are not likely to take any action that would serve as a pretext for the United States or other Western powers to come into Africa with military forces. He say: Cuban aid has been small and is likely to remain so because Cuba has problems of her own. "It is apparent that the initiative for the East African liberation movement is coming from the Africans themselves rather than the Communists."

Use Disruption

Russia and China will continue to take advantage of the disruption which the struggle in Southern Africa is generating; but support will often be for temporary propaganda advantage rather than to be extensively committed in Africa.

The paper concludes that although there may not be an immediate danger of serious insurgency in Southern Africa, nobody concerned can afford to relax efforts to find a solution to problems which could build rapidly into explosive situations.

Bombay Builds Mass Housing

BOMBAY — Asia's cheapest housing colony is under construction here.

Two thousand acres of a suburban jungle are being cleared to provide the site for a massive home for Bombay's poor people.

The colony will have 12,000 two-room houses or "chawls" as they are called. Each will cost no more than $250, with an additional monthly $1 rental for water and electricity.

There will be free schools and medical clinics, playgrounds, a Hindu temple, a Roman Catholic church and a Moslem mosque. Later, the colony may have its own swimming pool.

Known as the "own-your-own-tenement" scheme, it is the Bombay municipal corporation's long-awaited formula for housing the city's have-nots.

According to one estimate, 500,000 Bombay citizens have no homes. They just "live" out in the open—on pavements, at the back of buildings, under railway bridges and under every conceivable condition.

A Polish View of the United States

By GRZEGORZ JASZUNSKI in Zycie Warszawy (Warsaw)

In the years of dangerous intensification of the Cold War, when the voice of its grandmaster, John Foster Dulles, was decisive in forming U.S. policy, things were easy. The credulous U.S. citizen was frightened daily by the threat that the Soviet Union might atack the U.S. at any moment. The citizens believed this and voted for defence appropriations and for "witch hunting," in which a witch was anyone who dared question Dulles's views.

Today, fortunately, all this is finished. Few people in America believe they are threatened by a Soviet military attack. But the obsession of anti-Communism has remanied and is still one of the essential elements of U.S. political life. Let me quote a few examples from the notebook of my American journey:

ELECTIONS: An electoral campaign is naturally propitious to all demagogy, and particularly anti-Communist demagogy. No wonder Goldwater and his supporters eagerly used this argument, reproaching President Johnson and the Democratic Party with being "soft on Communism" or "conciliatory toward the Soviet Union."

SCHOOLBOOKS: In Texas, school authorities checked the contents of the textbooks used in all schools. During this examination, the opinions of various representatives of the population were heard. This role was mainly filled by the members of the Fascist John Birch Society. They criticized schoolbooks for their "softness on Communism," by which they understood, among other things, that the book spoke positively of the great President Roosevelt and his social undertakings.

MOVIES: A moviehouse on 42nd Street in Manhattan usually shows movies of a more pornographic than a political nature. But I found out that even such films can be exploited for anti-Communist propaganda. The subject of Olga's Girls was sadism and drug addiction. Among the violent scenes of women being beaten and instructions in drug taking, one of the heroes states: "According to the FBI, the drug trade is identified with Communism, because the drugs are brought in from Moscow and Peking." And the 42nd Street public believes this.

THE PRESS: While the more serious papers, such as the New York Times, avoid obsessive anti-Communist propaganda, such newspapers as the New York Daily News which has a much larger circulation — continue to use the epithets of the best Cold War days.

But enough particulars. A reflection on a more general nature emerges from them. During the three-year tenure of John F. Kennedy, there arose an awareness in the U.S. of what we call the necessity of peaceful coexistence. President Johnson — although with less temperament and less imagination—continues to hold the same political line.

Yet neither Kennedy nor Johnson has managed—or desired—to curb the brutal anti-Communist propaganda, which is in conflict with coexistence policies. Goldwater took advantage of this during the campaign, and 26,000,000 Americans — almost 40 per cent of the voters — followed him.

These are the results when no one in influential U.S. circles — beginning with the president and his staff and down to the press, radio and televison — really dares to make an authoritative statement and to condemn the madness of anti-Communist propaganda.

Pay Increases Handed Out By Cowichan School Board

DUNCAN — Cowichan School board today will shell out pay increases awarded to bus drivers, janitors and maintenance men.

The 40 men affected are IWA members. The board was accused of dragging its feet last week when six of the 11 regular bus drivers staged an unofficial one-day strike.

They claimed the pay increases, retroactive to Jan. 1, should have been through earlier.

Raises amount to a basic 5 per cent. Maintenance men now receiving $394 a month will get $414. A full-time janitor's monthly pay will jump from $320 to $356.

ISLAND DIGEST

TOFINO — Ratepayers in this community on the west coast of the Island Wednesday rejected a $118,000 sewer extension bylaw.

The vote against the expenditure was 51 to 49 with 100 of the 161 eligible residents casting ballots. A 60 per cent favorable vote was needed for the measure to succeed.

* * *

CHEMAINUS—Oliver Jack, of Westholme Reserve, was sent to jail for six months Wednesday.

He pleaded guilty before Magistrate Ken McAdam to breaking and entering the Red Rooster Cafe here and stealing petty cash. He also admitted a burglary attempt at the same place.

* * *

CAMPBELL RIVER—An ice-skating rink is being considered as this community's centennial project and members of the centennial committee have taken steps to obtain firm costs on construction of an all-purpose arena.

A firm of New Westminster architects, who have designed several rinks, will be asked to supply suggestions and cost estimates.

* * *

DUNCAN—Cowichan Pony Club will hold a "curtain raiser" this weekend to the national rally which they are to host here in June.

The 16th annual two-day junior horse show will be judged on the Cowichan Exhibition grounds Saturday and Sunday..

Judges will be Mrs. Daphne Brown of Cloverdale and Mrs. Margaret Parker of Saanichton.

Hunter trials will be staged Monday on the Don Pontious farm at Glenora. Judges will be Mrs. G. B. Barnes of Crofton, and Fred Ball of Victoria.

* * *

James C. Sheagreen, once a whistle-punk in Vancouver Island woods, Wednesday was named president of the Canadian Forestry Association of B.C.

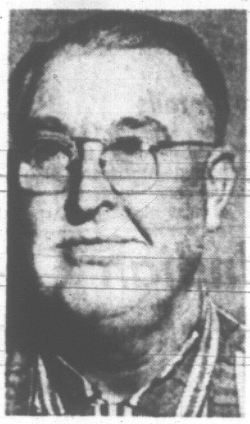
He took over from retiring president W. H. McMahan at the association's annual meeting in Vancouver.

Mr. Sheagreen was a whistle-punk in an Oyster River logging camp years ago, and later a highrigger.

He is a past president of the Pacific Logging Congress, and has been a director of the B.C. Loggers Association.

FOR HOSPITAL

Three-Minute Meet Sets Bylaw Wording



GREEN

NORTH COWICHAN — At a special meeting which lasted three minutes municipal council Wednesday gave final reading to a by-law putting up $192,960 as its share of the extra cost of the new district hospital.

The money had to be guaranteed before April 26 so a tender could be accepted.

Claude Green of the hospital board said he felt construction work should begin right after Easter. Work should take 30 months.

Duncan council meets tonight and is expected to formally endorse the ratepayers' Saturday vote. City's share of the extra $600,000 cost is $70,000.

Top Island Isolation 'Worst in Province'

PORT ALBERNI—Comox-Alberni New Democratic Party Association has sought an immediate start on construction of the Kelsey Bay-Port Hardy Highway and access routes to towns on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

A resolution passed at the association's annual meeting Tuesday night said 8,000 residents on the northern half of Vancouver Island are suffering socially and economically because of a lack of public highway access.

The resolution said the islanders' isolation is without parallel elsewhere in the province.

Tom Barnett, NDP Member of Parliament for the riding, expressed hope the Port Hardy road won't become a political football as a result of a request by Premier Bennett.

Mr. Barnett said the premier has asked Ottawa to pay half the cost of building the road as part of the Trans-Canada Highway. But no suggestion had been made that the province reimburse the federal government for the portion of the present Trans-Canada between Nanaimo and Victoria.

Scout Target Set

DUNCAN — Cowichan Boy Scouts' Association fund drive has set itself a target of $2,000.

Wednesday it was at the $1,505 mark. Treasurer Albert Dirom said $1,200 was needed to meet the quota for upkeep of the Island regional office in Nanaimo.

Logger Sports to Return As Campbell River Fete

CAMPBELL RIVER — Return of logger sports to Campbell River after an absence of several years, will highlight the rejuvenated July 1 celebrations here.

Logging superintendent Dan McKenzie was named chairman of the celebrations committee this week and promptly named another head logger, Ike Barber, to work with him to organize and run the events.

The two will visit other areas to obtain ideas for a program. Loggers from all over the north end of the Island are expected to compete.

The Rotary Club will take on the parade again this year, Lions Club will stage a gala dance and Jaycees are planning a July 1 salmon derby.

Other events being considered include canoe races, Indian dances and a day-long fair.

Again this year, merchants will work together to promote the community in another "pow wow" days celebration May 20 to 22.

Plans call for competitions between merchants for best window displays, best costumes and best advertising promotion.

A dance at Discovery Inn will wind-up the affair.

Useful suggestions are worth money to employees of Crown Zellerbach's Elk Falls operation.

At a company sponsored dinner last week, a total of $1,729 was handed out to 46 employees for suggestions accepted and put into use during the year.

Highest single cash award went to Clarence Lutes who received $230. Biggest winner was Fred Wood who had six suggestions accepted during the year and collected $356.

Although a new name for Gold River is mooted in some quarters, such a change isn't likely, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said this week.

"Although a suggestion was made to name the new town Strathcona, I feel it would be unlikely Gold River would ever be known as anything else. It will always be referred to as such and any name change is extremely doubtful," he said.

Speedy Cruiser Shows Off Form

By MARK DICKINSON

Another fleet of pleasure cruisers has been placed on the local market. And the first member that arrived this week to show off her beauty is a high-speed 31-footer.

The craft came off the assembly-line at Shepherd Boats Limited, Niagara, Ontario, and is one of seven models ranging in size from 19 to 46 feet long, sports runabouts to motor yachts.

The features of the 31-footer make it an ideal boat for cruising the waters of the Gulf Islands and coastal inlets. The modified Deep-V hull design gives the craft a soft ride in heavy weather and a level plane at most speeds. A deep fore-foot, that slices into the water, flattens out to a 14 degree angle off the horizontal beam in the stern. There are, however, no longitudinal stringers along the double planked bottom. But even at the critical planing speeds, visibility is not hindered.

Two 210-horsepower marine-converted engines, with direct drive and hydrolic transmissions, push the boat at a maximum speed of 35 miles per hour. Fuel capacity is 90 gallons of gasoline, and the engines are fresh water cooled.

For the domestic-minded mariner the craft is well designed. Sleeping quarters are provided for six. Galley facilities include a three-burner alcohol stove, stainless steel sink and an ice box that may be converted into an electrical refrigerator.

The craft that is being sold by Canoe Cove Marina at Sidney for $20,000, is one of many that are being brought into our waters—as a trend toward the fast, comfortable and high-quality factory-produced power boats is becoming more evident.

* * *

With the rapid growth of power craft, many new electronic marine fixtures have been introduced to our market.

It is known that tachometers are sometimes faulty and produce an incorrect reading of engine revolutions. To avoid overloading of one of two engines, an electronic synchronizer may be installed and through a system of lights it tells the skipper when the motors are running at the same revolutions.

A popular feature on the large and fast cabin cruiser today is the trim-tab. This is an electronic machine that allows the skipper to "trim" his boat "fore and aft." Adjustment of the boat's plane or list is the result of water pressure being thrust off hinged flaps on the stern of the boat, somewhat following the principle of an airplane's air flaps.

The fishing bridge has become a popular order by the owners of cabin cruisers that range in length from 25-feet and up.

This section of superstructure is constructed on top of the hard-top flying-bridge—adding an extra four or five feet to what is already a top-heavy boat, in most cases. The only advantage of this feature is extra visibility, a greater sensation of speed and an expensive touch to the craft. In the practical aspect, it is perfectly ridiculous.

On the smaller craft the addition of a fishing bridge raises the centre of gravity tremendously, making it less seaworthy; it adds greater wind resistance area, causing severe drifting at slow speeds; and if not properly constructed with consideration to stress and strain of the lower superstructure, a sincere hazard during heavy weather is created.

* * *

Many marine mishaps could be averted if mariners had some knowledge of the rules of the road, an RCMP official has claimed.

The general traffic rules and customs on the water are simple. Rowboats without motors and sailboats have the right of way over a powered boat. When two boats approach bow to bow each must give way to the starboard. While cruising a narrow channel or canal keep to the right hand side of the passage way.

When approaching another boat at an angle, if the boat is approaching on the starboard, you must give way. Always go to the stern of the right-of-way boat unless speed and distance makes it safe to pass ahead.

Though you may have the right of way, larger boats and ships are less manoeuvrable, so give them the right of way even though you are not obliged to do so. Though no law requires it, give fishermen a wide berth when passing their fishing locations.

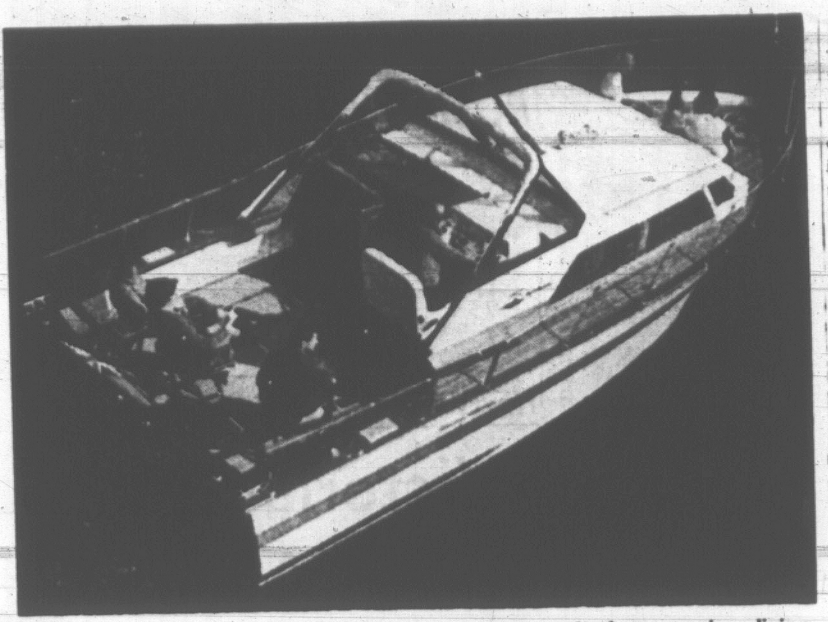
Under the federal act there are provisions for the imposition of penalties on any person who shall operate a boat in a reckless or negligent manner so as to endanger the life and property of any person. A penalty of $100 or seizure of their craft can be imposed on those found guilty of this law.



Bird's-eye view of the 31-foot Shepherd pleasure craft shows spacious living comfort.

Worldwide Ban Facing Airline Movies, TV

MONTREAL (UPI)—A move has been made to eliminate all in-flight visual entertainment throughout the world following agreement by 16 trans-Atlantic airlines to drop the showing of movies and closed-circuit television programs on airliners.

A spokesman for the International Air Transport Association, the controlling body of the airlines, said Wednesday only three member airlines are currently showing motion pictures or closed-circuit television programs on their flights.

Trans World Air Lines, he said, has agreed to phase out its showing of movies on its routes by the end of August and Pakistan International Air Lines has expressed the intention of dropping its movies by March of 1966. The third line, Philippine Air Lines, says it will investigate the situation and make arrangements to drop its entertainment.

The IATA vote was unanimous, with Trans World abstaining, and formal approval of the move will be given by the governments concerned.

The spokesman said cost was the major factor in the decision along with a mixed public reaction to the showing of television and films. He said it would cost $50,000 per aircraft for installation of the equipment along with another $50,000 for the programming.

"We're not trying to be big, bad brutes," he said.

Mayor to Tell Canadian Group About City Centennial Project

The City of Victoria Wednesday was invited to give the lead to the rest of Canada for centennial year civic improvements.

The Canadian Centennial Commission invited Mayor R. B. Wilson to present the Victoria program at a seminar set for June 2 and 3 in Chateau Laurier, Ottawa.

Mayor Wilson said he would accept the invitation and seek details on how much of the Victoria redevelopment program the commission wants to cover.

He expected Victoria Centennial Square to be the feature, although such other aspects of improvement and beautification could include paint-up, off-street parking facilities, Bastion Square renewal, underground wiring and standard signs and traffic signals.

Sidewalk planting, carried on by the parks department in the downtown area and with Capital Improvement District Commission funds on north Douglas, could also be presented as part of the overall improvement.

The seminar will cover community improvement and rural beautification, the invitation said.

"The Victoria program will naturally receive prominence," said planning branch director Robbins Elliott.

Mayor Wilson is asked to address the plenary session after keynote speaker Mitchell Sharp, minister of trade and commerce.

The mayor is invited to take with him slides to show development at first hand. He may also take a scale model of Centennial Square project.

Services Set For Long-Time City Resident

Funeral services were to be held today for long-time Victoria resident Mrs Ethel May Pearce.

Mrs. Pearce, of 830 Fullerton Avenue, died here Monday.

She was an active member of St. Saviour's Anglican Church. No. 1 Old Age Pensioners, Silver Threads and a former member of the Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club.

She is survived by three sons, Robert, Douglas and Ronald, all of Victoria; three daughters, Mrs R. J. (Gladys) Stewart and Mrs. Alice Forster, both of Victoria, and Mrs. D. C. (Nancy) Ferguson, of Burnaby, and 13 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and two sisters, in England.

Services were to be held at Hayward's Chapel.

Pollution Policy Lack Hit

Lack of overall provincial government policy on air pollution is hampering local smoke control efforts, Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox said today.

He was commenting on the suggestion by Vancouver Mayor William Rathie that a joint Greater Vancouver-Greater Victoria air pollution control board would be formed soon.

Provincial legislation permits a joint board to deal with any common problem faced by two or more municipal ties, Mayor Rathie pointed out.

Reeve Cox said the mayor "probably intends to bring up this matter at the exploratory meeting I am setting up."

He was referring to a meeting soon of most lower mainland and Greater Victoria municipal representatives to deal with problems of mutual concern, similar to the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee.

Representatives from Greater Victoria as far as Sidney and all of Metropolitan Vancouver except from the city of North Vancouver will take part in the first meeting.

POLICY LACK

Locally, Reeve Cox said, the biggest problem is lack of provincial policy.

"One of the biggest smoke-producers in this area lies in unorganized territory. As far as I can see, no one is doing anything about it, although Victoria is making laudable progress on its own."

Disagreement Halts Project

A disagreement among three directors of West Bay Investments Limited halted the work on a $3 million apartment project, a company spokesman said Tuesday.

The disagreement "apparently stems from a misunderstanding over the company's chain of command," he said.

Work stopped Monday on the 14-storey, 207-suite building at Esquimalt Road and Maitland. Fifty men were laid off but absorbed elsewhere.

The spokesman said it is not known when construction will restart but the disagreement won't be the end of the project.

MINE CLAIM-STAKING RUSH NEAR HAY RIVER

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—Exploration and claim-staking for precious metals has reached a peak in this area over the last two weeks.

One mining engineer said recently the scramble for claims could turn the Pine Point area, about 40 miles east of Hay River, into another Timmins.

Six companies and many individuals are reported to have staked about 1,000 claims following reports of commercial gold and silver discoveries in the region.

Claim-staking is now within 20 miles of Hay River, along both sides of the new Great Slave Lake rail line to Pine Point.

HEAVY WATER PLANT

Victoria Firm's Plans Approved

REGINA (CP) — Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. has approved a new process for producing heavy water and construction of a $46,000,000 manufacturing plant at Estevan is expected to start in August, Premier Ross Thatcher announced today.

Mr. Thatcher told the legislature he was advised by federal Industry Minister C. M. Drury the process evolved by Western Deuterium Company Ltd., a Victoria-based firm, has been approved by AECL.

"It is satisfied the new process is technically sound," Mr. Thatcher said.

Accordingly, he said, AECL has been authorized to enter into a contract with Western Deuterium to build the plant which is expected to produce 300 tons of heavy water annually.

"AECL will underwrite the sale of this quantity for the first five years of production at a sale price of $14.65 a pound."

First announcement of the proposed plant was made Feb. 23.

Under the province's agreement with Western Deuterium the plant will be built and owned by the Saskatchewan Economic Development Corporation on a lease-back basis for 25 years.

The provincial government will also hold 40 per cent of the capital stock.

The plant will be the largest in Canada when completed and will employ about 200 people when it starts production.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Royal Canadian Tops Among Oil Traders

Royal Canadian featured trading on the oil list of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to noon today, rising .05½ to .28½ on 500,000 shares.

Central Del Rio was up strongly to $9.60 from $8.60.

In mines, Texmont rose as high as $1.88 before settling at $1.84 for a gain of .07 on 71,000 shares. Arlington lost .03 to .56 on 60,000 shares.

AT TORONTO speculative oils and mines moved to the forefront in moderately heavy mid-afternoon trading today.

Dynamic Petroleum was a leader, rising 6 to 72 cents on volume of 392,900 shares. Banff Oil jumped $1.10 to $7.90 on 152,199 shares. Mill City Pete gained 8 to 70 cents on 76,098 shares.

In penny mines, McWatters fell 2 to 56 cents and Consolidated Bellekeno gained 2 to 16 cents on 236,133 shares.

Industrials advanced smartly. Monarch Fine Foods, Interprovincial Pipe and Bell Telephone each gained ¾ to 8½, 91 and 61½, respectively.

Metals declined.

Golds were dull.

AT NEW YORK the market declined irregularly in profit-taking on a sustained advance. Trading slackened.

Some higher-priced issues registered 2-point losses — du Pont, IBM and Xerox.

Loses exceeding a point where shown by such issues as Comsat, Motorola, Skelly Oil, U. S. Smelting, Canadian Pacific and Texas Gulf Sulphur.

AT MONTREAL stocks were beginning to rise in moderate trade today. Utilities advanced with Interprovincial Pipe Line up ¼.

Papers were higher. MacMillan, Bloedel rose ¼, and Consolidated was up ½. Dominion Tar was off ⅛.

AT LONDON the market was quiet and undecided in advance of the Good Friday holiday. Several gilt-edged stocks were a fraction stronger following Prime Minister Wilson's New York speech and subsequent improvement in sterling.

Losses predominated among dollar stocks, but leading Canadians did relatively well. Advancing as much as two points were Algoma, Aluminium, Consolidated Mining, Hollinger, International Nickel, Massey-Ferguson and Noranda. Fractional losses were taken by such issues as BA Oil, Consolidated Paper, Imperial Oil and Brazil Traction.

WEDNESDAY

LAFARGE CEMENT APPROVES MERGER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Shareholders of Lafarge Cement of North America Ltd., Wednesday approved amalgamation of Lafarge and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Beale Quarries Ltd.

James Sinclair, president of Lafarge, said the amalgamation between the two companies was advised by Lafarge's auditors because of the tax benefits to the company.

In his report to shareholders, Mr. Sinclair said there will be no change in the shares or corporate structure of the company.

The president said that Lafarge can double its plant facilities at Lulu Island within the next three or four years for about one quarter the cost of the original plant. The original plant cost about $14,000.

Mr. Sinclair said that when expansion comes, Lafarge will fiance the project internally.

'Shipyard Future Uncertain'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Clarence Wallace, president of Burrard Drydock Company Ltd. said Wednesday the federal government's shipbuilding policy means an uncertain future for his company.

His remarks were contained in the company's annual report.

Mr. Wallace said, "the future of new ship construction, both commercial and naval, is uncertain due to lack of clarity as to federal government policy."

His report noted income before taxes was down to $403,800 in 1964 from $2,800,000 the previous year.

Net income for the year dropped to $223,800 from $1,400,000.

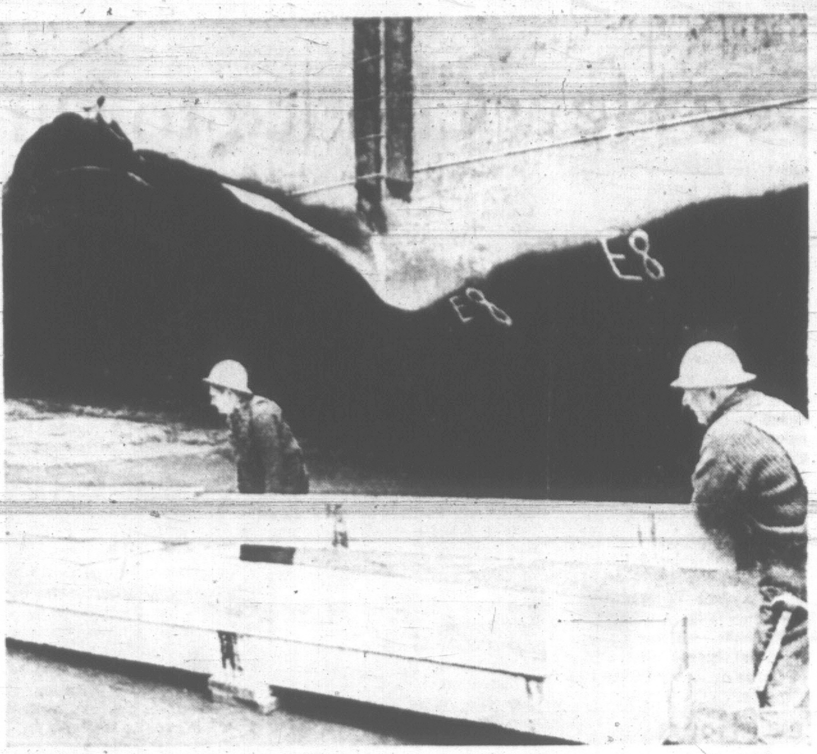
Mr. Wallace said the wage rates established on settlement of company-labor problems in 1964 produced a "discouraging deterioration in the company's competitive position.

He blamed the strike at the company's North Vancouver and Esquimalt plants from February to April last year for the sharply lower earnings.

Work in progress at the end of 1964 totalled $12,700,000 compared with $2,800,000 the year before.

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP)—Standard Oil ships and men began arriving Wednesday to start offshore drilling operations.

A boat to carry supplies between shore and the drilling ship, another to carry personnel, and two helicopters arrived.



EXTENSIVE DAMAGE to hull of huge log barge Straits Logger is shown in photo taken at Esquimalt graving dock where craft is undergoing survey. The barge, largest on the B.C. coast, broke away from her tug Friday and ran aground off west coast of Vancouver Island. Straits Logger will be drydocked again next week when repairs will begin.

ALBERTA OIL, GAS DISCOVERY

May Spill Over Into B.C.

Discovery of a huge oil and natural gas field in northwestern Alberta may touch off an exploration boom in northeastern B.C.

Government officials said today that there is a good possibility that the new field, tapped 17 miles east of the B.C. border by Banff Oil, could reach well across the provincial boundary.

"We have discovered oil about 25 miles inside the B.C. border," said P. J. Mulcahy, deputy minister of petroleum resources this morning. "And we have discovered natural gas in the general area just across from Zama Lake. We have high hopes that the Alberta discovery will spur exploration in that area."

Zama Lake is due east from Fort Nelson, B.C.

It is calculated that the discovery there will double Canada's oil reserves.

Archie Newall Jr., a director of Dynamic Petroleum Ltd., Calgary, said his company's stock had risen after word of the discovery was made known.

Dynamic has a 3 per cent working interest in 42,000 acres south of the Banff discoveries.

Mr. Newall said early reports indicated that the pay zone thickness of the Rainbow Field at Zama Lake was more than 1,000 feet.

He said the field could be as wide as the Pembina Field, Alberta's largest producer located in the Drayton Valley, and as deep as the Bonnie Glen field, another large producer.

"This discovery looks like the biggest thing that has ever happened to this province," Mr. Newall said.

J. C. Randolph, president of Banff Oil, which has two oil wells and five natural gas wells in the area, warned against over optimism.

"You don't make a field on one well and it would be foolish to speculate on the size of the field," he said.

"We have commented that the find is a very significant discovery and have said so in the company's annual report. But we have no intention of giving out any reservoir information—and don't intend to until we have to."

City's Transit Share Increases

The city's share of B.C. Hydro transit revenues for the first three months of 1965 rose by nearly $400 over the same period last year, partly through higher fares.

At 3 per cent of gross revenues, Victoria's share came to $6,619, compared with $6,240 in the January-March period 1964.

The last three months of 1964 brought a share of $5,296. This was the last period for the old transit fare schedule.

NEXT YEAR

Jet Aircraft Likely for PWA

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Western Airlines; Canada's third-largest airline, anticipates changes in Air Transport Board regulations that will make jet aircraft a practical investment for it next year.

PWA President R. H. Laidman said recently ATB regulations now permit only incorporated groups to charter aircraft.

However, he said the ATB is studying the possibility of allowing airlines to book public charter trips on a year-round basis.

PWA now has ATB permission to operate a limited number of charter flights to Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean, 200 miles west of Jamaica. These flights have been booked to capacity this season. PWA charter flights to the United Kingdom and Europe have increased 20 per cent this year.

Mr. Laidman said a factor in favor of jets is that more are expected to be available next year as production catches up with demand.

It is a growing practice with airlines to lease their equipment and this is now possible with jets.

"It is logical and sensible to start on a lease basis. A company can avoid the high financing charges involved in buying and have a chance to prove out jet routes before deciidng whether to buy."

Mr. Laidman said domestic and charter service has increased to the point where PWA has purchased two DC6's for $500,000.

One will replace the present DC4 on the Calgary-Edmonton airbus service and the other will be used on the charter flight between Vancouver and Hudson Hope, B.C.

Construction of the Portage dam on the Peace River near Hudson Hope has provided PWA with a brisk passenger and freight service between there and Vancouver.

Mr. Laidman said the airbus service between Edmonton and Calgary "meets a demand." Passengers carry their own luggage aboard the plane and pay their fares once aboard.

With the addition of the two new DC6's, PWA fleet rises to 49 aircraft—two DC6B's, two DC4's, three super 46's, four DC3's and 36 single and twin-engined light aircraft.

Shop Centre Year's Profit At $27,978

The annual report for the first full year of operations of Mayfair Shopping Centre Ltd. says results have been most satisfactory.

The report states that the Douglas Street Shopping Centre made a net profit of $27,978 before taxes during 1964. The report says the results augur well for the future.

"During the period the tenants of the smaller retail stores have on the whole been making steady progress," the report says. "Adjustments necessary to these operations have been or are being made."

The main tenant Woodward's completed its first full year Oct. 31, 1964. The report says its sales were such that rental calculated as a percentage of sales exceeded the minimum rent.

Mayfair Shopping Centre is a subsidiary of Canadian Allied Investments Ltd., of which Frank Ross is chairman and P. R. Brissenden president. The group also owns Pleasant Ridge Estates Ltd. and Third Properties Ltd. Allied's net profit for the year was $35,209.

New Harbor Group Set Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Establishment of a five-member Fraser River Harbor Commission was announced Wednesday by the federal transport department.

Members are to include three appointees of the federal government and two of the 10 municipalities bordering on the Fraser River within the harbor limits.

The commission succeeds the former New Westminster Harbors Commissioners which had four members—two appointed by the federal government and one by the City of New Westminister.

The department said in a press statement that the new basis of appointment is intended to reflect the greatly expanded interest in the harbor which has developed since the earlier commission was established by Parliament in 1913.

How to carry a tray skillfully, even if you're not a beer waiter.

Ever watch the way a good beer waiter handles a tray?

That's Beermanship in its highest form.

Next time you have company, you can astound and delight them with your tray-technique:

1. Load glasses and bottles onto a flat tray.

2. Slide the tray onto your outstretched arm, as shown in the right-hand picture. (Ignore the other picture.)

3. Relax as you walk, and let the tray become "part of your arm."

4. Serve the beer calmly, from the middle of the tray, so it stays evenly balanced. It's easy, once you get the hang of it.

Note: This will work well with Molson Canadian – the light beer that's all beer.

Try it.

QUICK MEETING ASKED . . . . . . AS BALCER REVOLTS

Rebels See New Chance to Dump Dief

By PETER NEWMAN

Newman

OTTAWA — Leon Balcer's dramatic departure from the ranks of the Conservative party last week has detonated an underground shock wave of anti-Diefenbaker reaction among a group of young eastern Tories.

They have quietly but forcibly begun to urge Dalton Camp, the national president of the PC Association to move the party's annual meeting ahead from late next fall, as now scheduled, to some time in June.

They expect that the narrow defeat of the rebel forces at last February's executive meeting can be turned into a narrow victory in the full forum of a general meeting, where their aim will be to make sure that the party holds a leadership convention before the next election campaign.

One of the chief instigators of this new push to oust the man from Prince Albert is Richard B. Holden, a young Montreal lawyer and president of the St. Antoine-Westmount Progressive Conservative Association.

"It is not enough to deplore the loss of men like Balcer—Holden has written in a private letter to Camp, "the time for clever tactics and subtle manoeuvres is over. John Diefenbaker is slowly but surely wrecking the party. The sooner he confronts an annual meeting, the better."

Aims Attack

Holden anchors his attacks on the Conservative leader not in any particular defence of Balcer's actions, but in the roots of what he considers to be Conservative philosophy.

"In essence," he writes, "we must return to basic Conservative principles of increased provincial autonomy. If this is not possible, then we must be honest enough to admit it publicly."

Holden and others who agree with his position see their party as standing at a vital crossroad. "It will complete the last half of the 1960's under the leadership of John Diefenbaker, Gordon Churchill, Erik Nielsen and Eldon Woollams or under Davie Fulton, Marcel Faribault, Gordon Fairweather, Gordon Aiken, Dalton Camp and Ged Baldwin. The time to decide is the next meeting of the national association. I suggest it be held in June."

Five Areas

While he obviously favors the latter group, Holden does not come out in support of any particular alternate leader, insisting that a change of leadership will not solve the French-English problem in the party. He lists five areas in which the party will have to take a definite stand before it can reclaim its place in the mainstream of Canadian political events:

- The amendment of the constitution.
- The encouragement of bilingualism in the federal administration.
- The rights of French speaking minorities outside of Quebec to be educated in their own language.
- Increased fiscal authority to meet increased provincial legislative responsibilities.
- Recognition of Quebec's special status in Confederation.

What makes this latest rumble more interesting than previous attempts to unseat the chief is that Conservatives like Holden are concerned not so much with just heaving Diefenbaker out as with the longterm preservation of their party as a national force.

Two Parties

They recognize that this is a nation held together by its institutions and the most important of these is the structure of the two national parties.

If the Conservative party reaches a state of disintegration when it can no longer maintain even a foothold representation in Quebec, then Canada is dangerously close to becoming a one-party state. Only the Liberals will be able field a truly national team to govern this large land.

Despite their strong concern, it's doubtful that Holden and his fellow Tories will have much luck in pressing their campaign for a change of date in the party's annual meeting.

Dalton Camp is not empowered to make the decision by himself, and he can hardly call another meeting of his executive to rule on the contentious issue.

The latest attempt to overthrow John Diefenbaker is likely to be frustrated by the mechanics of the situation in which the Conservative party now finds itself: that its constitution simply makes no provision for unseating a leader who isn't willing to step down gracefully.

'Few' Hours Freedom Ends In City Court

A 20-year old youth who got out of jail Monday was sent back there Tuesday for four months.

Charn Dhillon pleaded guilty to unlawfully prowling at night.

He was caught on the roof of a house on Hillside Avenue shortly before midnight Monday only a few hours after his release from jail after serving a term for causing a disturbance.

Dhillon, who also has a previous conviction for assault, told the magistrate he had been drinking "quite a bit."

He said he "didn't realize it was the wrong house."

Liquor Claim Discounted

TORONTO (CP)—No investigation is planned into charges that a Port Arthur restaurant operator was denied a liquor licence after refusing to contribute to Conservative party election funds, Attorney-General Arthur Wishart of Ontario said Tuesday night.

Rudy Bergauer, a former tourist court operator, has claimed he was asked to make a contribution by a "prominent Port Arthur Conservative" after he had filed an application for a wine and beer licence in a dining room he leased from a hotel.

"There has been no suggestion of an investigation as far as I know," Mr. Wishart said in an interview. He was unaware of any claims that a donation had been made a condition for receiving a liquor licence.

Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, charged in the legislature this week that a "toll gate" was operating to collect political donations in return for liquor licences.

If one of these problems is holding up the return of your tax form, maybe we can help you out.

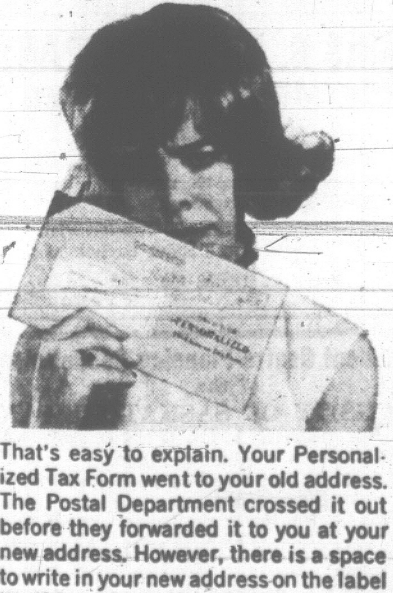
You've lost your form?

Go to your local post office. They have lots of regular T1 forms and they'll be happy to supply you with one.

2.
There's a great big line drawn through the address block?



That's easy to explain. Your Personalized Tax Form went to your old address. The Postal Department crossed it out before they forwarded it to you at your new address. However, there is a space to write in your new address on the label itself (and for brides, your new name).

3.
Something's puzzling you?

Call or visit your District Taxation Office. You'll find it listed in the White Pages of your Telephone Directory under Government of Canada. They'll answer any questions you have.

You keep forgetting to put it in the mail?

Try this. Tonight, put your completed form in a stamped envelope. With sticky tape, attach envelope to the inside of your front door just about eye level. Tomorrow remove it before you go out and hold it in your hand till you reach the nearest mail box and drop your completed form in.

5.
Your form is all filled out, but you owe us a small sum and you're short of cash?

We understand. Sometimes the fact you've got to pay more tax catches you unprepared. But you can mail your completed tax form anyway by enclosing a postdated cheque for the sum owing as late as April 30th 1965.

Now, thank-you for your co-operation.
Really.
You've helped us do a more efficient job.

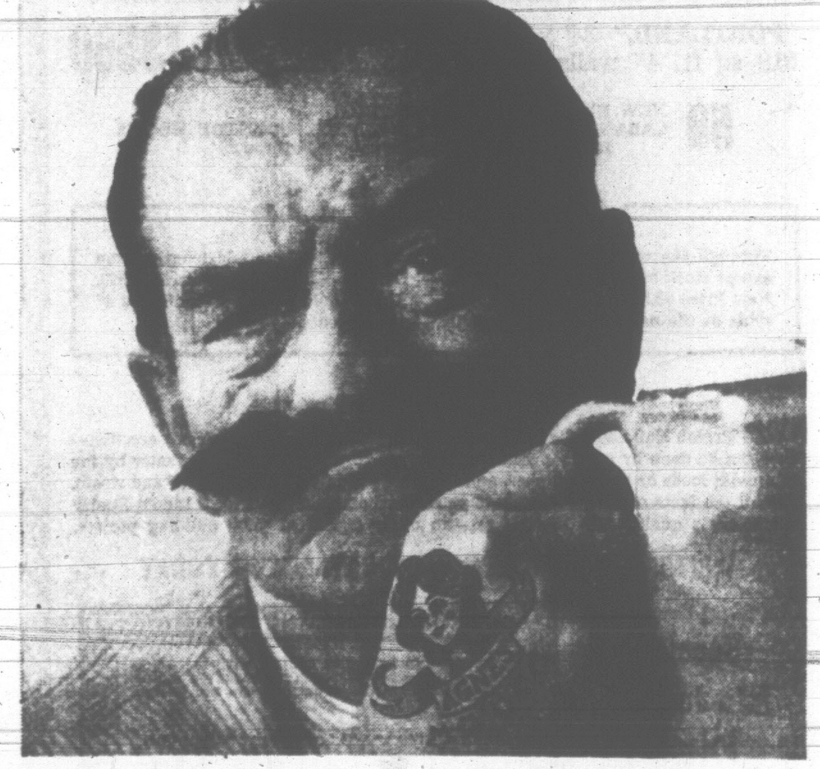
Do you have to wear a tattoo to enjoy Old Style Beer?



Let's put it this way. You should be the type who has thought of it. At least once. Because Old Style is not for the faint of heart. There's a tang of manly adventure – a hint of old deviltries – in every golden drop of this boldly brewed beer. Is that your style? Then you don't need a tattoo. You're already marked as an Old Style man.

Queen's Safety On Berlin Visit Disturbs MPs

LONDON (CP) — A controversy over the Queen's scheduled visit to West Berlin reached the floor of the House of Commons Tuesday.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the Tory leader, spoke of "wide anxiety" about the visit of the monarch and Prince Philip to West Berlin, focal point of a renewed war of nerves between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

Prime Minister Wilson replied that the Labor government would not hesitate to modify its advice to the Queen if there was any danger that the visit would be in any way inappropriate.

The controversy recalls the worrisome visit by the Queen and the Duke to Canada last year and, even more vividly, their trip to rebellion-torn Sudan in February.

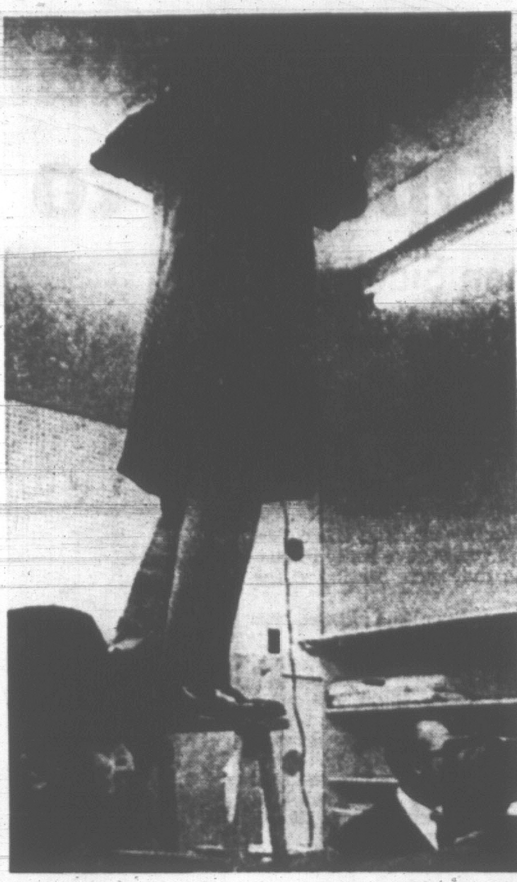
RAISES ISSUE

John Rankin, a Labor member for Glasgow, raised the issue Tuesday when he noted that Berlin is within Communist East German territory and Soviet jet planes staged spectacular demonstrations along the air corridors to the city last week in protest against the West German action of holding a session of parliament in West Berlin.

Wilson said that, while the previous Tory government advised the Queen to visit West Germany, he took full responsibility for the subsequent advice that she go to West Berlin.

"I am sure the visit of her majesty, on the advice of the government, will be a reassurance to the people of West Berlin and a sign of our determination to preserve their rights."

Some London newspapers have not only been critical of the government for advising the trip but also for not making strenuous efforts to keep the West German parliament from meeting in West Berlin last week, thus sparking reatliation.



SQUARE HOLE in ceiling of children's store was used to gain access to Royal Bank in Montreal where thieves this week emptied 400 safety deposit boxes.

Two Bodies Found

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The bodies of two missing fishermen were discovered Tuesday in Stave Lake, 30 miles east of here. The victims were Joseph Bernard Grace, 33, of Coquitlam, and Gordon Allen, 29, of Surrey. Bert Grace, a New Westminster detective who was Joseph Grace's uncle, said he believes Allen's frisky Labrador dog capsized the boat by shifting its weight.

Soviet Science Reporting Sometimes Fiction

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet science reporting occasionally turns into science fiction in its efforts to glorify Soviet scientific achievements.

The deflated sensation over cosmic radio signals and claims that they came from another civilization out in space was only one of a series of such colorful but inaccurate reports.

Soviet astronomers' complaints Tuesday of sensationalism in Soviet press coverage of science have been frequently expressed in the past in Soviet scientific journals.

These protests usually have been made after Western scientists questioned the reports. One Soviet scientist has written that such incidents make Soviet science a laughing stock in the eyes of the world.

One brief sensation was the report that frozen 5,000-year-old salamanders had been revived by geologists who found them in Siberia.

The story was quickly dropped after strong indications appeared that an over-enthusiastic journalist had taken the account from a children's storybook.

In another instance, newspapers published stories last year that bones of a mate of the abominable snowman had been found in the Caucasus Mountains. Five Moscow specialists later said the bones were those of an ordinary homo sapien.

A few weeks later, a newspaper published a claim that a geological expedition had sighted a 100,000,000-year-old reptile swimming in a lake in northern Siberia.

The report was greeted with scepticism in Moscow. But one Soviet writer argued that since the Loch Ness monster probably exists, so could the Russian monster.

Another favorite is scientific detection of historic crimes. Specialists have claimed to have proven scientifically that Alexander Pushkin and Mikhail Lermontov, the great Russian poets, were victims of foul play in the duels of honor in which they died.

ELUSIVE BUCKAROO

Elusive target for Victoria Maple Leafs at Portland Wednesday night was Gerry Goyer (27), being pursued here by Victoria's Claude Labrosse (5). Goyer collected goal and two assists as Buckaroos bopped Leafs 5-1 in opening game of Western Hockey League final. (AP Wirephoto.)

Leafs Get Usual Start; Drop Opener to Bucks

Two Defencemen Sidelined; Second Game Here Saturday

By HAL MALONE

Portland. — Not again!

Yes, Hortense, Victoria Maple Leafs are off to their customary flambuoyant start in Western Hockey League playoffs.

Just as they did in Seattle two weeks ago, the Leafs went S-P-L-A-A-T here Wednesday night. The benefactors were Portland Buckaroos. The score was 5-1. It could have been 13-1 if you believe Rudy Pilous, or 7-1 if you buy the lasagna they were serving in the Bucks' boudoir.

Historians are aware that the Leafs pulled a David to render the Seattle Goliath extinct. If the same fate is to befall Portland in this best-of-seven final, the Leafs need another kind of miracle worker, preferably with a "Dr." prefix.

The Leafs' dressing room looked like the aftermath of the battle of Bastogne. This team went home in a bus when an ambulance would have been more appropriate.

Their battle song has changed from "shoot the puck" to "fire the linament." (Substitute "arnica" or "plasma" for "linament" if you will).

You think you have trouble, friend, with dandruff and the seven-day itch? Ponder this casualty collection:

1. Bill Shvetz, bone growth in his back. Didn't make the trip.
2. Sandy Hucul, one ankle missing. Right ankle in a state of shock from a line drive in last Seattle game. Didn't play.
3. Al Millar, aching left side. Loves money but couldn't bend over to pick up loose $50 bill off the floor.
4. Larry Keenan, whimpering knee. Asking him to put pressure on it is like expecting Mahalia Jackson to run the 100 in 9.6 seconds.
5. Claude Labrosse, ouch side, gift of a Portland defence man handing out souvenirs.
6. Rudy Pilous, weak heart.

Bucks Sent Out Anti-Social Six

Memorial Arena is the scheduled site of the second game Saturday night at 8:30. But they may have to play it in Royal Jubilee Hospital. Pilous ordered all wounded to report there upon arrival in Victoria.

This sad state of affairs left Coach Pilous with two defencemen against the frothiest team in the league. Portland used six defencemen, all healthy, strong and with anti-social dispositions.

Pilous plugged the gaps by using centre John Sleaver, which lessened the potency of his offence, and Bob Taylor, who is not exactly Doug Harvey.

Taylor's presence was both unexpected and belated. He did not travel with the club, and there were reports that he had left the team last Saturday. He led all the players in receiving Bronx cheers (8,771 paid) and penalties (four).

None of Victoria's attacking units performed with rare distinction. Lou Jankowski and Gordon Redahl appeared to miss Sleaver's perseverance. Shuffling oftener than a Vegas dealer, Pilous spotted Edgar Ehrenverth and Dick Lamoureux and Keenen between them with predictable results. Spotty, mostly.

PERSISTENT PURSUERS

Portland, by coach Hal Laycoe's testimony, did not burn down Memorial Coliseum with their brilliance. But the Buckaroos are like a pack of small children in quest of between-meals sustenance.

They pester with uncommon aggressiveness, pursue every puck as if it were the Hope Diamond and catch you with your awareness down.

The Leafs out-gunned the Bucks, 32-29, but this is like calling American beer er—beer. Many Victoria shots were from deep left-field, devoid of haste when they arrived at Don Head's goal.

The evening didn't look mis-spent for Victoria in the first period even though Portland scored the only goal. Jack Bionda golfed the puck wide but it struck the leg of Tom McVie, illegally parked in the crease and bounced past Millar.

Taylor saw red when the red light went on. He inelegantly dumped McVie on his ear. Portland's Mike Donaldson objected vigorously and they had a snarling match with nearly everybody exchanging views.

DOUBLE MINORS

Referee Lloyd Gilmore assessed the main-eventers with double minors, the third and fourth of 18 he levied for various forms of assault and battery.

The second period was a mere 18 seconds young when Gerry Goyer deflected Jim Hay's shot into Millar's nest. Thirty-six seconds later, honest Andy Hebenton, who has no right to be so spry at 34, mercilessly sped past Labrosse and backhanded a short-sider behind Millar.

Either shocked or perturbed the Leafs stopped being generous and took some positive steps.

Lou Jankowski took several in fact, after receiving a long pass from centre.

Waltzing in alone on a goalkeeper, Jankowski is 8-5 to leave him a quivering mass. This time he shot wide. Considerably.

Right then, if not earlier, was born the suspicion that the Leafs would not come up smelling daisies.

SHOCK TROOPS QUICK

Danny Belisle restored some circulation to Pilous' system at 14:05 when his blue-line whack hit a Portland stick and deflected over Head's shoulder. But when Taylor, the poor man's Howie Young, sinned at 14:30, Laycoe sent out the shock troops.

They took precisely four seconds to earn their pay. Gerry Goyer to McVie to Hebenton. Andy kept the drive low and Millar couldn't get down.

The Leafs had a sun-kissed opportunity in the third period when Gilmore tapped Connie Madigan and Hay for indiscretions.

But even with a 5-3 personnel advantage, Victoria couldn't reap the riches.

Laycoe's post-game analysis was brief.

"Head," he said, "never stopped easier shots. I'm sorry for Rudy, though. I would hate to go into the first game of the final without two defencemen."

"Rudy-Baby" was sorry, too.

But like Dr. Dafoe said to Olivia Dionne, hang on, this thing's not over yet.

Colt Loses, Then Wins Life Race

DRESDEN, Ont. (CP) — Miracle, son of pacer Bimbo Chief Can, got off to a fluky start but won his first race by a nose.

The colt was born dead Wednesday on the Dresden farm of Richard Brewer, and then brought to life by artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

He was christened after Joseph Booth, a neighbor of the Brewers and owner of the colt's sire, applied the resuscitation and veterinarian Dr. Lee Roberts the respiration.

"The heart didn't beat for two minutes," Dr. Roberts said.

Mr. Brewer and Dr. Roberts said they had never heard of the method being used successfully in such cases before.

The colt "looks good—quite bright," Dr. Roberts said.

Punch Isn't Knocking— But Talent Hunt Is On

ANDY BATHGATE
. . . still useful

TORONTO (CP) — Barely 24 hours after his Toronto Maple Leafs bowed out of the Stanley Cup playoffs, coach Punch Imlach started hunting for new talent.

The three-time cup champions dropped their best-of-seven semi-final to Montreal Canadiens 4-2, losing the deciding game 4-3 in overtime here Tuesday night. Imlach's post-mortems Wednesday lacked bitterness.

"I'm not putting the knock on anybody," he said. "They won three Stanley Cups for me and nobody gets a knock from me.

"We weren't that far off. It took overtime to put us out, but the downgrading has started. Now we've got to build."

Imlach left Toronto early today for a quick look at three Toronto farm clubs—Tulsa Oilers of the Central League, Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western League and Rochester Americans of the American League. All are involved in playoffs and Imlach plans to see them in action.

'NOT GOOD ENOUGH'

"It's obvious we aren't good enough," Imlach said. "Two years ago we finished first. Last year we were third. This year we're fourth with less wins and less goals. So we've got to find something better."

It was the failure of the Leaf penalty-killers that cost them the Montreal series. Three of Canadiens' four goals in the last game and 11 of 17 over-all were scored while Toronto was short-handed.

Leaf president Stafford Smythe said the emergence of rookie Ron Ellis as a full-fledged star disrupted the team's plans. He had been counted on as a penalty-killer and spot player. When he made it as a regular, he displaced veteran Andy Bathgate whose penalty-killing skills are limited.

But the president felt Bathgate and other veterans like Red Kelly and George Armstrong still could be useful to the Leafs if their ice time was held down to regular shifts while younger players took on power-play and penalty-killing responsibilities.

CENTRAL LOOP GRADS

Reay Counting On Rookie Duo

DETROIT (CP)—As a long-time coach and general manager in Detroit, Jack Adams might be expected to favor the Red Wings in tonight's seventh and deciding game of their Stanley Cup semifinal against Chicago Black Hawks. But he'll be pulling strongly for a couple of guys in Chicago uniforms.

Adams is president of the Central Professional Hockey League and stoutly insists that his circuit is the best in minor professional hockey. And a couple of graduates from the two-year-old circuit may turn out to be key men in Chicago's bid to qualify for the cup final against Montreal Canadiens.

The two CPHL men are centres Phil Esposito and Fred Stanfield, both of whom spent last season with St. Louis Braves before making it as National Hockey League regulars this season. Esposito has scored two goals in the current series to date and Stanfield has one.

Their production isn't outstanding compared to Bobby Hull's seven-goal output for the Hawks or Norm Ullman's five for Detroit. But Chicago coach Billy Reay is hoping the rookie centres will come up with a big game in tonight's decider.

Esposito has already proven himself over the 70-game NHL schedule, scoring 23 goals—14 in the final half—and picking up 23 assists.

REAY SATISFIED

Stanfield came through with only seven goals and 10 assists during the season, but Reay is satisfied.

"Stanfield missed a lot of time because of an appendix operation," Reay said. "He's really only coming into his own now."

The Hawks left for Detroit immediately after shutting out the Wings 4-0 in the sixth game at Chicago Tuesday night and spent Wednesday relaxing.

At Olympia Stadium Hull donned a goaltender's catching glove and caught shots in shoes and street clothes for brother Dennis, defenceman Doug Jarrett and forwards Camille Henry, Jack McKenzie and Chico Maki.

Meanwhile, the Wings arrived at their hideaway at Toledo, Ohio, Wednesday afternoon. Coach Sid Abel expects to have defenceman Doug Barkley and leftwinger Larry Jeffrey back in tonight's lineup.

Barkley suffered concussion in Sunday's game here and Jeffrey has been sidelined for several games with a recurring back injury.

Howard Out For 10 Days

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Elston Howard, veteran catcher for New York Yankees who hit .313 last season, will be lost to the defending American League champions for possibly 10 days, manager Johnny Keane said Wednesday.

Howard injured his right elbow when he slipped while throwing a ball in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on April 3, then re-injured it last Monday in the Yankees' 11-inning defeat by Minnesota Twins.

NEW ROUGHRIDER

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference have confirmed the signing of Eural McLaughlin, a 180-pound halfback from North Central Illinois College.

MAPLE LEAFS WILLING

TV Deal Might Snap Saturday-Night Run

TORONTO (CP)—Saturday night hockey, a Toronto tradition since Maple Leaf Gardens opened its doors in the early 1930s, may be disrupted if the National Hockey League succeeds in making a deal with a United States television network.

"We wouldn't mind giving up a few dates if it means getting television exposure in the States," Garden president Stafford Smythe said Tuesday.

Eight years ago, when a U.S. network experimentally telecast NHL games on Saturday afternoons, the Leafs were non-participants because of their Saturday night commitments. Lack of competitive variety was blamed for failure of the experiment.

Smythe said the games pushed basketball out of the ratings but were unable to attract a sponsor. The NHL now has installed Fred Corcoran, a former professional golf official, as promotion consultant in New York and is confident that financial support will be forthcoming in its current venture.

Toe Follows Form; He Has No Choice

MONTREAL (CP)—There's an old saw in professional sport which has the kindly coach declaring no preference regarding the opponent his team draws for the pennant, series or cup final.

Toe Blake, Montreal Canadiens coach, ran true to form Wednesday as his Habs waited for the Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks to play the seventh and deciding game of their Stanley Cup semi - final at Detroit.

Blake's charges earned a four-day respite by eliminating the Maple Leafs 4-3 in overtime at Toronto Tuesday night in the sixth game of their semifinal series.

Blake said Wednesday he didn't care whether his team met Detroit or Chicago in the final. He was more concerned with obtaining a replacement for all-star defenceman Jacques Laperriere, shelved for the season with a fractured left ankle in Tuesday's contest.

Canadiens won six, lost three and tied five with the Hawks during the season while they won four, lost eight and tied two games with the Wings.

"Sure we've had a better record against Chicago this year," Blake agreed. "But don't forget Detroit are hurt very badly right now."

PLAGUED BY INJURIES

The Montreal coach was referring to the injury jinx which has plagued the league-champion Wings since the playoffs series began.

If the Wings win tonight the Canadiens journey to Detroit for Sunday and Tuesday games. If it's a Montreal - Chicago playoff, the Hawks visit Montreal Saturday and Tuesday.

With Laperriere out, two rearguards from the Canadiens' farm system were working with the big team today.

Jean Gauthier from the Omaha Knights and Bryan Watson of Quebec Aces were on hand as was Noel Picard who joined the Habs during the closing weeks of the regular schedule.

Indian Soccer Clubs Chase Totem Trophy

Play in the Totem Cup soccer tournament for Indian teams will begin Friday at Hampton Park.

First to go on the warpath will be host club, Songhees, against Shell Beach at 10 a.m.

Defending - champion Cape Mudge meets Duncan in the second game at noon.

Other first-round play pits Mission against Sidney Hotel at 2 p.m. and Sechelt against Saanich in a 4 p.m. match.

The tourney continues Saturday with winners meeting winners and losers meeting losers to decide championship and consolation finalists.

Play for the Russel Joseph Memorial Cup in the consolation round will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday and kickoff for final is slated at 3 p.m.

East German Ace Quits Bike Team

LONDON (AP) — Hartmut Scholz, East German cycling ace, disappeared from his team soon after arrival at London Airport and is presumed to have defected, cycling officials have reported.

Scholz, star of the East German pursuit squad, arrived with two other riders to compete in a Friday meet.

Juventus In Semis

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Juventus of Turin played its way into the semifinals of the European Cup of Fairs soccer tournament by defeating Bulgaria's Lokomotiv Plovdiv 2-1 in an elimination playoff game here Wednesday night.

The game went two 15-minute overtime periods.

TORONTO ORGANIZATION . . .

. . . GETS IIHF APPROVAL

Bunny Backs Clinics for Boys

TORONTO (CP) — Maurice Black, president of the Double Blue Organization which runs hockey schools for boys in Toronto, said Wednesday night he has received authorization to conduct clinics for children in Finland, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland in 1966, using reinstated professionals as instructors.

Black said he has been promised full co-operation by J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation.

Early in March, when former professional Larry Regan announced plans to take six NHL players to Innsbruck, Austria, to conduct a hockey clinic this summer, Ahearne blocked the project by threatening an IIHF boycott of any stadium in Europe that permitted professionals to appear on it.

Prime Minister Pearson announced in the Commons last Friday that the government is attempting to remove obstacles to the Regan project through diplomatic channels. The NHL players involved are Gordie Howe, Norm Ullman and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit Red Wings and Terry Sawchuk, Tim Horton and Ron Stewart of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Black said he has signed Sid Smith, former Toronto captain, to his instructional staff and hopes to add others, including an NHL coach. He said Aherne offered to supply him with a list of European contacts.

"We are not interested in teaching the senior teams in Europe," Black said. "That would be ridiculous after the way the Russians and Czechs beat our senior teams. We plan to hold hockey schools for children, as we do here."

WHL ALL-STARS

Three Bucks On Top Team

SEATTLE (CP)—Portland Buckaroos nailed down three of six first-team positions in Western Hockey League all-star selections announced today.

Pat Stapleton was named to one defence position, Tommy McVie to left wing and Andy Hebenton to right wing on the first all-star squad, which was chosen in a vote of all WHL players.

Seattle's Jim McLeod is the goalkeeper, Vancouver's Bill McNeill the centre and Seattle's Gordie Sinclair pairs with Stapleton on defence.

McLeod drew most votes with 318 of a possible 400. McVie had 313, Hebenton 270, McNeill 236, Sinclair 240 and Stapleton 216.

Buckaroos dominated the league on their way to a first-place finish, but McLeod was the league's top goalkeeper with a goals-against average of 2.78. McNeill won the most valuable player award, Hebenton was named most gentlemanly player, and Stapleton was named top defenceman in player ballots previously announced.

HUCUL NAMED

Scoring champion Guyle Fielder of Seattle centres the second all-star team with Wayne Connelly of San Francisco his right-winger and Brian Smith of Los Angeles at his left. Second-team defencemen are Sandy Hucul of Victoria and Connie Madigan of Portland. Don Head of Portland is the goaltender.

Fast Scoring In Third Test

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters) — An umpiring dispute before play started, and a mercurial innings by Rohan Kanhai later, made it an eventful day when the third test between West Indies and Australia began here Wednesday.

The West Indies was 201 for two at the close, with Kanhai (88 not out) and Basil Butcher (47 not out) sharing an exciting run-a-minute third-wicket stand.

Sir Stanley Signs With Toronto Club

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Stanley Matthews, one of the all-time greats of English soccer, will don a Toronto City uniform this season, club president Steve Stavro announced Wednesday.

Matthews, who played for Toronto City of the Eastern Canadian Professional Soccer League—the only club outside England to sign the 50-year-old winger to a contract—for the first time in 1961, will wind up his playing career here in May and June.

"We are very honored to have Sir Stanley play for our team for about six weeks," Stavro said.

Sir Stanley, first soccer player to be knighted, played his last game as a registered player with the English First division club, Stoke City, March 31. He will take part in his last game in Stoke City colors in his own benefit match April 28, in which soccer players from across the world have been invited to participate.

Spell It Either Way—It's Trouble for Yanks

By Associated Press

Cardinal or Cardenal. Either way it seems to spell trouble for New York Yankees.

The American League champions, who had trouble with 25 Cardinals from St. Louis last October, ran into considerable difficulty with one Cardenal from Los Angeles Wednesday night as they lost to the Angels 4-3.

The new Cardenal pestering the Yankees is Jose Domec Cardenal, 21, an outfielder who collected a homer, double and two singles during the game.

Stealing the spotlight from the expected duel betwen ace left-hander Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Cardenal connected for his first major league homer as the leadoff hitter and later started the Angels' winning rally.

By that time both Chance and Ford had left.

Chance lasted six innings before he was lifted for a pinch hitter after allowing five hits and two runs while walking five men. Ford, meanwhile, was touched for eight hits and two runs in 5 1-3 innings.

BROKE CHANCE'S STRING

The two runs were the first the Yankees had scored off Chance in 25 innings.

On another front, Baltimore Orioles handed Chicago White Sox their first loss in some 6½ months. The White Sox won their last seven games of the 1964 season and their 1965 opener before Milt Pappas shut them out 6-0 on six hits.

There was only one other game played in the American League, Washington Senators whipping Boston Red Sox 6-4 on Don Blasingame's key triple. The Cleveland at Kansas City and Detroit at Minnesota games were rained out.

DOUBLED PRODUCTION

Cardenal, a right-handed swinger with one hit in 29 previous major league games going into the season, collected two in the Angels' opener Tuesday and doubled his production again with a 4-for-5 performance against the Yankees.

With the Angels trailing 3-2 in the seventh, Cardenal singled off Hall Reniff to get the winning rally started. Another single by Willie Smith and Jim Fregosi's two-run double did the rest of the damage.

TRESH HITS HOMER

The two Yankee runs off Chance were provided by Tom Tresh, who smashed a homer following a fifth inning walk to Ford.

Pappas, who missed the opening-day assignment because of a sore elbow, kept the White Sox from putting more than one man on base in any inning.

He also scored the only run he needed by doubling in the third inning against Joe Horlen and coming around on a single by Paul Blair.

Anglers Select Top Derby Prize

Directors of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association are assembling an attractive collection of prizes for the annual Handicapped Children's Salmon Derby.

They are planning for at least 40 fishing prizes for the 1965 edition of the derby on August 15 and have selected a new automobile as the event's main consolation award.

The consolation prize may be won by any ticket holder.

Famed as Vancouver Island's biggest one-day fishing derby, the event, co-sponsored by the VSIAA and The Daily Times, has raised almost $90,000 for handicapped children since it was launched in 1946.

Tickets for the derby are now available from Saanich Inlet boathouses, most sporting goods stores and members of the derby committee.

Other anglers wishing to assist in ticket sales may obtain tickets from Stan Williams, 1225 Government Street.

Canadians Lucky To Beat Luckies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Canadians moved to within one point of league-leading Vancouver Firefighters in Pacific Coast Soccer League standings by defeating North Shore Luckies, 2-0, here Wednesday night.

The Canadians now have 27 points to the firefighters' 28. Each team has five games left to play.

Wednesday's victory flattered the Canadians. North Shore had a big edge in first-half play but missed on four excellent scoring opportunities. Canadians got a goal just before halftime on a breakaway by centre-forward Roy Nosella. The second goal also came on a quick break downfield, left-winger Ken Ferrier scoring from 15 yards late in the game.

North Shore remained in sixth place in the seven-team league with the loss.

NEW SOFTBALL LOOP

Teams Hurry To Sign Aces

The early rush for talent is almost over and teams in Victoria's new Senior "A" Men's Softball League are assembling lineups around their star performers and preparing for opening day.

Bringing senior "A" softball back to the city after an absence of a few seasons, the circuit will launch its 1965 season with two games at Heywood Ave. Park, Sunday, May 2.

Opening the campaign in an afternoon tussle will be Luckies and Carlings. Clashing in an evening game will be Century Inn and Sooke Forest Products.

Completing the league's seven-team roster will be McLarens Construction, Newstead Realty and Morrison Motors, winner of the provincial junior crown last season.

Luckies have acquired a fistful of old favorites and will be able to throw sharp pitching and hard hitting at their rivals. Among players working out with Luckies are Barry Jackson, Mike Rye, Stu Mitchell, Gordie Jones, Joe Patterson, Tim Walker, Ben Price and Larry Montgomery.

Forming the nucleus of the Carling club will be Jim Moody, Bob Holness, Steve Bishop and Norm Curran.

Two imports will boost the chances of the Century squad. Bill Eastgate, from Vancouver, is slated to pitch for the Innmen and former Winnipegger Herb Latreille is due to patrol in the outfield.

Also signed by Centuries are pitchers Geoff Hett and John Markin.

Sooke Forest Products will have three of the best in pitchers Larry Jay and Glen Bullen and third-baseman Tim Gowdie.

McLarens could wind up with the slickest infield in the loop with established stars like Jim Wilson, Ron Brousseau, Ed Lou, Bob Lowe, Rod Turner, Ted Penson and Dennis Beulac on the roster.

Aces for Newsteads could be Don Lyons, Ton Hardy and Tony Bishop.

Stepping up to senior company after the junior triumph last season, Morrisons will again be managed by Lou McCorkall.

McCorkall has most of his champs returning, including pitchers Rollie Clark and Wade Burns. Also figuring prominently in McCorkall's plans are Ken Jackson, Doug Gregory, Ken McCorkall, Dave Bowie and Terry Whitman.

One-Day Tourney For High Schools

High school golf competition takes on a new look this year.

Organized last season as a league that stretched over a number of weeks, team competition for the Bill McColl Trophy will be a one-day affair this year.

The tournament, drawing teams from Victoria, Oak Bay, St. Louis College, Belmont, Claremont and Mt. Douglas, will be held April 21.

Individual honors as well as the team prize will also be at stake.

The tournament, to be played at Gorge Vale, draws full support from the Victoria District Golf Committee. The committee's junior development fund will help pay for the high school players' green fees.

Oil Kings Square Series With Pats

EDMONTON (CP)—A veteran and a rookie provided five goals for Edmonton Oil Kings Wednesday night as Kings thumped Regina Pats 8-3 before 4,061 fans to even the best-of-seven Western Canada Memorial Cup semi-final at two games each.

Veteran Dave Rochefort, rebounding from an indifferent season, fired three goals and rookie Ross Perkins added two. Singles were potted by Ace Bailey, Ted Rogers and Ron Anderson.

Fran Huck, the only consistent Regina offensive threat, scored all three Pats goals, one in each period.

Fifth game of the series will be played tonight in Edmonton. A sixth game is scheduled for Regina Saturday and a seventh, if necessary, in Edmonton Monday.

Pats were troubled by the large Edmonton Gardens ice surface, but received excellent goaltending from Peter Sternig and a fine defensive effort from reinforcement Jim Cardiff, summoned from Weyburn Red Wings.

Phils Sign Duren

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have optioned pitcher John Boozer on 24-hour recall to their Arkansas farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Boozer was optioned to make room for pitcher Ryne Duren, who was signed by the Phillies Tuesday.

FORMER LUMBERJACK ON CONTENDER

The 23-year-old Canadian jockey, who five years ago was a lumberjack in northern New Brunswick, has been assigned to ride Tom Rolfe, rated among the top three or four of the three-year-olds which will start in the Kentucky Derby May 1.

Turcotte, who has never seen a Derby except on television, thinks he has a good chance to wind up in the winner's circle two weeks from Saturday.

BELLY RIDER

Tom Rolfe is from the stable owned by Raymond Guest, U.S. ambassador to Ireland. He's rated a come-from-behind horse and Turcotte has a reputation as a "belly rider"—the type of jockey who refuses to admit his mount is beaten until the race is over. The combination may be dynamic.

Last Saturday at Laurel, Tom Rolfe and Turcotte came from behind to win the Chesapeake Stakes, making it three victories for Tom Rolfe in four starts this year. As the other Derby starters, Guest's three-year-old will run 1¼ miles for the first time May 1.

Patrick Cuts Bomber Ties

WINNIPEG (CP)—Steve Patrick, veteran of 13 seasons and 200 games with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Football Conference, announced his retirement today.

Primary reason for retiring was his legislative duties, said Patrick, Liberal member of the Manitoba legislature for Assiniboia and a real estate and insurance agent.

Patrick, 32, joined Bombers in 1952 and as a tackle-middle guard, played in six Grey Cup games, was selected a WFC all star in 1958 and 1959 and an all-Canadian in 1958.

Phase II of the Rambler Revolution has added something extra to all those unique construction features (something that even she can see at a glance). Take the new Ambassador for example: impressive new styling outside, spacious new luxury inside—famous Rambler quality for the larger-car buyer. And the longer, more luxurious Ambassador now offers an outstanding choice of options, 72 in all—everything up to Disc Brakes, Reclining Bucket Seats, and a high-performance 327 cu.-in. V8 engine. (If it weren't for the low price tag, people would have trouble believing this is a Rambler!) And now there are more models to choose from, too: sedans, wagons, hardtops and, of course, convertibles. No wonder the Ambassador has been opening so many eyes lately. If you're one of those who couldn't see us before, come see us now.

GOV'T WOULD FOOT BILL

Legal Aid for All Ontario Proposal

TORONTO (CP)—A legal aid system that would be available to every Ontario resident in trouble with any court from traffic to supreme was recommended to the Ontario legislature Tuesday.

The attorney - general's joint committee on legal aid submitted a report recommending the system and suggesting it should be administered by the Law Society of Upper Canada. The provincial government would foot the bills.

The present system makes a person eligible for legal aid if his annual income is less than $1,200 for a single person and $2,500 for a married person with no children.

The proposed system would make legal aid available to anyone who wants it and who faces an indictable offence—requiring a jury trial. For lesser charges —which can be heard by a magistrate or judge without a jury —legal aid would be offered only to persons facing long jail terms or heavy fines.

The joint committee of law society and government officials, with former deputy attorney-general William Common as chairman, recommended that legal aid lawyers receive 75 per cent of normal fees.

LAWYERS TO VOLUNTEER

Applicants for legal aid would have to pay what portion they could afford of legal fees. But eligibility tests in criminal cases would wait until after the legal aid had been made available.

Legal aid service would be voluntary for lawyers. They could stipulate whether they wanted to deal with civil or criminal cases, and the person requiring legal aid would be free to choose his counsel from a pool of lawyer volunteers.

In civil cases, legal aid would cover division court, family court, administrative tribunals, bankruptcy, domestic proceedings and matrimonial cases.

In appeal cases, aid would include such matters as motions to quash convictions or decisions, habeas corpus and prohibition—all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada if necessary.

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said the report tabled in the legislature will form the basis of government legislation but he did not say whether a legal aid bill would be introduced at the present session.

FREEWAY PLANNED TO HORSESHOE BAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Details of plans for a four-lane freeway between West Vancouver and Horseshoe Bay were disclosed Wednesday.

A representative of one of the engineering firms in the $12,000,000 project said five miles of the existing upper levels highway will be widened to four lanes from two.

The remaining four miles, between Cypress Park and Horseshoe Bay, will take a new four-lane route following the alignment of the present highway but chopping out a number of tight, sub-standard curves.

BITTER CAMPAIGN

Cavities Up, Fluoridation Returns

ANTIGO, Wis. (AP)—Antigo city councilmen, hearing that city second-grade school children have 183 per cent more cavities than they did four years ago, voted 11 to 1 Tuesday night to resume fluoridation of the municipal water supply.

Fluoridation, which first was started in the city in 1949, was ended in 1960 after a public referendum.

Resumption comes after another referendum April 6, demanded after the state board of health released a survey showing the increase in dental decay among school children.

Last week's referendum, which climaxed weeks of bitter campaigning by for-and-against factions in this northern Wisconsin city of about 10,000, showed an 1,824 to 1,685 advantage for those who wanted to resume the practice.

Only dissenter in the council was mayor-elect Ruben Krause, who assumes office as mayor next week. Krause first offered an amendment to delay action for what he called a 60-day cooling-off period. His motion failed for lack of a second.

The council listened to John Morton of the Freedom from Fluoridation Committee plead for delay to await "new evidence," including a film which he asserted shows the "harmful effect of fluoridation on body cells," then acted.

FOR MUSEUM

Closure Of Elliott Advocated

A provincial government application to close most of block-long Elliott Street was recommended by city council public works committee Tuesday.

The request was made to permit consolidation of property making ready for construction of a $5 million museum-archives complex on Govern-adjoining the Douglas Building.

City engineer James Garnett approved the closure, provided the provincial government undertakes to replace storm drains, sewer and water services.

* * *

The committee authorized ratification of the appointment of Associated Engineering Services Ltd. to undertake a capital region sewer survey on behalf of the city, adjoining municipalities and unorganized areas.

Representatives from these areas forming a joint sewerage committee headed by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell made the selection based on advice of a technical committee headed by the city engineer.

City council instructed the city solicitor to prepare an agreement with the firm.

ANNOUNCEMENT:

New,
more powerful gasoline produced by Shell–
now on sale in B.C.

SHELL SCIENTISTS have produced a new, more powerful formula for regular grade gasoline. This new gasoline is now being delivered to Shell stations in B.C. You can buy it today.

The new Shell formula is particularly suited to B.C. conditions—where motorists often have more need for extra power from a regular gasoline because of the higher, steeper hills.

If your car's engine was designed for regular gasoline but sometimes suffers from knock, try the new Shell formula. The difference in power is immediately noticeable.

Teacher Boycott Proposed Against Arbitrated Pay

VANCOUVE R(CP) — Arbitration as a means of settling salary disputes between teachers and school trustees is in for heavy criticism next week at the annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

The Burnaby Teachers' Association will ask the BCTF to "urge its members to refrain from applying for positions in districts with arbitrated salary schedules."

The request is contained in one of 48 resolutions to be considered by 1,200 delegates to the four-day convention which opens Monday.

UNIFORM PAY

A renewed bid for a uniform salary scale in B.C. will be made by the Abbotsford District Teachers' Association.

Arbitration is again cited as one of the reasons why such a uniform salary scale is needed.

The Abbotsford Association claims that "it is becoming increasingly obvious that salary negotiations at the local level is no longer effective. School boards have nothing to lose by arbitration and are failing to negotiate in good faith.

"Settlement of salaries by arbitration . . . is becoming a general rule."

The Sechelt Teachers' Association will seek "immediate steps" to safeguard and improve the collective bargaining rights of teachers in "all aspects of working agreements."

SHORTER HOURS

Teachers in the Greater Victoria area seek the shorter school days and years that were in force before 1961 when a recommendation of the Chant Royal Commission was put into effect.

At that time the school day was increased to 5 ½ hours from five and the year to 191 days from 185.

The resolution asks restoration of the Christmas vacation to its former full two weeks instead of the present seven teaching days.

FINANCE INQUIRY

The Revelstoke Teachers' Association will ask the BCTF to support a request of the B.C. School Trustees Association for a royal commission on educational finance.

Equitable distribution of qualified and experienced teachers throughout the province is sought in a resolution proposed by the Lake Cowichan Teachers' Association and the South Vancouver Island District Council.

Alberni teachers will ask the BCTF to request that the education minister reverse a ruling that forced the removal of clergymen from the list of substitute teachers.

Among the convention speakers will be W. R. Long of Kitimat. He will speak on the African Project — a program financed by the $15,000 annual grant from the BCTF to permit B.C. teachers to visit African countries to conduct summer schools for African teachers.

The keynote speech will be given by Dr. J. F. K. English, deputy minister and superintendent of education for B.C.

GOOD NEIGHBOR SERENADE is given bellhop Frank Goudie at Empress Hotel before visiting school choir left Victoria for home in Olympia Wednesday. Members of 78-voice Olympia High School group sang classics, pops and contemporary songs in visit to Oak Bay, Victoria, Mount View and Esquimalt senior secondary schools, sponsored by Kiwanis Club and their own efforts at selling 100 cases of chocolate bars to pay fares. From left: Marilyn Nickerson, Janice Ward, Kay Norton (accompanist) and Annette Carlson. Aged 15-18 years, the group was billeted at homes of local school children under care of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schlichting and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Timmerman.

Floating Radio Links To Aid Jet Aircraft

LONDON (AP) — A group of British companies has unveiled plans to build floating telecommunications stations spanning oceans to give more dependable radio links with high-speed aircraft.

The manned stations would be tubular structures 400 feet long, 16 feet in diameter, floating vertically like giant buoys, and moored to the seabed.

A spokesman for the group says the system would "provide urgently needed navigation and communication facilities for rapidly-increasing high speed air traffic, especially on the North Atlantic routes."

The companies involved in the venture are Submarine Cables Ltd., British Insulated Callendar's Cables and Cammell Laird, the shipbuilding firm.

The spokesman says that when a plane crossing the wider oceans disappears below the radio horizon it is out of range of first-class radio communication services.

The companies did not specify when they hoped to have such floating stations in operation.

Dope Flown To Red Guerrillas

SAIGON (Reuters) — Strong evidence that some Communist guerrilla units have been doped with opium before launching suicide-type attacks on South Vietnamese government military positions was disclosed today by reliable U.S. military sources.

The sources reported that recently unidentified light aircraft with no markings were observed flying into South Viet Nam and dropping supplies of opium into areas where the Viet Cong have been massing in large concentrations.

Opium has been found on the bodies of Viet Cong and many guerrillas who were killed trying to overrun military outposts with "human wave" charges showed strong signs of having been heavily drugged, he said.

PRELIMINARY HEARING TOLD

Dupuis 'Discontented' With Two Que. Leaders

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—Yvon Dupuis, former federal minister without portfolio, was described in court Wednesday as being "discontented" with Quebec Premier Lesage and the late revenue minister Paul Earl in 1961 because the Quebec government had not issued a charter to operate a racetrack at St. Luc, Que.

The testimony, at Mr. Dupuis' preliminary hearing on influence peddling charges, came from Jacques Roy, executive assistant to the late revenue minister.

Mr. Roy also told the court that Mr. Dupuis took him out for lunch earlier in the same year and tried to persuade him that a racetrack would be good for the St. Luc region.

Mr. Dupuis, 38, who resigned from the cabinet in January at Prime Minister Pearson's request, is charged with having asked for and accepted $10,000 for using his influence in support of the charter application.

The charter, sought by a group headed by chiropractor Roch Deslauriers of St. Johns, Que., was never granted.

'RECEIVED LETTERS'

Mr. Roy testified that Mr. Earl received a number of letters about the racetrack during 1961. Among them were letters from Mr. Dupuis, Mr. Deslauriers and Philidor Ouimet, member of the Quebec legislature for St. Johns.

He also recalled that Mr. Dupuis had visited Mr. Earl in Quebec City. Mr. Earl's department was responsible for issuing racetrack licences.

Mr. Roy said the luncheon was some time during the summer of 1961. Among the arguments the federal MP had advanced in support of the racetrack project was that "it would break the cartel of Jean-Louis Levesque."

Mr. Levesque is the principal stockholder of Blue Bonnets and Richelieu raceways in Montreal.

Mr. Roy denied that he had received $1,000 or any other amount of money from Mr. Dupuis.

Shortly after the executive assistant testified, Judge Andre Regnier adjourned the hearing until April 28.

DIDN'T LIKE PROJECT

Earlier Wednesday, St. Johns businessman Roger L. Lanoue testified that he advised his younger brother to steer clear of the racetrack project because he felt the men involved, including Mr. Dupuis, lacked the experience and the maturity to make the project succeed.

Mr. Lanoue, a hotel owner, is president of Rolan Chemicals Limited and Le Terminus St. Jean Limitee.

He said his brother Guy came to him May 7, 1961, and told him he had been asked to contribute part of an amount of $10,000 that the racetrack promoter needed urgently for the following day.

Mr. Lanoue said he understood the money was to be paid to Mr. Dupuis through Mr. Deslauriers, and "I strongly recommended that he (Guy) get out of it as quickly as he could."

Mr. Deslauriers has testified that he borrowed most of the $10,000 and gave it to Mr. Dupuis in Ottawa May 9, 1961.

Three Men Honored

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three men were given the freedom of Vancouver Tuesday, the greatest honor the city can bestow on a citizen. Mayor William Rathie presented awards at a special council meeting to John Henderson, chairman of the Vancouver School board from 1921 to 1924 and to H. H. Stevens, MP from 1911 to 1940 and a privy councillor since 1921. The mayor later went to the home of Charles E. Thompson, mayor of Vancouver from 1949 to 1950, to present the third award.

NEW executive director and secretary of the National Parole Board is Frank P. Miller, 53. He succeeds Benoit Godbout. (CP Photo.)

Stewardess Lives, 26 Die in Crash

JERSEY, Channel Islands (Reuters) — A badly injured French stewardess was in hospital here today—the sole survivor of a British airliner crash that claimed 26 lives Wednesday night.

Miss Dominique Sillere, 23, of Paris, suffered two broken legs when a twin-engined DC-3 flying here from Paris crashed in thick fog on the edge of Jersey Airport and burst into flames. Three other crew members and all 23 passengers perished.

The plane of Jersey Airlines, an affiliate of British United Airways, was reported carrying a number of French, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese workers travelling to the island for agricultural work. Six passengers were Britons.

The three crew members killed, including Capt. Peter Self, 31, were residents of Jersey, the largest of Britain's nine islands lying off the Cherbourg Peninsula in the English Channel.

(A British newspaper report said Self gave up a £25,000 ($75,000) inheritance 11 years ago because he loved flying.

(The story said the money had been left to him on condition he did not join the armed forces. Instead, Self entered the RAF. He leaves his wife and one child.)

TOYOTA CROWN
Canada's first limousine quality car priced at $2625.00

Presumptuous? Not at all. The Toyota Crown is indeed a limousine quality car. It is used daily by statesmen and company presidents in Japan and many other parts of the world. That, in fact, is how Toyota earned its enviable international reputation. The Toyota Crown has demonstrated its superb quality and reliability over thousands of miles of swift, silent and trouble-free driving in countries whose highways are decades behind Canada's in development.

The Toyota Crown should never be classed with lesser automobiles whose low prices are achieved only by sacrificing equipment necessary for your comfort and convenience. Every Toyota Crown comes equipped with undercoating; white wall tires door-to-door deep pile carpeting; padded dash; seat belts window washers; back-up lights and courtesy lights.

Skeptics will doubt that a car of Toyota's quality, so equipped can sell for just $2625.00*. They doubted too, that high quality cameras could be sold for less.

Canadian Motor Industries is proud to offer the Toyota Crown to Canadians. We are determined to maintain Toyota's international reputation for excellence. That's why we instituted our policy of 24-hour service protection from coast to coast.

We invite you to visit your CMI dealer and inspect the Toyota Crown — the car with the international reputation for excellence.

SPONTANEOUS AND GOOD-NATURED

Daffodil Revue Dazzles Full House

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Two-and-a-half hours of the best locally produced variety entertainment seen in this city for a long, long time warmed the Spring Flower Festival to a banana belt sizzle Wednesday night at McPherson Playhouse.

Fred Usher's Daffodil Revue for 1965 borrows heavily from the popular best of past eras and current modes; it doesn't attempt skits (thank goodness); it is a good-humored show rather than a hilarious one.

Emphasis is on melody, rhythm, nostalgia. What comedy is injected is easy, spontaneous.

As for the audience, it was happy and it was capacity.

No doubt Usher's reputation as an entertainer and the reputation of his stars, had some bearing on this but so had the $1 tab. Would there have been 835 people in the house at a $3 top?

The revue opened with the Roaring 20's Party, the wildly "period" episode that was a hit of Lights Up, and ended with the whole cast and audience singing He's Got the Whole World in His Hands.

UNIQUE VOICE

In between we were treated to skillful, spectacular feats of magic performed with smooth professionalism by Carl and Lottie Hemeon, the unique voice and multiple talents of Reg Stofer and a group of songs, well sung and interestingly presented by Ted Boulden and the Meistersingers.

For winsome Terry Cain, the program was a tour de force. This young lady has a lovely voice and a personality to match. She was effective in every appearance but perhaps especially so in her Hawaiian numbers.

Another charmer is Anne Appleby. She is electric in the Charleston but I found her Hawaiian dances most provocatively lovely. She was joined by Pamela Metzger, another gifted dancer, in a torrid Jamaican dance and later the two girls performed a spirited Can-Can.

Fred Usher himself and Bob McGill who both sing most effectively, Geoffrey Venables and his sentimental violin, and the rest of the talented cast, were consistently enjoyable, whether they were in Scotland, Hawaii, Jamaica or our own West.

Reginald Stone was his incomparable self both in accompanying and in solo capers on the versatile theatre organ.

This good family fun show goes on again tonight and well deserves another McPherson capacity house.

Charged With Murder

City Gets New Film House

A new movie house opens in Victoria tonight to show films "that ordinarily wouldn't be screened here."

The new outlet is The Secret coffee house at its new location above the Air Canada offices on Government Street.

The Secret movie house will be the only cinema in British Columbia where patrons can smoke and drink coffee during the show.

It will be operated by Gary Nixon, assistant manager of the Fox Cinema. He said the small (150-seat) theatre will enable him to bring in films with limited appeal that could not play at the larger Fox.

Mr. Nixon said his programs will not consist only of "art house movies." He intends to re-run some good movies that have had short runs here in the past.

Also projected are festivals of old Garbo and early Chaplin films. A special showing of films by French-Canadian movie makers will be shown later this year.

FOLK SINGERS

The Secret will continue to present folk singers on Friday and Saturday nights after the film screening at 7 p.m. On the other four week nights there will be two showings of the movies at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

For tonight's opening performance only the screening time is 7:15 p.m. The movie to be shown is Requiem for a Heavyweight, based on Rod Serling's Broadway play of the same name.

During the first three days of next week the movie will be Days of Wine and Roses and the latter part of the week will be taken up with Rebel Without a Cause starring the late James Dean.

ART, POETRY

Tourist Slogan Entry A Victoria Fun Thing

A Chamber of Commerce slogan contest has proved Victorians enjoy poking fun at Victoria.

Judges looking for the best catch-phrase for promotional use had a tough time picking a serious effort from among the 752 entries.

They settled on:

"Victoria—flower basket by the sea," and awarded author P. R. Risdale, 1831 Haultain, a $100 prize.

A chamber spokesman said judges had to contend with submissions like this:

"Victoria—world's largest and most beautiful graveyard," and,

"Follow the birds to Victoria,
"The snooziest place on the map,
"Where the snails whiz by the signposts,
"While the cops take their afternoon nap."

But after disposing of the humorists judges still had to contend with the artists.

ELABORATE ART

People insisted on prettying their slogans with their own promotional kits, using elaborate artwork, mobiles and poster-like presentations.

One effort, calling Victoria the "sunshine city," used sparkling tinsel in an effort to dazzle the panel.

Judges were Aldermen M. H. Mooney and Robert Baird, Esquimalt Councillor James Bryant, and Chamber tourist trade chairman Bill Clark.

Measles Are a Girl's Best Friend—MHO

Want to give a gift of lasting benefit to a child? Try the measles.

Metro Health authorities advocate German measles for tiny tots—best known medicine for preventing an attack of rubella in later life, when it could be serious.

The advice applies to little girls more than boys because men are not troubled by adult measles.

But for women, serious complications can ensue if pregnancy coincides with a bout of the little red rashes.

"In Britain, the authorities have even recommended parties for little girls where measles can be spread," Metro Health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said.

Life might be simpler if everyone caught German measles as soon as possible.

People who have had the disease rarely get it twice, Dr. Whitbread said.

Meanwhile, with a wave of rubella in the district, women in early pregnancy are cautioned to be careful.

Those who have had a definite close contact with German measles and are in their first three months of pregnancy may be inoculated.

Provided they have the recommendation of their physician, Metro Health will provide gamma globulin serum free.

Otherwise, a 15-20 c.c. shot will cost them about $40.

Freeways May Destroy Farms, Meeting Told

The rural area of Saanich Peninsula may be lost if proposed freeway plans are put into effect, a public meeting was told Wednesday.

Anthony Roberts, director of Capital Region Planning Board, spoke to a meeting organized by the Association of Women Electors to hear details of a regional transportation study.

Stronger land development control will be needed because a freeway creates quick access and leads to urban sprawl, he said.

Development now tends to place downtown Victoria farther away from the geographical centre of Greater Victoria.

The freeway system however, will tend to re-focus traffic and attention from the north into downtown Victoria and James Bay, Mr. Roberts said.

This would be done by means of a freeway access to James Bay via Victoria and a crossing of the Inner Harbor.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1965 –PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

In view of this week's zany developments at Ottawa, I am beginning to wonder whether a royal commission shouldn't be appointed to investigate the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

First comes a saucy and vexatious questionnaire aimed at Members of a Parliament in session.

Next, when Prime Minister Pearson ventures to protest, commission chairmen Dunton and Laurendeau suggest in effect that he tend his own affairs and not interfere with their project.

While my sympathy for the prime minister is tempered by the fact that it was he who set the juggernaut in motion, it seems to me that he had best waste no time in dealing with what West Kootenay's H. W. Herridge has quite rightly branded an impertinence.

The questionnaire in total is the nearest thing ever to that legal chestnut, 'When did you stop beating your wife?'

Also, even though Mr. Pearson is by no means a Laurier, or even a Mackenzie King, he's the best we've got at the moment, and should be safe from treatment so cavalier.

★ ★ ★

'It is now almost a year since the bi-and-bi commission departed Victoria after a public hearing which only an extreme Francophile could label anything but partisan.

Since then, it has munched its leisurely way through a pile of taxpayers' dollars, for which it has so far offered an interim report of dubious content and extremely doubtful worth.

This isn't good enough; and when chairmen Laurendeau and Dunton use their commission as a shelter for the sort of sniping they are presently indulging in, the situation becomes outrageous.

Certainly, a royal commission must be given every protection in the carrying out of its mandate.

But like full many another impatient Canadian, I will be heartily glad when its marathon is at last concluded and its members winkled from their shell.

★ ★ ★

As for the questionnaire which has aroused Parliamentary ire, it reminds me of nothing so much as one of those trick screeds to which the suspect is subjected in a lie-detector workout.

In these, all flows along evenly for a space, one innocuous question following another. Then, without change of tone, comes the sticker: 'Did you murder your Aunt Minnie?'

At a glance, I can see in the bi-and-bi list questions interlarded among the merely banal which the originators must know are packed with political dynamite.

In fact the MP who makes bold to answer the lot is bound to wind up with his foot in his mouth, and would be a fool to attempt the assignment.

Even with a certain latitude as to how he framed his response, how would he handle this one?

'An MP can tell most of the time what his constituents will think about an issue before he even asks them.'

Yes? Then the arrogant fellow assumes those who voted him into office are sheep. No? The man's obviously out of touch with his riding!

By no stretch of the imagination can I see that the reply, either way, contributes anything of value to the commission.

There are also queries which can be construed as blatant propaganda. Take this one, for example:

"A Senate conceived as a 'chamber of nationalities' representing English and French in equal proportions, would be a useful reform to our parliamentary system."

As I see it, to thrust such an inquisition at the members of our federal Parliament is a transgression only removed from striding uninvited past the bar of Commons, and should be protested with utmost vigor.

Field Trips Slated

The intermediate section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Atkins Road.

THE SEA'S STILL chilly, but who cares with a good looker like Lou Else of 1822 Beach Drive around. Lou took an Easter walk on Rose Beach today, just to get that spring feeling.

Uvic Slices Projects As Grant Falls Short

Several projects at the University of Victoria will have to be postponed for lack of money this year, university president Dr. Malcolm Taylor said today.

And university officials were taking another close look at their budget in the wake of the provincial government's announcement of a $3,295,000 operating grant. The grant is $1 million more than in 1964 but less than the university sought.

Mostly, they don't like what they see.

"We are looking at which projects can be postponed this year and still have a genuine four-year university," said Dr. Taylor.

He said some of the things which may be postponed are renovation of some old buildings for use by the university and purchase of equipment necessary for fourth year studies.

FEE INCREASE

"We are hoping a fee increase will not be necessary. We are determined not to raise fees unless we have to."

Student fees were raised $50 last year to meet operating costs. They now stand at $327.

Last year the cost of educating a student was about $1,500.

The total operating budget for last year amounted to $3,800,000, including student fees and provincial and federal grants.

University of B.C. will receive $12,894,000 and Simon Fraser University will receive $2,311,000 in operating grants from the provincial government.

Topics of the Day

Rotary Club of Victoria today presented a $2,600 cheque to St. Joseph's Hospital towards the purchase of a cardiac monitoring machine.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Mosedale, chairman of the board of management at St. Joseph's, received the cheque from Rotary president Dr. Robert Stark at the luncheon meeting at the Empress.

QUEEN KATHRYN
. . . arrives Friday

Victoria aldermen today recommended shelving the question of multiple polling stations for another year.

"I find we are the only city of any size that has a single polling place," said Ald. Clyde Savage in committee discussion on extending polling stations.

"I think we owe something to the voters," he said, even though the higher cost of multiple polls makes it impossible this year.

"But we should bring it up again next year," Ald. Savage said.

Beer in cans goes on sale in Ontario for the first time April 29 but the B.C. Liquor Control Board plans to stick to bottles.

LCB chairman Col. Donald McGugan today said the question of canned beer comes up periodically but "it's not being considered seriously here."

The fact that cans are not returnable as bottles tends to create a litter problem in areas permitting them, he added.

OPENING SET FOR PROBE OF POLICE

A detailed study of the Saanich police force will begin next week, Reeve Hugh Curtis said today.

The study, a request of the Saanich police commission, will be conducted by retired RCMP superintendent John A. Henry.

Mr. Henry will be introduced formally to the commission on Tuesday.

The study has wide terms of reference, but particularly will examine the manning and organization of the police department.

'ROYAL' PAIR TO SWELL FESTIVAL VISITOR LIST

Two more festival queens — one from Seattle and the other from Puyallup, Washington—arrive in Victoria Friday to boost the ranks of royalty.

Seattle's Seafair Queen and Puyallup's Daffodil Queen, Kathryn Bryson, will join city youngsters Saturday for the giant floral and costume parade through city streets.

The parade, one of a crowded calendar of events for Saturday, starts from Centennial Square at 11 a.m.

More than 300 youngsters will be on hand for the grand march with three bands to provide the martial air.

Eaton's eight-foot-tall rabbit, Harvey, will lead the parade.

The big events Saturday take place in the Inner Harbor where throughout the afternoon rowing and sailing races will take place, water skiers will show their paces and outboard motorboat men will put on a precision drill.

Saturday night the Empress Hotel will be the scene of the Boatmen's Ball to wind up the week-long Spring Flower Festival.

Wednesday night Fred Usher's Daffodil Revue played to a packed house at McPherson Playhouse. The show goes again tonight at 8:30 p.m.

No festival events are planned for Good Friday.

RESIDENTS LEAVE . . . . . . AND TOURISTS ARRIVE

Easter Holiday Exodus Begins

By TERRY IZZARD

The Big Sweep got under way today.

In the next 24 hours Victoria will virtually change hands.

The population swing began around noon as Victorians began a mass evacuation of the city.

By road, sea and air they took advantage of the first long weekend of the year to escape.

Loaded down with everything from tennis racquets and fishing rods to frying pans and kettles they headed for mainland and up-Island points.

Meanwhile, a dribble of American tourists began the seasonal pilgrimage to the land of tea and crumpets.

★ ★ ★

In the next four days they will invade the city, swelling tea-house coffers with their money and making the hallowed city monuments echo to their nasal drawl.

In return the city will turn its sunny smile on full blast.

A host of entertainment from the kiddies Easter parade to frostbite races in Cadboro Bay will mark the start of the summer season.

★ ★ ★

Parks officials today were preparing for a mammoth rush to the city greenery.

Coach-line and ferry services were working full blast in preparation for the thousands who will be on the move.

Hotels and motels dusted away signs of winter slackness from little used rooms.

Victoria's grand old lady, the Empress, prepared for a busy weekend.

★ ★ ★

Housewives and office girls flocked to buy summer frillies. For them it will be a gay Easter of pastel colored dresses and sunny bonnets.

For others it will be a religious Easter.

Clergymen all were preparing for Easter weekend services.

Churches will be full to the doors Good Friday as thousands mark the true spirit of the Easter weekend.

For policemen everywhere it will be a hectic Easter.

As traffic builds up on highways all available men will be called in to deal with resulting jams.

Inspector Ray Maitland, head of city police traffic division, warned motorists to follow the simple safety rules:

Avoid speed, give signals, be considerate and leave plenty of stopping space.

For many it will be a disastrous weekend.

Some will die, others will be seriously injured.

Two were killed in the province last year over the holiday. Only a miracle can prevent it happening again.

Sports fans with a stay-at-home complex can take their pick of a weekend soccer tournament and a Western Hockey League game between Victoria Maple Leafs and Portland Buckaroos.

★ ★ ★

It's going to be a lively Easter with something for everyone.

Even Victoria weatherman William Mackie came through with a promise of plenty of sunshine with just a few clouds.

Temperatures will reach to the lower 60's, staying around the 40 mark at night.

All-in-all, a very warm Easter to everybody.

HOLIDAY HOURS BARS CLOSED FRIDAY

All liquor outlets in Victoria will be closed Good Friday.

Bars and beer parlors will lock their doors at 11:30 tonight and leave them locked until Saturday morning.

Major stores will be closed Good Friday as will the Public Library and the Provincial Museum.

Stores will be open as usual on Saturday, but the library remains closed until Tuesday morning.

The Provincial Museum will be open Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Other government offices close at 5 p.m. today and remain closed until Tuesday morning.

$35 Wage Hike Awarded Police

By AB KENT
Times City Hall Reporter

Three metropolitan police departments have settled wage contracts granting increases of up to $35 a month for first-class constables.

An arbitration board sitting on binding settlement of police-fire department matters for Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay handed down reports today.

Full details of the police settlement — which was arrived at amicably during arbitration hearings last week — were not immediately available.

Outcome of the firemen's arbitration, hinging on a six-hour reduction of the work week, was not known.

Firemen emerging from hearings after putting their case for a 42-hour week seemed confident of their position.

Victoria police were getting $502 a month (first class constable) and now will get $520 until July 1 when the rate goes up to $528.

Saanich and Oak Bay departments will grant the same salary for first class constables and the schedule for higher classifications will remain the same as for Victoria.

Saanich police had been at a disadvantage compared with Victoria, first class constables receiving $493 last year.

Settlement is based on a one-year contract.

It's Enough to Curl Your Fur

"And would you believe it, she came to the show in pin curls. But then what can you expect . . . no breeding, that's the trouble. You only have to look at the fur coat she wears; she wore the same one last year. Not that I mean to be catty, but after all there is a limit. Why, Marmaduke was saying only the other day he'd seen her drinking milk out of a saucer. Isn't it disgraceful? And her entering the same show as us; you know, the international show at Esqunimalt Sports Centre. Deadline Miss Stalls Details On School Rate

The education department missed its statutory deadline today for announcement of provincial grants to individual school districts.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said the grants schedule will not be ready until Tuesday.

The delay could complicate the efforts of some municipalities to meet their statutory deadline of May 15 for striking a mill rate.

School boards cannot determine the school mill rate until they know the size of their individual grants. Municipal councils generally withhold final decision on general purpose mill rates until they know what the school taxes will be.

The department was reported swamped under the load of calculating how the $77,700,000 provincial grants will be divided up this year among the 100 school districts.

Last year the grants totalled $72,200,000.

Mr. Peterson said the $5,500,000 increase would cover normal growth and did not involve any modification of the present sliding scale formula for sharing of operating and capital school costs.

Last year, Greater Victoria school district received a grant of $4,846,402.

GRANTS BUDGET

If the approximately 8 per cent increase in the total provincial grants budget proves to be applicable to the Greater Victoria school district, its 1965-66 grant should be in the neighborhood of $5,200,000.

However, the province's sliding scale formula could increase or lower that figure.

3 Months in Jail

A man convicted previously on two counts of vagrancy was sentenced to three months in jail today for causing a disturbance Wednesday in the Royal London Wax Museum.

Frank Ellis, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to the charge. Police said his breath smelled strongly of alcohol when he was arrested.

DEAR ABBY . . .

You Pried, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Dad passed away nine years ago, and Mother recently. While going through their things I came across Dad's and Mother's old love letters, written to each other before they were married, 63 years ago. I read them and enjoyed them very much. I let my daughter and granddaughters read them, and they also enjoyed them. My brother, who lives in another province, recently came here for his vacation. I tried to show him the letters but he refused to look at them. He said they were "private" and should have been left private. It hurt me deeply. They were nice clean letters, and nothing to be ashamed of. I didn't think I was wrong to read them, but I would like your opinion.

DEEPLY HURT.

DEAR HURT: Your brother was right. Unless your mother willed those letters to you, suggesting that she WANTED you to read them, you were wrong to have invaded her privacy.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a big problem. How do you stop a rumor that is going around about you? Please answer me in the paper as my mother would wonder why I got a letter from you. Thank you, and hurry. RUMOR GIRL

DEAR GIRL: You cannot shut people's mouths. But actions (yours) speak louder than words (theirs), so behave in a manner that will make liars of your detractors.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law and I are having a slight difference of opinion. She has a habit of walking into my house without knocking or ringing the bell. I do not think this is proper and I told her so in a very nice way. She says that she only does this to members of her family and there is nothing wrong with it. What do you think? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: If people would treat their relatives with the same respect, courtesy and consideration they reserve for strangers, they would get along better. No one should walk into another's home without knocking or ringing the bell unless invited to do so.

DEAR ABBY: I had an experience four years ago which I wish to share with others who might be facing the same problem I faced.

I was a teen-ager and an unwed mother who discovered too late that "he" didn't love me. My parents' only thought (and mine) was to make him marry me. He wouldn't, and I didn't know what to do. After a long talk with my minister I realized that I had to do what was best for the baby. Marriage when there is no love is no good for anyone. Especially the child. I went to a home for unwed mothers and gave my baby up for adoption. It was not a horrible experience which marred me for life, Abby. I was at peace with myself for the first time in my life for I felt that I was doing my best to right my mistake. There I met many other girls like myself, good Christian girls who made a mistake. And I made some of the best friends I will ever have. The hardest part was leaving my baby. Now I have been married for two years to a wonderful man, whom I love very much, and we are expecting soon. You see, this was such a small sorrow compared to the happiness I have now. And I know my baby is happy, too, with parents who love her as much as I do. Just sign me,

Today, the Menfolk Shall Have the Floor

By Penny Saver

One of the male members of my family was complaining because I haven't had a column about clothes or items for the menfolk, recently. So, to clear up any feelings of being left out, men, today I'd like to devote my time to you. Starting off, I'll tell you about the latest thing in men's jackets I've noticed while shopping.

These are mostly for the younger generation and those just a little bit older. Casual and comfortable, they are of a different new material which resists creasing and bagging.

But it is the color and fabric which I want to tell you about. When washed—it must be washed by itself, housewives—the colors run together! Sound different? When new, the jackets come in bright or muted plaid patterns. After they are washed, the colors mix to form new patterns and new colors.

The jackets, selling for $19.95, are the latest idea in men's styling, and they are so easy to keep clean and fresh.

There is a new look in men's sports shirts, too—a comfortable soft shirt styled for the summer and based on an idea from Mexico.

Comfort is the keynote to these shantung-weave shirts. Casual is the look. Short or long-sleeved, they feature the soft continental collar which buttons loosely about the neck for freedom of movement—handy if you are an athletic type.

Selling for $6.95, these are perfect for the athlete—for playing tennis or golf—because the shirt does not tuck in. It has a waistband which belts in front to allow you to move freely and easily, yet letting you keep that well-dressed look.

A note for the fashion-conscious male . . . this year's style trend in ties is returning to the wider two-inch type. Selling for $2.50, Penny noticed this broader width in a polyester, softly rolled tie. Beauty of this is that you don't have to press it—just let it drip dry.

Interested? Give Penny a call at 382-3131.

TODAY'S RECIPE

EASTER BONNET CAKE

One and a half cups apricot nectar, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 6 egg yolks, 1 envelope plain gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup whipping cream, ¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained; ¾ cup flaked coconut, ½ cup slivered almonds, 9-inch angel food cake, maraschino cherries, slivered.

Combine nectar with sugar and salt in saucepan; heat to boiling. Beat egg yolks well. Stir a little hot nectar into yolks, then stir yolk mixture into nectar. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon (about 10 minutes). Soften gelatine in cold water; dissolve in hot nectar. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Whip cream until stiff; fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in chopped cherries, ½ cup coconut and about 2/3rds of the almonds. Chill a few minutes longer until almost set. Meanwhile, cut cake crosswise into three layers. Stock with gelatin mixture between layers and on top. Decorate top with a circle of slivered cherries and remaining coconut and almonds.

Makes 12 generous servings.

Pills Help To Recapture Their Youth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Older women can regain or keep many of the appearances and feelings of youth by taking a programmed daily series of pills after menopause, says a Michigan physician.

The hormone replacement therapy series is up for approval of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Dr. Francis P. Rhoades of Detroit said Tuesday.

Rhoades estimated mass production could cut the cost to about 10 cents a day.

Rhoades, chief of Grace Hospital's division of general practice, was manning a scientific exhibit on the subject at the annual scientific assembly of the American Academy of General Practice.

The menopausal woman, he explained, lacks endocrine secretions which create the feminine characteristics—she is essentially a castrate.

Changes that occur include loss of strength, feminine curves and zest. The breasts, genital organs, skin and mucous membranes degenerate. There are increases in blood pressure, bone brittleness, mental and emotional troubles, and in some cases coronary disease.

"Adequate supplemental estrogen therapy will prevent or minimize disorders of the menopause," Rhoades said.

AGAINST 'POLITE SEGREGATION'

Special Service Officer Plumbs For Abolition of Auxiliaries

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Women's auxiliaries and sex-segregated organizations should be abolished, says Vivien Batke, special service officer for the National Employment Service here.

"The whole tribe of auxiliaries should be wiped out. And that includes various wives' associations like the University Wives Association and the Ditchdiggers' Wives Association. It also includes the polite segregation of political parties' organizations. Such parties are no places for segregation by sex."

Mrs. Batke, wife of the University of Waterloo vice-president Dr. T. Louis Batke, discussed the changing role of women in the last of a series of lectures at the YWCA.

Educated women who stay home to keep house haven't provided much in the way of political leadership, she says.

"This may be because they lack the focus that employment provides, as well as the continuing contacts, the rubbing of minds which keeps one in the mainstream of events.

"Growth tends to diminish as one is removed from economic participation and concentrates on the pleasantly slower pace of domestic life.

"The various informal ruling devices of the community are also closed to her. There should be women Rotary members. Instead of a member of the Kiwanis we have the Kiwanianns . . . not women involved, finding a focus of action and interest, but women as auxiliaries, brought into the organization by reference to a man, her husband."

EASTER REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price will have a houseful at their home on Ardmore Drive this Easter weekend as members of their family reunite from all parts of the world. Wednesday evening, their daughter, Mrs. Peter Powell, with her children, Price, Christopher and Elizabeth, arrived from their home in Seattle. Saturday morning they will be joined by Mr. Powell who is travelling here with Mrs. Price's nephew, Mr. David Cooley, Hartford, Conn. Good Friday evening will be one of excitement for all the family when the Prices' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Price, and their two little sons, Charles and David, return from a three-year posting with the Canadian Trade Commission in Sydney, Australia. They will be having a two-month visit here before leaving for Athens, Greece, where Mr. Price will take up his new position as trade commissioner there.

From Penticton

Dr. and Mrs. Darryl K. Foerster of Penticton with children Vicki, Diana, Bruce and Brian will arrive on Good Friday to spend the Easter vacation with Mrs. Foerster's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson on Senanus Drive, Brentwood, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, Royal Oak Avenue. During their visit they will travel to Departure Bay near Nanaimo to see Dr. Foerster's parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Foerster. Mrs. Foerster is the former Miss Ann Robertson of this city.

Surprise

Mrs. W. Saunders and Mrs. Keith Henderson were co-hostesses at a recent surprise shower given for May bride-elect Miss Bonnie Cassels and held in Mrs. Henderson's Werra Rd. home. Floral lapel pins were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. E. Cassels, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. W. Putt. A replica of the Imperial Oil Building, Halifax, held gifts. Games were played and refreshments served. Attending the shower were Mrs. W. Putt, Sr., Mrs. J. Herman, Mrs. Rae Baker, Mrs. D. Shortt, Mrs. Jack Fouracre, Mrs. Roy Baker, Mrs. Donald Fouracre, Mrs. G. McFarlane, the Misses Janet Huddleston, Penny Putt, Janet Cassels, Gwen Shortt, Linda Baker, Wendy and Patricia Whitworth.

House Guests

Driving down from Comox to spend the Easter weekend in Victoria are Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Bourquin, their daughter-in-law Mrs. Ray Bourquin and her four children. While here, the party will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bourquin's son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Vivian at their home on Moss Street.

Visits Parents

Mrs. J. G. Lugsdin will arrive in Victoria on Easter Monday from Kingston, Ont., to spend two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hall, in their St. Charles Street home. On April 30, Mrs. Lugsdin, her parents and her grandmother, Mrs. M. Stanners, will travel to the mainland to see her sister, Miss Erica Hall, graduate from Vancouver General Hospital School of Nursing. Mrs. Lugsdin is also a graduate from the same school.

Director Coming

Arriving next Tuesday for a three-day visit in the city is Miss Jessie Casselman of White Rock. Miss Casselman is the provincial director of the Canadian Federation of University Women and during her stay will attend the Wednesday evening meeting of the Victoria University Women's Club. Thursday, Mrs. J. L. Andrews, local president, and the executive will entertain at a luncheon in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel at which Miss Casselman will be the guest of honor.

BABY GIRL FOR PRINCESS

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaretha of Sweden, the wife of British businessman John Ambler, Wednesday gave birth to an eight-pound daughter.

A statement issued at King's College Hospital here said mother and child were both well.

It was the first child for the 30-year-old princess, who married Ambler last June 30.

The blue-eyed baby is to be called Sibylla Louise, the announcement said. She is named Sibylla after Margaretha's mother, and Louise after the late Queen of Sweden.

Margaretha is a granddaughter of King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden.

One of the orderlies of St. Joseph's Hospital pronounced the St. Joseph's Children's Association "the greatest thing to happen to children since peanut butter!" Nurse Elizabeth Walther illustrates the willingness of the staff to aid the infant organization by helping some of the members unpack a box of donations they have already received. Formed to Cheer Children In Wards

GROUP SHOOS HOSPITAL 'BLUES'

By DINA STEWART

A little girl wanders aimlessly down the hall of a hospital, waiting for visiting hours and a call from Mom. But it's only mid-morning and she'll have to wait until 2 p.m.

All over the children's ward, youngsters sit patiently, some with a book or toy, others just waiting. And, sometimes the expected visitors never come.

The world of the hospital is foreign to a child, no matter how long he is there—whether for a tonsillectomy or major surgery.

MISS LOVE

The sterile whiteness is strange, there are no familiar surroundings and toys, no mother to come when called. The child is surrounded by strangers who, even though making them comfortable as possible, have other duties which leave little free time to give the love and attention a child needs.

With all her children at school and spare time on her hands, Mrs. H. G. Ingram, a former nurse, began thinking seriously about volunteer work to fill the hours she was by herself.

"I was talking to a member of the St. Joseph's Hospital administration," she recalls, "and I just happened to mention the fact that I was looking for something volunteerwise to do. And, suddenly, I found myself heading the new St. Joseph's Children's Association."

The hospital had long recognized the need for some sort of auxiliary which would devote attention to children, with an eye to keeping the youngsters occupied, feeling more at home, and giving a child the love and attention he needs.

"Once I became used to the idea," Mrs. Ingram continued, "I grabbed the nearest phone book and began to call doctors' wives, knowing they would realize the use and necessity of such an organization. They formed the nucleus of the group. Then, other women became interested."

Now, with a membership numbering 33, the group went into action.

First, Mrs. Ingram and Mrs. A. L. Bristowe, publicity convenor for the group, crossed to Vancouver to tour the play-therapy group in Vancouver General Hospital. (This was the model which gave the Victoria hospital the idea.)

VOLUNTEER HELP

"In Vancouver," says Mrs. Ingram, "the hospital has three trained play-therapists and a volunteer organization. Due to lack of funds, the Victoria group has to depend on strictly volunteer work."

Armed with ideas and plans, the pair returned and fired the rest of the association into action to gain support and help from the public.

And now, the plans are ready to be put into practical operation.

Says Mrs. Ingram, "The hospital has led the way by donating the old schoolroom, a huge sunny place with windows on both sides, and they even gave us the drapes to cover them. It's being painted, too. Hopefully, we can move in by the end of April or the beginning of May.

"But the hospital isn't the only one who is helping us. Several airline companies have given us old travel posters, someone presented us with some brand-new dolls, and we have baby buggies and even a desk. And, of course, money!"

EVERY DAY

Outlining the general work of the organization, Mrs. Ingram continues, "We will be working on a seven-day shift system—some of the women who have no children have volunteered for the weekends.

"We plan to work with children aged 3 to 13, but our position will be strictly in the supervisory capacity. They must be made to feel they are accomplishing something all by themselves. They can play with toys and books, but preferably with handicrafts of some sort, to keep minds and bodies busy.

"Just in case parents are wondering about the mess involved in activities like finger-painting and modelling, they needn't worry. A number of the women have dug out their husband's old shirts—cut off the sleeves, button up the back and you have a perfect smock!

START AT 9:30 A.M.

"We hope to start with a morning session, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. This is the time when all the treatments and dressings are finished and all the youngsters have to look forward to is lunch.

"Most of the women involved are mothers and know how to handle children of this age. They've been through it all before! They know the value of every bit of attention and love a child receives."

But what does the hospital think about the whole thing? The administration suggested the idea and with their help and co-operation it has been put smoothly and quickly to work. The staff, too, is "all for it," as an orderly put it.

Comments one nurse, "This play-therapy is the greatest thing to happen in our department. It fills a great void which the nurses cannot fill, owing to lack of time and staff."

Another remarked, "It will do wonders to reduce the child's frustration at not being able to run outside and play, of having to sit quietly so as not to disturb other patients. It's unnatural for a youngster to be quiet."

Although Mrs. Ingram's Beach Drive home is filling up with donations and the membership roster is adding more members all the time, "we still need more," she stresses.

"We hope that people who have known the misery of a child, alone in a strange place, will give us the helping hand the children, and the association, need."

GOOD PHYSICAL FACILITIES . . . BUT SMALL AUDIENCES

Threat of Ambiguity Seen in Theatre Growth

A warning that the resurgence of theatre in Canada could lead to an "ambiguous situation" was made by Carl Hare when he spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association, held in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel Wednesday evening.

"Our centennial year in 1967 will result in a terrific increase of physical facilities but all these will be ineffective if there are no appreciative audiences. Careful evaluation is needed to ensure the last essential factor."

Mr. Hare, a member of the University of Victoria's department of English, told his audience that theatre appreciation was only now beginning to appear in Canada.

"The depression killed it and the last world war helped bury it."

'HOT HOUSE' PROGRAM

He cited the coming Centennial year as being responsible for "a hot house building program" that will provide theatres in the major centres across Canada. Three of the most remarkable of these, he said, were those at Charlottetown, P.E.I.: Ottawa and Toronto.

"Charlottetown's theatre in Centennial Square is a marvellous innovation with movable walls that can alter the shape of the building at will. In Ottawa, the project will see $8,000,000 being spent on an exciting centre containing three theatres. A similar program is slated for Toronto."

Mr. Hare said that increased subsidies to the arts was another contribution to the development of good theatre. "It is less spectacular but certainly no less effective. From the present grant of $600,000 for Canada's 22 performing companies, we see a rise to $2,000,000."

Another contribution to the theatre's growth was the development of the National Theatre School. "It has been developing painfully during the past five years and its graduates are now appearing on the market, resulting in a steady flow of competent, well-trained actors."

BOTH HELP

Also listed as beneficial influences were the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the formation of theatre departments in various universities.

"The CBC is now developing a casting program and expanding into the regions, demanding more trained technicians as well as actors. With universities beginning to grant degrees in theatre, would-be actors are now able to choose between getting their training from a professional school or preparing themselves through an academic program. Such programs are available at universities in Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria."

The Canada Council also was helping theatre with its program of interneship by which eight trainees are studying theatre management under competent professionals.

"But," summarised Mr. Hare, "all these programs will be useless if there are no audiences to appreciate the net results. To help in audience education, we should concentrate on an organized children's theatre program and ensure that adults find theatre-going an active and pleasurable thing."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. M. Fraser and thanked by Mrs. A. B. Young.

Mrs. G. Gray said grace and president, Mrs. W. C. Horning, gave the toast.

Mrs. Gray reported proceeds of $1,509.35 from the club's three-year project which saw members selling cook books of their favorite recipes.

Treasurer, Miss Joan Groves reported a bank balance of $240.64 in the general account.

Other reports were given by: Publicity, Mrs. H. Summers Clark; secretary, Mrs. G. Whittaker; program, Mrs. D. Mason; social, Mrs. R. Bradley; membership, Mrs. H. Donaldson; bursary, Mrs. Ken Bradley, and nominations, Mrs. J. Clay.

RE-ELECTED

Mrs. Horning and Mrs. Whittaker were re-elected president and secretary. Other officers are: Treasurer, Mrs. Bradley, program, Mrs. J. Kennaird; social, Mrs. J. Warrington; publicity, Miss Norah Vicars; notices and program exchange, Mrs. T. R. Scrase; hospitality, Mrs. Gwen MacKenzie, and judging, Mrs. R. G. Brewer.

Bonnets Add Color At Bridge Luncheon

Easter came to the Royal Victoria Yacht Club Wednesday in the form of hundreds of beautiful hats worn by the many women attending the Easter Bonnet bridge luncheon presented by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the YM-YWCA.

Splashes of brilliant hues in the chapeaux added excitement to the annual affair at which a sum of $450 was raised.

Receiving guests were the conveners Mrs. John Wallace and Mrs. Donald Telford. A perky daffodil yellow fedora banded in black and trimmed with veiling was worn by Mrs. Wallace.

Mrs. George Wheaton, a committee member, wore a delicately floral peaked cloche in tones of blue and lavender. Seated at a table enjoying a game of bridge was Mrs. D. Whitley wearing a crimson wide brimmed straw hat banded in navy.

Together at another table were Mrs. Howard MacKay in an elegant pale blue toque swathed in organza, and Mrs. Bud Bell wearing a tall shiny black straw, effectively draped.

Another lovely chapeau was worn by Mrs. J. Wintemute. In blush pink, it was highlighted wth large roses about the crown. Mrs. Jack Todd arrived wearing a very wide brimmed straw in navy with an abstract patterned white band.

Mrs. W. A. Stenner's hat was of delicate pink organza petals worn far back on her head. A beige straw, banded in a coffee tone with a dipped brim, was the choice of Mrs. J. Edmison. Seated nearby was Mrs. Chris Moore in a chic navy blue sailor with turned up brim. Brightening the scene was Mrs. Alan Daysmith wearing a circle of large red roses which seemed so real.

A deep turquoise straw with a true "My Fair Lady" look was worn by Mrs. Logan Mayhew. It was lightly veiled and a rose en tone peaked out from under the back.

Mrs. Carron Jameson had on a beige straw. Its turned up brim was decorated with coral colored flowers.

Prizes were awarded to the winners of the auxiliary's 1964-65 bridge marathon. Winners were Mrs. R. Chard, Mrs. Lyle Flury, first; Mrs. K. Benson, Mrs. G. Davies, second; Mrs. J. Bramley, Mrs. A. Wright, third; Mrs. G. Davis, Mrs K. Benson, most small slams; Mrs. D. Emery, Mr. K. Benson, Mrs. N. Mann and Mrs. Wintemute, most grand slams.

Assisting with arrangements were Mrs. A. D. Avery, Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Mrs. P.C. Meredith and Mrs. P. A. Stocks.

Serving were Mrs. Justin Harbord, Mrs. Clyde Savage, Mrs. R. Halls, Mrs. P. Burr, Mrs. R. C. Ellis and Mrs. George Burrell. Mrs. Mayhew, Mrs. Alan MacFarlane, Mrs. J. Williams and Mrs. H. Hallett took tickets.

Fireside Dinner

The Uplands Golf Club will be the scene Saturday, April 24, for the second fireside dinner. Attending will be members and their guests. Mr. Sam Swetnam is in charge of arrangements.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Cosmetics Can Help You Achieve Better Complexion

Lowman

I sometimes think that the women we see who have perfectly beautiful complexions are just born that way. So often when questioned, they tell you that all they use are soap and water and a dab powder on their noses. Maybe they use a bit more makeup at night for special occasions. This always makes me feel like little orphan Annie, and I bet it does many of you too!

I am sure that some women are just born with a lovely complexion, and what they do or do not do makes no difference. However, if you are not blessed in this way, do not despair. Inheritance can, to a certain extent, bow to science and today there is help for most skin problems.

There are creams and moisturizers for the dry skin and soaps for the oily skin. Acne can be controlled and dermabrasion can diminish scars. There are coverups for blemishes and birthmarks.

I receive many letters from women saying that little red blood vessels have appeared on their noses. Sometimes these extend to their cheeks. Naturally this is disfiguring and therefore distressing to the victims.

This was once thought to be the sign of a drinker. It is true that alcoholics often have a flushed face since alcohol expands the blood vessels. However, there are many other causes and the tendency may be inherited. Extreme exposure to the sun makes it worse and once it was thought that the hydrochloric acid content of the stomach played a part. Liver disease may be a factor. Very often this is inherited.

If you have this cosmetic problem see a skin specialist. He will be able to prescribe what's best for you. Usually you will be asked to avoid foods which are hot either in temperature or seasoning. The little capillaries can be removed by a dermatologist.

This condition cannot be cured, but it can usually be controlled. Be thankful for modern cosmetics which can hide such defects. Most manufacturers have makeup bases which do a good job. There are some excellent coverups.

Exercise is good for the complexion as well as for health. Try this one to limber up your spine. Stand tall with your feet separated. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder height. Turn as far as you can to the left, pulling back with your left hand and trying to look at the back of the room. Now return to starting position and twist to the right. Continue.

If you would like to have the names of some coverups, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

The miles cost less with

Chevron Gasolines

You keep the cost of family vacation trips down, when you fill up regularly at the sign of the Chevron.

For over a generation continual advances in the quality of Chevron Gasolines have had a single aim: to provide your engine with the smoothest, most dependable power available and to give you more miles per gallon.

In 1960, for example, Chevron led the whole industry by introducing Methyl—the biggest breakthrough in anti-knock additives since Ethyl, 36 years earlier. Other big leaps forward have included a special additive to banish carburetor-icing; Chevron's famous Detergent-Action formula which keeps your carburetor as clean as the day it was installed; improved refining processes to assure the best possible octane values for new and older engines alike.

Today, this compound progress towards ultimate perfection has put Chevron Gasolines in a class by themselves. They represent the sum total of every element known to date that goes to make a truly superb gasoline.

Compound progress adds up to COMPOUND POWER. And with COMPOUND POWER the miles cost you less. Drive into your nearest Standard Station or Chevron Dealer this week and try a tankful for yourself . . .

PICKET FOR EQUAL JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Negroes Ignore Klan Warning

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Negro pickets, ignoring signs warning "the Ku Klux Klan is watching you," marched under the hot Louisiana sun at Bogalusa to demand equal job opportunities.

Police stood guard as they walked in front of midtown stores Wednesday. Segregationists staged a "buy in" and some whites crossed the picket lines, made purchases and waved them at the Negroes.

There was no violence. Only a fluttering of pink leaflets, dropped from a light plane. Apparently left over from Selma, they were addressed to the "white citizens of Alabama" and condemned Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader.

Civic and voter league officials called on Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr., Wednesday to present some proposals, which were not made public. Another meeting was expected today.

Officials announced the arrest of four white men on charges resulting from an attack on a column of Negro protest marchers last Friday. One of those arrested was charged with commiting assault with a dangerous weapon on James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

In Washington, meanwhile, the House of Representatives voted 312 to 43 to give its committee on un-American activities $50,000 to start its investigation of the Ku Klux Klan.

Some southern members said the investigation should include civil rights groups.

DROP CHARGES

In Montgomery, Ala., the justice department dropped charges against a Birmingham man arrested after the March 25 civil rights slaying of a white housewife from Detroit.

U.S commissioner James H. Guttery signed an order dismissing a conspiracy charge against Gary Thomas Rowe, 35.

A justice department spokesman in Washington said dismissal of the charge was a routine action as the grand jury failed to indict Rowe.

'Done Nothing Wrong'

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The former supervisor of an Alberta cattlemen's group said Tuesday he will return voluntarily to Edmonton to face charges of putting the group $800 000 in debt.

Stuart Hatch, 42, notified of the charges of theft, fraud and making a false statement by the Alberta attorney-general declared: "I have done nothing wrong. There were some losses in the company I was with and there is a conspiracy to charge me with it."

Trafficker Convicted By California Jury

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A 26-year-old Vancouver man arrested when $150,000 worth of heroin was found in a plane he flew into California, will be sentenced April 27 in U.S. district court on a charge of possession of narcotics.

Roy J. Travis was convicted by a jury late Tuesday. Travis was accused of flying the heroin into California on Feb. 12 after making stops at Seattle and Medford, Ore.

New Liner Greeted At New York Harbor

NEW YORK (AP)—The gleaming new Home Lines flagship, the Oceanic, steamed into New York harbor Wednesday and was given the traditional noisy welcome. The 39,241-ton vessel, largest ship ever constructed for year-round cruising, had touched at Halifax before coming here on her first voyage from Italy.

Opening for the Season
Friday, May 14

SHAWNIGAN BEACH HOTEL
Shawnigan Lake

Make plans to get away from sea level for a while.

Come up to the well-known change of air at Shawnigan — warmer — softer.

Good, too, for tensions — good for nerves — or just if you are a bit run down.

Try a day or two, or stay longer. You will notice the difference and feel great.

A very comfortable family hotel with a beautiful setting in 30 acres of grounds. Owned and operated for many years by the Hurleys.

Peaceful surroundings. Plenty to do if you want to, or just sit.

Home of "The Fire That is Never Out." Fine library, bridge, "socializing," pitch and putt golf, tennis, boats, fishing, woodland walks and many other things.

PRICES AND INFORMATION? Just phone collect, 743-9808 or 743-2312. Write Denis Mason Hurley, P.O. Box 9, Shawnigan Lake.

WINNER OF AMICRON CHAPter's Easter hat raffle, Mrs. M. Nelles.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

One bid that the modern experts have three ways of playing is the single jump overcall. Some play it as pre-emptive, others as very strong and the rest as intermediate. I play it either intermediate or pre-emptive and recommend the intermediate style for general use.

In this style the single jump overcall shows a sound opening bid with six to eight playing tricks in the case of a two-level jump and seven to eight in the case of a three-level jump.

In using this bid it is most important to bear in mind that the single jump overcall is a strong but limited bid. It should never be made with nine playing tricks or with a flexible hand.

South's two spade bid is a perfect example of this intermediate bid. He expects to take seven tricks in his own hand and may take eight if he can pick up the spade king.

The bid gives North no problem at all. He has one trick for his partner and since eight plus one equals nine there is no worry about missing a game.

As for East and West, they can make three hearts or three clubs but the two spade bid effectively stymies them. West could have bid two hearts over a double or a one spade overcall but isn't strong enough to bid three hearts.

East could find a three heart bid after a single raise by partner. He can't afford to try a three heart bid all by himself.

South buys the hand at two spades. He tries the trump finesse in an effort to make three but the finesse fails and he just makes his contract.

"RANCH-PANEL"

The handsome new siding designed to give "NEW" natural beauty to your home, inside and out!

ONE LOOK— and you'll want to "RANCHPANEL" RIGHT AWAY!

You'll want to be first to "RANCHPANEL" your home the very moment you get your first look at this distinctive new siding. Sawn from specially selected cedar logs and graded to accentuate the naturally beautiful markings of British Columbia cedar, new "RANCHPANEL" provides a delightfully different, unmistakably modern look wherever it's used.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Early Bird will be the word on the tip of the tongue as the world launches the era of continuous trans-Atlantic television early next month.

A representative of four North American television networks met in London with members of the European Broadcasting Union (EBU) to present format proposals for the first Early Bird satellite broadcast scheduled for May 2.

Stephen

The broadcast will be carried live by ABC-TV, CBS-TV, NBC-TV and our CBC-TV. The broadcast, combining elements from Canada, Mexico, the United States and Europe, will also be carried live by the stations of the EBU.

The "pool" producer for the program is Av Westin of CBS news. Others include Tom Benson of CBC, Paul Fox of BBC, William Seamans of ABC and Daniel O'Connor of NBC.

The Early Bird satellite was launched from Cape Kennedy on April 6 to assume a "stationary" orbit 22,300 miles above the South Atlantic off the coast of Brazil. The orbital speed of the satellite exactly matches that of the earth itself, and the satellite seems to stand still, available 24 hours a day for communications transmission.

NBC-TV plans to use Early Bird with an unprecedented two-hour live telecast from five European countries on Monday, May 3.

"Today" will feature a two-way live discussion of important international issues of the day by leading Members of Parliament outside the House of Commons in London, and key congressmen at the Capitol in Washington, D.C.

In addition to London and Washington, "Today" will present live originations from The Hague and Amsterdam in The Netherlands; Brussels, Belgium; Paris, France, and Rome, Italy.

"The Huntley-Brinkley Report" will use Early Bird on the same day when the half-hour news program will originate live from London, England, and Washington, D.C.

Chet will be in London and David in Washington.

A CBS-TV spokesman says the network has been considering having Walter Cronkite's evening news from London for a week once the Early Bird satellite finishes its demonstration phase and goes commercial.

The spokesman also says CBS-TV has been considering using Charles Collingwood as a sort of pivot man for live European segments to be passed on to the New York-based newscasts via Early Bird.

The continuous availability of this fixed-orbit satellite for communications transmission means changes for network news plans too.

They will now be setting up their own permanent "live" television broadcasting facilities on the other side of the Atlantic, rather than leasing them when necessary, as in the past.

Television communication has really taken a giant step forward with Early Bird.

THIS FIVE-YEAR-OLD
FIVE-PLEX

is as attractive an investment as any, and safer than most

BECAUSE

(1) It is situated in one of our best rental locations.
(2) The rents, ranging from $64 to $77 are moderate, sensible rents that most people can afford to pay.
(3) Reasonable taxes.
(4) Separate oil furnaces and separate laundry rooms spell happy tenancy and trouble-free management.

DON'T BUY THIS PROPERTY just because we say it's good but we do suggest that it may be to YOUR ADVANTAGE to arrange an appointment with DON BACON to peruse the financial statement and examine all aspects of this investment opportunity. Then, by all means, compare this with others. You will soon draw your own conclusions without any assistance from us.

PROPERTIES

The following estates are of no interest to the typical average subdivision dweller. Apply only if you are an individualist. Preference will be given to the client who can produce a certificate from a psychoanalyst to show that he has an inner directed personality.

(1) VIEW ROYAL
The ultimate in privacy. 2¾ acres of rugged rocky terrain with 64 feet waterfrontage. A home that is unusual. Price $21,600.

(2) VICTORIA WEST
¾ acre of parklike privacy. Towering shade trees and variety of fruit and nut trees. View of the water, the railroad track, the log booms, the city. Big old house (sound) built so long ago that it is a part of our early history. (Some of the lumber was transported around the Horn.) Price $17,000.

(3) TRI-LEVEL TRIUMPH
Built by an individualist. Planned to accommodate a big family. Large living room (with huge plate glass windows) big family-size kitchen (more plate glass). Four bedrooms on the second level. And on the third level a huge family room about the size of a dance hall. Large attached garage plastered to harmonize with the living room. Big lot. Preference will be given to family with seven children, full-grown German Shepherd dog and two goats. Price $15,000.

Power Site Ceremonies

B.C. Hydro co-chairman Hugh Keenleyside today confirmed ceremonies to mark the start of the giant Columbia River Power project will be held next month.

But he said no decisions have been made yet as to which prominent persons outside the province may be there.

He said a Vancouver report that Prime Minister Pearson and former U.S. president Dwight D. Eisenhower would attend was "just speculation based on the fact that the first treaty was signed by Mr. Eisenhower."

Dr. Keenleyside, in charge of the project, said a group of more than 100 special guests will attend ceremonies near Nelson May 19 at the Duncan dam site and the following day at the High Arrow dam site.

Premier Bennett will lead the B.C. participants.

Scouts to Present Variety Program

Centennial United Church Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs will present a variety program April 23 at 8 p.m. in the church gym.

Proceeds will be used to develop scout activities.

Folk singer Murray McAlpine and the Heron boys puppet show are featured on the informal program.

Groups from other churches or organizations will be welcomed and recognized during the show.

Power Site Ceremonies

B.C. Hydro co-chairman Hugh Keenleyside today confirmed ceremonies to mark the start of the giant Columbia River Power project will be held next month.

But he said no decisions have been made yet as to which prominent persons outside the province may be there.

He said a Vancouver report that Prime Minister Pearson and former U.S. president Dwight D. Eisenhower would attend was "just speculation based on the fact that the first treaty was signed by Mr. Eisenhower."

Dr. Keenleyside, in charge of the project, said a group of more than 100 special guests will attend ceremonies near Nelson May 19 at the Duncan dam site and the following day at the High Arrow dam site.

Premier Bennett will lead the B.C. participants.

Scouts to Present Variety Program

Centennial United Church Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs will present a variety program April 23 at 8 p.m. in the church gym.

Proceeds will be used to develop scout activities.

Folk singer Murray McAloine and the Heron boys puppet show are featured on the informal program.

Groups from other churches or organizations will be welcomed and recognized during the show.

Quit School To Buy Car

By JACK HUTTON

This is the story of a man who was fancy free, restless and 16 years old 10 years ago this month—and who still regrets a spur-of-the moment decision he made then.

But let him tell it in his own words. He wrote me this week. And his words make powerful reading.

"Today," he wrote, "I spent two hours trying to talk my brother out of leaving school. He's got his mind set on buying a car and he knows where he can earn $35 a week. Setting up pins in a bowling alley."

"The job won't last long. Another boy is coming back to it. But my brother doesn't seem to care. What does it matter, he asks me. Spring is here, his first job beckons, and he is 16 years old.

"Perhaps you can say something in your column. And my own story is the best example you could use. You see, I quit school 10 years ago this month. I can't convince my brother, but I know exactly where this road will lead him.

Night School

"I'm 26 years old. For the last year I've been taking night courses that will eventually give me a high school diploma. By day I'm a dishwasher in a restaurant. That is, I am now. I was out of work six months in 1964.

"My brother, you see, he thinks there's a difference between our cases. He's a smooth talker, the type of fellow who may become a good salesman. He thinks he is one now. But I'm not.

"Maybe you can see mistakes in my grammar already. I'm trying to correct myself, helped by my wife who left school a year after I did. I guess you can say we both realize our mistakes, particularly when you're trying to raise a three-year-old boy.

"In 1955, I was just ready to graduate from Grade 10. I think I could have pased if I'd stayed till the end of the year. What made me quit?

Car Motive

"Well, Jack, my wife and I have talked that over many times. I believe, even if I didn't realize it then, that a car was in the back of my mind. In the first week of April, a friend asked if I was interested in driving a truck.

"It was on a job where they were pushing the schedule to finish a construction job as soon as possible. I knew it wouldn't last forever, but my friend told me I could easily earn $40 or $50 a week with overtime.

"I laughed. Then I started thinking about $40 a week. I figured it out as $2,080 a year. Remember that I was going to school. I never had the same pocket money that big wheels did. I started figuring what $40 a week would buy, and how it would impress the school teachers.

"I had a big dream of driving past the school at noon hour—slowly, very slowly—in a convertible with the top down. I nodded to the people I wanted to notice, ignoring the others, and laughed a lot.

"My father objected at first, but I could see what he was thinking. He had prospects of $15 a week board coming from me. So he gave his permission. And I started finding out how fast a dream in April can vanish by fall.

Transmission

"I got the job, saved most of my $40 a week and bought a 1953 eight-cylinder convertible within two months. It was great driving around, until the brakes went, and then the wiring, and finally the transmission. I couldn't sell because I had a two-year buying contract.

"If you say nothing else in your column, Jack, tell how you get out of the stream if you quit school. At first I was a celebrity in my own group. For the first time.

"Then, all of a sudden, I realized they were talking about things I didn't share. Some went on to college. Some went into offices. Today I don't see anybody who was in Grade 10 when I was. As a friend, I mean. We don't talk about the same things.

"I've been married five years. When I married, I had $2,000 debt to pay off, thanks to our old car debts. Don't ask how it happened, it just did. But we've spent the last two years figuring how to get back on the track.

"We've killed the debts, thanks to the fact that my wife is Scotch. But where do we go from here? What bothers me is that I could have avoided all this 10 years ago.

Same Problem

"My brother, heaven forbid, may decide to face the odds. But I hope you print as much of this as possible in case others are thinking the same way."

There's the letter. And I say no more, friends. Draw your own conclusions.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD—The world of show business truly mourns Linda Darnell's tragic death; she was as sweet and thoughtful as she was beautiful, and everyone who had known her over the years was fond of her. Many wonder if there will be a further investigation into the mysterious circumstances attending the fire which took her life. There should be. The pieces don't fit. Read the wire service stories again, and the oddities in the accounts become glaringly obvious to the least practiced armchair detective . . . Sal Mineo is giving the big romantic rush to Juliet Prowse, who first made the front pages as Frank Sinatra's "fiancee." Meanwhile Frank Sinatra Jr., still a bachelor, has been calling Patty Duke on the long distance horn from wherever he happens to be on his night club tour . . .

Greenwich Village residents wish the police commissioner would send a few cops to their area on school days during the lunch hour to control the rowdyism and other unpleasantness. Elderly people—especially women—are afraid to walk the streets in the middle of the day . . . Jerry Lewis' wife, Patti, signed into Mt. Sinai Hospital in Hollywood for what was officially termed a series of checkups . . . Geraldine Chaplin is all set to make her next film behind the Iron Curtain, in Poland, with Italian favorite Raf Vallone as her leading man. They'll co-star in a romantic adventure plot tentatively titled We Shall Go to the City . . . Gangster Mickey Cohen is in poor health at the federal pen in Missouri . . .

If things work out properly, John Huston will direct his first film for Joe Levine starting in October. It would be the Will Adams epic, starring Peter O'Toole . . . Is there a gentleman in the audience with a baseball club to sell? Doris Day and her husband, Marty Melcher—very, very rich members of the movie colony—would like to buy one. Doris is such a rabid sports fan that she passed up the Academy Award festivities to watch a basketball game. But then (and here's a quiz question for aficionados) has Doris ever attended an Oscar bash? . . . Jerry Vale has signed for his fifth starring date at the Copacabana in two and a half years—a record. He'll be there Aug. 19 to Sept. 8, during the height of the World's Fair season.

Want to know how Marlene Dietrich kills time during plane flights? She plays chess with the tiny kind of chess set you can buy at airports. Her partner could be any chum who happen to be aboard . . . Remember well the name Bobby Goldsboro, if you haven't got it tattooed on your arm already. He's a 20-year-old from Dothan, Ala., his current recording of Little Things has sold 400,000 copies, United Artists has signed him for pictures, and he'll be part of Dick Clark's big cross-country tour . . . Producer Marty Ransohoff thought up just the right present for motorcycle buff Ann-Margaret as a reward for her work in The Cincinnati Kid—a black leather jacket lined with chinchilla, and sporting (what a word!) chinchilla buttons, collar and cuffs. Ann baby won't know whether to go to the opera or a rumble.

Flyer Amelia Earhart's story is being prepared for the unsinkable Debbie Reynolds. Some strange casting, that is—the petite and cutie-pie Debbie playing big, raw-boned Miss Earhart.

Coincidence or not? West 42nd Street between Broadway and 8th Avenue, probably is the scene of more arrests than any other street in the U.S. And there are more crime flickers shown on that block than you could find concentrated similarly in any other city or town . . . Arthur Storch will direct the new Fryer, Carr and Harris comedy, Blondes Have More Fun, a composition of Lee Minoff and Stanley Price

PIN-UP PUPS are proud possession of Queenie, a two-year-old German shepherd, owned by Rodger Egerdee, of Kitchener. The pups—there were 11 until one died—are fifth-line descendants of movie dog Rin-Tin-Tin. The average litter is four or five. (CP Photo.)

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Tommy Milligan, age 10, of Moultrie, Ga., for his question:

What does a salamander eat?

The winter world awakes with the first warm breath of spring. The bare twigs clothe themselves in bursting buds, and seeds sleeping in the soft, moist soil sprout roots and shoots. The busy birds build nests, and hordes of insects take to the air. Frogs and salamanders come out from hibernation and lay their eggs in melting streams and dewy grasses.

As a rule, smartness and affection go hand in hand in the animal kingdom. True, the terrible tiger is very intelligent, but to us she may be far from friendly. But she is an excellent mother and very affectionate toward her children. The little salamander is not a smart animal and is a very careless, neglectful mother. She lays her jellified eggs in wet weeds or water and goes on her way, leaving the youngsters to take their chances among hosts of hungry enemies.

The infant salamanders are left in the care of Mother Nature along with countless other such neglected orphans. A few will find shelter and enough food to survive, but most will become food for other children of nature. A young salamander may or may not find what he needs in the wilds, but if you adopt the little orphan and take him from his surroundings, you must know just what to provide for him.

Every young person should be able to adopt a pet and enjoy the fun of tending it. A small salamander makes an excellent pet. You may find him by a creek, in a reedy swamp, a shady cave, a hollow tree or under a mossy stone or fallen leaves. And you can take him home for free.

Feeds on Insects and Grubs

You will have to provide him with a proper terrarium home and will have to hunt for his daily food. The terrarium is a glass-walled box with a floor of soil and pebbles set in shady weeds. There is a miniature pool to keep the air moist, and a glass roof may be added to prevent the terrarium from becoming dry. A few salamanders live in water and must be kept in fish-type aquariums, but all of them need moist air.

They are all meat eaters and like their meat raw and alive. The small salamanders of the wilds feed mainly on grubs and bugs. Some catch worms, beetles and other small crawlers. You may have to test a pet salamander to find out what he will eat. You can bring him samples of the small insects that thrive in the wild surroundings where you found him, and chances are the little fellow will love a dinner of mealy bugs. If your pet is a water-dwelling salamander called a red eft, he is used to a diet of small swimmers. This food is more difficult to provide. However, he will accept and thrive on a diet of meat and liver scraps.

We share this land of North America with 135 different salamanders. They are amphibians that spend their fishy babyhood in the water. Most of them live their adult lives on land, and some return to the water only to lay their eggs. All salamanders shun the sun and many come out hunting for food only after dark. Most salamanders are pretty creatures and some are gaily marked with bright spots or splotches of red or green. Some are striped or banded with black and white, green and brown.

Man Fined $200 For Hit, Run

Miodrag Salunac, 1024 McGregor, was fined $200 Tuesday when he pleaded guilty in city court to hit-and-run driving.

Evidence was that he hit a parked car on Hillside April 11 and kept going but was followed by a citizen who stopped him several blocks away.

Salunac also had his licence suspended.

Woman Kills Suffering 'Best Friend'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The fatal shooting of Mary Happer, 61-year-old sister-in-law of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, in a nursing home here was described by police today as a "mercy killing."

Her best friend, Miss Dorothy Butts, 35, of Bethesda, Md., the alleged slayer, shot herself to death in her automobile parked in front of the Bethesda police headquarters Wednesday night.

A note found on Miss Butt's body told the story in a single, sad sentence:

"Today, I killed my best friend, Mary Happer of 7305 River Rd., Bethesda, Md., who has been suffering so cruelly from cancer."

DROVE 125 MILES

Police said Miss Butts drove 125 miles from her home and arrived at the High Oaks Home for Christian Scientists before 8 a.m. She left almost immediately to take Mrs. Happer for a ride in the country.

It was 4 p.m. before the two ladies returned to Room 8 on the first floor of the home. They were in good spirits and there was no indication of the tragedy that would happen in only half an hour.

Edith Barrett, the nurse on duty, was startled by "two sharp cracks." She ran to Room 8. Miss Happer was in bed, wearing only a slip. A deep red stain spread slowly over her left side.

SAID NOTHING

Her visitor said nothing as the nurse hurried to the bedside. She "stuffed something" into her handbag, turned and ran out the door, Miss Barrett said.

Other patients and attendants, unaware of the tragedy, saw the neatly dressed woman, blinking tears from her eyes, run from the building. She dashed across the terrace to a parking lot, got into her light-colored automobile and sped off.

Bethesda police later went to Miss Butts' home on Battery Lane. But no one was there.

Shortly before 11 p.m. two policemen entering their Bethesda headquarters noticed the automobile parked outside. It fitted the description of the car in the Philadelphia police flyer.

They looked inside and saw the body of Miss Butts, a bullet wound in her head. She apparently had wanted to spare police the trouble of looking for her.

Drink Cause Of Mishap, Jury Rules

A coroner's jury ruled Wednesday night that the death of Ronald V. Morry, 821 Rogers Avenue, was due to his "drunken condition."

Mr. Morry fell out the back of a truck as it turned off Quadra Street on to Rogers on the evening of April 3. He died two days later of head injuries.

The driver of the truck, Robert Smart, 3968 Quadra Street, told the inquest jury that Morry was in a "drunken condition" when he picked him up downtown and drove him home.

Mr. Smart said it was Morry's suggestion that he ride in the back of the truck, instead of in the cab, and he felt it was no use arguing with him.

The jury said Smart was "partly responsible (for the fatality) for allowing the deceased to ride in the back of the truck in his condition."

NOT MOVED

The jury added a recommendation to its verdict that anyone injured in an accident should not be moved except by trained persons.

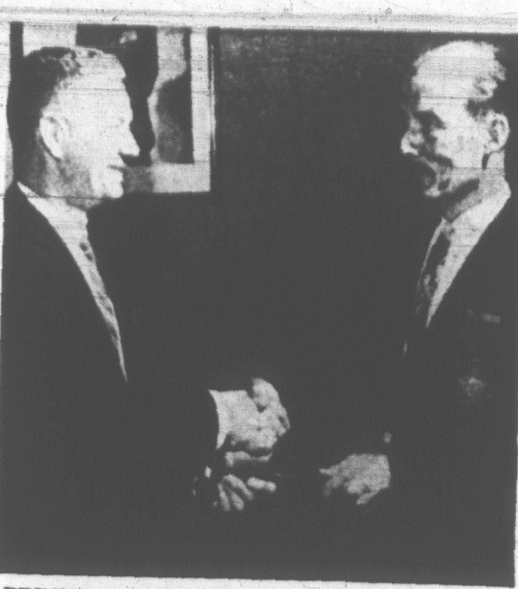
Evidence at the inquest showed that an off-duty Saanich policeman, Constable Fred Broderson, arrived on the scene after Morry was injured and gave instructions that no one was to move him until an ambulance arrived.

Const. Broderson went to a nearby house to telephone for an ambulance and when he got back he found that Morry had been taken to hospital.

Two doctors testified that moving Mr. Morry would have had no effect whatever on his injuries.

Dutch Crisis Ends

SOESTDIJK (Reuters)—Queen Juliana Wednesday swore in a new Dutch cabinet, headed by Joseph Cals, formally ending a 45-day political crisis. The political crisis resulted from a disagreement over the future of commercial television and radio in The Netherlands.



PRESIDENT'S GAVEL was handed over to new president Bill Stevenson, right, by past president Joe Barlow at a recent annual meeting of the RCAF Association 800 Pacific Wing. Other officers elected were Lorne Ross, first vice-president; Clarence House, second vice-president; Ora Collard, secretary, and Peter Hunt, treasurer.

Hellyer Nearing Goal Of Services Cutback

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer is more than halfway to his objective of reducing the manpower strength of the armed forces by more than 10,000 to 110,000.

Officials say that in the last year 6,577 military personnel have been lopped from the rolls of the armed forces, mainly through normal retirements.

At the end of February, 1964, the strength of the navy, army and RCAF stood at 121,491. By August last year, when Mr. Hellyer's reduction program officially went into effect as part of integration of the command structure, the strength was 118,823.

At the end of February this year, latest date for which official figures are available, the strength was down to 114,914 and still falling.

Authorities said it is possible the three services will be down to their manpower ceiling of 110,000 before the target date of August, 1966.

Of the total reduction, only some 2,500 men will have to be retired compulsorily.

Marchers Win Small Bundle Of Medals

Seven Victoria majorettes got marching orders at the weekend and followed them out to the word.

Today they were back in Victoria with a small bundle of prizes for their efforts.

Members of the Blue Bird Majorettes, they gained the prizes at the International Daffodil Contest in Sumner, Wash.

The seven were Lynne Middleton, Jim Campbell, Val Rankin, Jim Middleton, Roberta McAdams, Beverly Griffith and Linda Lou Barron.

Between them they collected two first place medals, one second, one third and one fourth.

The team was the only Canadian group taking part. Escorting the youngsters was Mrs. Eileen Kullman of the Eileen School of Dancing.

Kitsilano Lease Offer

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has offered to lease Kitsilano Beach Park in Vancouver to the city provided the entire 40 acres are developed for public park and recreational purposes, Prime Minister Pearson announced today. Mr. Pearson said the five buildings on the former RCAF base will be left standing if the federal offer is accepted and these could be subleased to the CBC.

INDONESIA BOOTS OUT PEACE CORPS

JAKARTA (AP)—U.S. presidential envoy Ellsworth Bunker's mission to Indonesia ended today with agreement to pull out the American Peace Corps, long a target of Indonesia's Communists

Bunker and President Sukarno issued a communique saying the corps will withdraw in the next few weeks because of "certain tensions" between the United States and Indonesia.

The communique indicated that U.S. aid to Indonesia will be limited henceforth to technical assistance to a few Indonesian universities. U.S. aid already has been slashed to less than $3,000,000 a year from a previous level of more than $100,000,000.

FORMER Canadian high commissioner to Britain, George Drew, has been appointed chancellor of the new University of Guelph. Premier of Ontario from 1943 to 1948 and national leader of the Progressive Conservative party before his appointment to London in 1957, was born and educated in Guelph.

Value of the Pill Argued By Two Labor Peeresses

LONDON (AP)—Two Labor peeresses crossed swords in the House of Lords Wednesday night over "the pill." Baroness Summerskill called for an immediate ban on the contraceptive. Baroness Gaitskell disagreed.

Lady Summerskill, 64, a physician and former minister of national insurance, told Parliament's upper house the pills could have dangerous side effects

"There are many harmless, well tried methods of contraception on the market affording a high degree of protection," said Lady Summerskill.

"Surely the time has come to call a halt to the distribution of these drugs, which are highly suspect, until the Dunlop committee issues a report."

The Dunlop committee was set up to investigate drugs after the thalidomide scare. Recently the committee investigated the deaths from thrombosis of two young women who had taken contraceptive pills. The committee reported it found no evidence to link their deaths with the pills.

Baroness Gaitskell, widow of Labor Party Leader Hugh Gaitskell, told the Lords she disagreed with Lady Summerskill.

Sluggish Kidneys May Bring Restless Nights

If you "fight the pillow", toss and turn all through the night and don't really know why — perhaps here's news and help for you! One cause of such restlessness may be traced to sluggish kidney action. Urinary irritation and bladder discomfort may follow. The result can be backache and restless nights. This is when Dodd's Kidney Pills can help bring relief. Dodd's stimulate kidney action, helps relieve the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Dodd's, and see if you don't feel better, rest better. Don't wait. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. Used successfully by millions for over 70 years.

WORLD AFFAIRS were discussed today by President Johnson and British Prime Minister Wilson at White House in Washington. Later they continued the conference at a luncheon along with top-level advisers.

'Obey Civil Rights Law' Alabama Firms Urge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Twenty-two of Alabama's most influential business groups, possibly indicating a crack in the state's "hard line" segregation stand, today called upon the people of Alabama to obey the civil rights law.

"In light of recent developments in Alabama, we feel that the business community has an obligation to speak out for what it believes to be right," the groups said in a full page advertisement in the Birmingham Post-Herald, Alabama's largest morning newspaper.

The far-ranging statement said many Alabama people disagree with the civil rights law, but added, "we do, however, have an obligation to abide by it, and this we will do."

There was no immediate reaction from Gov. George Wallace or other state officials.

But observers saw the statement as an indication of growing support by Alabama business leaders for acceptance of the law, severely criticized in the state.

These observers also sensed a more moderate stand on civil rights by Alabama lawmakers. A special session of the legislature currently is engaged in legislation to ease voter registration requirements in the state.

WIRE BRIEFS

Ceasefire Proposed

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India has agreed to Pakistan's proposal for a cease-fire on the Kutch-Sind border, where Indian and Pakistan forces have clashed during the last few days, External Affairs Minister Swaran Singh said today.

Third Day of Riots

SEOUL (Reuters) — The South Korean government moved troops into the centre of Seoul today to quell violent riots over relations with Japan. Some 3,500 demonstrators, led by students, fought through tear gas and smoke in clashes with riot police for the third straight day.

Canadair Files Suit

Walker In Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—British special envoy Patrick Gordon Walker arrived here today on the first stage of a Far East peace probe over Viet Nam but there was still no sign the Communists would talk to him.

Cross Through Gate

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Some 250 Samaritans living in Israel today crossed through the Mandelbaum Gate of this divided city on their way to Nablus in Jordan for passover.

Windfall Shares 'Regarded as Loan'

TORONTO (CP) — John Campbell, former director of the Ontario Securities Commission, testified today he got 5,000 shares of Windfall Oils and Mines Limited stock from Mrs. Viola MacMillan.

Mr. Campbell—who held the securities post at the time—told a royal commission investigating Windfall's July, 1964 fluctuations he was handed the stock by Mrs. MacMillan, wife of Windfall president, at a time when he was working to keep Windfall from being suspended by the Toronto Stock Exchange.

He said he regarded the transaction as a loan. The commission had heard previous evidence that he repaid the stock Aug. 4, 1964. He obtained it July 12.

Mr. Campbell testified Mrs. MacMillan handed him the 5,000 shares at a hotel here, where he had gone to try to persuade her and her husband George to provide additional information about Windfall for the exchange. It was threatening to suspend the stock because of lack of information to counteract rumors of an ore strike that had sent Windfall skyrocketing.

RECORD CREST EXPECTED FRIDAY

Mississippi Inches Up

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, both in a state of emergency, watched the rampaging Mississippi River inch upward today toward an all-time record crest.

St. Paul lowlands were flooded and at least five Minneapolis industrial areas were threatened.

The Mississippi reached 25.5 feet in St. Paul today—11.5 feet above flood stage—and the river is expected to crest at 27 feet Friday and hold that level several days.

The big St. Paul dikes through the heart of St. Paul were holding and engineers were confident they'll stand the crest, although underground water gushed up, flooding a four-mile-long stretch on the east side of the river.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin said today that under present conditions it appears southern Manitoba's Red River Valley will have flood conditions within the next two weeks of "equal dimension" to that of 1948.

This means that "very serious" flooding may be expected in the town of Emerson on the North Dakota border and in Morris, 30 miles north of Emerson.

Flooding could also be expected in the Elm Park area of metropolitan Winnipeg.

WILSON TELLS LBJ:

U.K. Supports U.S. Stand In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today after a conference with President Lyndon Johnson that Britain strongly supports the U.S. position in Viet Nam, but that no aid can be expected from London in the struggle against Communist guerrillas.

Wilson said Britain was unable to offer more than expressed support because it is so heavily committed in Malaysia and the Middle East.

Johnson and Wilson conferred for about an hour before a White House luncheon in the prime minister's honor.

The luncheon itself was delayed more than 30 minutes while the two leaders completed their business talk. Johnson planned to leave later today for an Easter weekend in Texas.

CORDIAL, FRUITFUL

Johnson said the private meeting with Wilson was "very interesting, very cordial, very fruitful."

While mutual monetary and economic problems were high on the agenda, the situation in Southeast Asia, as expected, came in for considerable discussion.

Wilson said:

"I expressed the very warm support our people gave to his Baltimore speech (on Viet Nam). "It was very much welcomed by our people. It answered the doubts a lot of people had all over the world."

At this point, Wilson was asked whether he foresaw an "increased British role in Viet Nam." The prime minister quickly ruled this out on grounds that British strength is "quite fully committed" in Malaysia in addition to extensive peace-keeping efforts in the Middle East.

However, Wilson gave enthusiastic support to the U.S. position as outlined in the Baltimore speech for three reasons. He said it reflected U.S. determination to continue resistance to violence in Southeast Asia, it held out the hope of the discussion and negotiation of peaceful settlement, "and it was forward-looking — raising the horizons by very hopeful suggestions" of co-operative economic development of the area.

"I think the president said quite fully what the position should be on discussions and it is now up to other countries to respond to that position," Wilson said.

YOUTH CORPS

Canadian Task Force Head Named

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson today announced initial steps to get his company of young Canadians organized and on the road.

The troop-leader for the job will be 29-year-old Duncan Edmonds, persently executive assistant to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

Edmonds has been associated with a number of student organizations including the Canadian university service overseas which Wednesday received a promise of $500,000 from the government to expand its work.

A former political science lecturer at Carleton University in Ottawa, Edmonds will be the secretary of the organizing committee. Other appointments will be announced soon.

Pearson said the CYC would be a focal point for "the service to the community which many young Canadians are eager to give, both at home and abroad."

He said he had been overwhelmed with the response from youth groups and individuals who wished to contribute to the young task force.

With a wry cluckle he said he had decided to bury the phrase "eager beavers" which he had initially used in describing the company.

Kent Guides Nation's War On Poverty

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson confirmed today appointment of his special assistant Tom Kent as chief of staff for the Canadian government's war on poverty and the setting up of a cabinet committee to make plans.

The special cabinet planning committee will oversee the five-point program set out in the throne speech April 5. Mr. Pearson will be chairman and Labor Minister MacEachen vice-chairman.

The program covers a Canada Assistance Plan, the Company of Young Canadians, a rural development fund, labor mobility and training measures, and extension of area development programs to provide new forms of industrial assistance in low-income areas.

A special planning secretariat directed by Mr. Kent, will begin work on four tasks:

1. Analysis of existing federal measures aimed at overcoming inadequate economic and social opportunities.

2. Assessment of the extent and nature of the problems of poverty and inadequate opportunities.

3. Development of proposals for further federal measures and for their co-ordination in the interests of maximum effectiveness.

4. Consultation with the provinces so federal action can be made in concert with provincial measures.

Firm Gets Go Ahead

OTTAWA (CP) — Atomic Energy of Canada Limited has declared "technically sound" the heavy water production process proposed by Western Deuterium Company of Victoria, Industry Minister Drury announced today.

The announcement, in effect, is the go-ahead for Western Deuterium's big heavy water plant at Estevan, Sask. (See story on Page 8.)

Wig Thieves Loot Second Toronto Firm

TORONTO (UPI)—Police today linked a $7,000 theft of some 125 hair pieces with an international ring of wig thieves.

A downtown wig store was looted Wednesday night of an assortment of wigs and police said it was possible that the same gang is responsible for a $10,000 theft of wigs from another Toronto firm in February.

"We've been told this has got to be a real big business in the States," said Det. George Hogg. There's a wig shortage down there and it's possible the stolen goods are heading that way."

Police said it was possible the Toronto thefts were connected with wig thefts in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago, and other American cities.

Target Inside South Viet Nam

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—An armada of 230 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes bombed a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border from "dawn to dusk" today in the biggest air raid of the Viet Nam war.

U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine aircraft based in South Viet Nam were joined by navy planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway and Skyraider fighter-bombers of the South Vietnamese Air Force. They dropped approximately 1,000 tons of bombs.

It was the first time U.S. Navy planes had gone into action against targets inside South Viet Nam. Previous navy raids have been made on North Viet Nam.

Planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet also carried out the first United States night flight over North Viet Nam Wednesday night. A spokesman said no bombs were dropped or rockets fired because no targets were seen.

Radio Saigon said South Vietnamese fighter-bombers also were over North Viet Nam after dark and that they bombed a military convoy.

A Communist broadcast from Hanoi said the U.S. planes struck at night "in an attempt to avoid the disastrous defeats which had befallen their previous raids conducted in plain daylight."

DENOUNCED THE RAID

North Viet Nam denounced the night raid which it said was over "several villages" and protested to the International Control Commission on Indochina about raids on populated areas.

A U.S. spokesman said the target of today's bombing raid near the Cambodian border was a tangled jungle region nearly two miles wide by 3½ miles long in Cay Ninh province, 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

STRIKE AT BUNKERS

The raid was directed against "bunker type" installations as well as other Communist targets.

By late afternoon a huge wall of smoke and fire obscured the Cambodian border. There had been six secondary explosions, presumably from Viet Cong ammunition caches.

DRIVING CAR

Mountie Killer Sighted In Burnaby?

BURNABY (CP)—A reported positive identification of murder suspect Russell Spears turned a police hunt to this suburban Vancouver municipality today.

But police had found no sign of Spears at noon, 15 hours after the report.

They kept their main activity centred on the Okanagan Valley, where the shot was fired last Saturday that fatally wounded an RCMP constable.

Burnaby police said a person spotted driving a sedan car was identified from a photograph as Russell Spears, 59, of Westbank.

Spears is charged with capital murder in the slaying of Const. N. M. Bruce, 26, who died four days after suffering a gunshot wound last Saturday at a cabin in the Okanagan Valley.

The suspect was driving a sedan with a trailer hitch and Hula-girl mascot in the rear window. The police informants, not identified, did not get the licence number and RCMP in the main search area in the interior said Spears did not own a car of the description given.

Const. Bruce was shot when he investigated a report that a 17-eyar-old girl was being held against her will near Westbank.

"We don't know just how much importance to attach to the identification by photograph," a police spokesman said. "But we can't ignore it.

"He is still believed to be in the Westbank area but there's always the possibility he could have got a car and got out."

The girl, Beverley Charest, was shot in the jaw in the same incident and is unable to speak. She has written an account of the circumstances for police.

FLAG LOWERED

The flag in front of the RCMP station was lowered to half staff Wednesday as more men and dogs were brought in to intensify the search that has been in progress since Saturday.

Most of the RCMP efforts are concentrated in the rugged Black Canyon-Powers Creek area about 20 miles southwest of here, a region of clear slopes frequently dotted with deep, steep, bush-filled ravines and swift-running creeks. Old prospectors' cabins abound in the area.

There is snow on the ground above the 4,000-foot level.

Police said Spears has a long history of living off the land. It

EXECUTED

Viet Cong Terrorist Ran Out of Names

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—A Vietnamese firing squad today executed a young Viet Cong terrorist who tried to bomb a hotel filled with American servicemen.

A crowd of about 2,000 civilians watched the execution from roof and tree top perches ringing the soccer stadium.

A ripple of applause could be heard from the spectators gathered atop a railway bridge as bullets tore into the body of Le Dua, 24, a Communist agent with a long record of terrorist activities.

Le Dua was the confessed leader of three separate terrorist squads operating in the Da Nang area. He was captured April 4 as he carried a transistor radio packed with explosives into Da Nang's grand hotel.

A military court quickly ordered the death penalty for Le Dua but he won several reprieves by revealing the names of fellow Viet Cong agents. As Le Dua continued to talk the execution was postponed.

He ran out of names yesterday. A Military tribunal tried him again yesterday and reaffirmed the death sentence.

ORCHARDIST FEARS FOR SAFETY OF FAMILY

'I Saw Someone Staggering Up . . .'

KELOWNA (CP)—An eyewitness to Saturday's shootings in Westbank said today he will not stay in his own home at night.

George Webber, a fruit farmer, said he takes his family away from their house at night to stay with relatives.

He returns to tend his orchards only during the day.

Mr. Webber, who turned in the complaint Saturday morning that Const. N. M. Bruce was answering when he was shot, said householders in the area are jittery.

He said they fear murder suspect Russell Spears is still in the area.

Mr. Webber said he phoned the Kelowna RCMP detachment Saturday morning after his 14-year-old son told him about a man trying to "corner" him in Black Canyon.

Mr. Webber said his son became suspicious when a car without lights drove slowly past the Webber home about 6 a.m. Saturday.

The boy followed the car about half a mile to a Black Canyon cabin, where a girl called out to him from behind a tree.

A man appeared from the cabin and ordered the girl inside then tried to "corner" the boy.

The youth ran home and told his father. When the police arrived, they parked in Mr. Webber's front yard, he said, and told him to stand by the radio in the car.

Const. K. E. Jones stationed himself atop a bluff near the trail to the cabin, and Const. Bruce walked along the trail.

Mr. Webber said the next thing he knew, Jones was shouting to him to radio the Kelowna detachment.

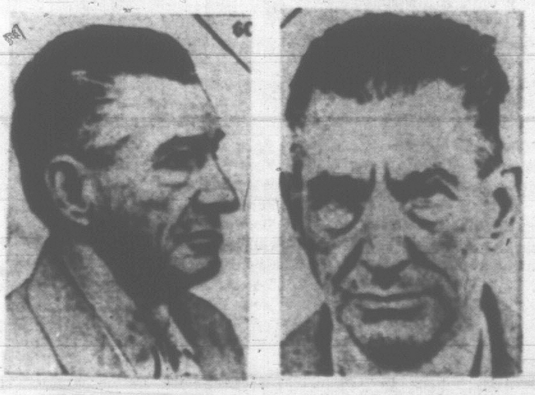
Mr. Webber said he was unable to operate the radio, and when Const. Jones ran to the car, he too had difficulty.

"Then I saw someone staggering up the trail yelling for help," said Mr. Webber.

"At first I thought it was the constable, there was so much blood. I started to run over that way, and I saw it was a girl . . . she was all blood, all over her face. Her sweater was soaked with it."

Mr. Webber took the girl, 17-year-old Beverley Charest, to hospital in Kelowna.

"I'm a veteran," said Mr. Webber, "but it got me to see something like that right here."



Have You Seen This Man?

MINE CLAIM-STAKING RUSH NEAR HAY RIVER

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—Exploration and claim-staking for precious metals has reached a peak in this area over the last two weeks.

One mining engineer said recently the scramble for claims could turn the Pine Point area, about 40 miles east of Hay River, into another Timmins.

Six companies and many individuals are reported to have staked about 1,000 claims following reports of commercial gold and silver discoveries in the region.

Claim-staking is now within 20 miles of Hay River, along both sides of the new Great Slave Lake rail line to Pine Point.

HEAVY WATER PLANT

Victoria Firm's Plans Approved

REGINA (CP) — Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. has approved a new process for producing heavy water and construction of a $46,000,000 manufacturing plant at Estevan is expected to start in August, Premier Ross Thatcher announced today.

Mr. Thatcher told the legislature he was advised by federal Industry Minister C. M. Drury the process evolved by Western Deuterium Company Ltd., a Victoria-based firm, has been approved by AECL.

"It is satisfied the new process is technically sound," Mr. Thatcher said.

Accordingly, he said, AECL has been authorized to enter into a contract with Western Deuterium to build the plant which is expected to produce 300 tons of heavy water annually.

"AECL will underwrite the sale of this quantity for the first five years of production at a sale price of $14.65 a pound."

First announcement of the proposed plant was made Feb. 23.

Under the province's agreement with Western Deuterium the plant will be built and owned by the Saskatchewan Economic Development Corporation on a lease-back basis for 25 years.

The proviincial government will also hold 40 per cent of the capital stock.

The plant will be the largest in Canada when completed and will employ about 200 people when it starts production.

In mines Texmont rose as high as $1.88 before settling at $1.84 for a gain of .07 on 71,000 shares. Arlington lost .03 to .56 on 60,000 shares.

AT TORONTO speculative oils and mines moved to the forefront in moderately heavy mid-afternoon trading today.

Dynamic Petroleum was a leader, rising 9 to 75 cents on volume of 308,390 shares. Banff Oil jumped 70 cents to $7.50 on 122,454 shares and reached a high of $7.65. Mill City Pete ganed 8 to 70 cents on 76,098 shares.

In penny mines, McWatters fell 2 to 56 cents and Consolidated Bellekeno gained 2 to 16 cents on 236,133 shares.

Industrials advanced smartly. Monarch Fine Foods, Interprovincial Pipe and Bell Telephone each gained ¾ to 8½, 91 and 61½, respectively.

Metals declined.

Golds were dull.

AT NEW YORK the market declined irregularly in profit-taking on a sustained advance. Trading slackened.

Some higher-priced issues registered 2-point losses — du Pont, IBM and Xerox.

Loses exceeding a point where shown by such issues as Comsat, Motorola, Skelly Oil, U. S. Smelting, Canadian Pacific and Texas Gulf Sulphur.

AT MONTREAL stocks were beginning to rise in moderate trade today. Utilities advanced with Interprovincial Pipe Line up ¼.

Papers were higher. MacMilan, Bloedel rose ⅛, and Consolidated was up ½. Dominion Tar was off ⅛.

AT LONDON the market was quiet and undecided in advance of the Good Friday holiday. Several gilt-edged stocks were a fraction stronger following Prime Minister Wilson's New York speech and subsequent improvement in sterling.

Losses predominated among dollar stocks, but leading Canadians did relatively well. Advancing as much as two points were Algoma, Aluminium, Consolidated Mining, Hollinger, International Nickel, Massey-Ferguson and Noranda. Fractional losses were taken by such issues as BA Oil, Consolidated Paper, Imperial Oil and Brazil Traction.

LAFARGE CEMENT APPROVES MERGER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Shareholders of Lafarge Cement of North America Ltd., Wednesday approved amalgamation of Lafarge and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Beale Quarries Ltd.

James Sinclair, president of Lafarge, said the amalgamation between the two companies was advised by Lafarge's auditors because of the tax benefits to the company.

In his report to shareholders, Mr. Sinclair said there will be no change in the shares or corporate structure of the company.

The president said that Lafarge can double its plant facilities at Lulu Island within the next three or four years for about one quarter the cost of the original plant. The original plant cost about $14,000.

Mr. Sinclair said that when expansion comes, Lafarge will fiance the project internally.

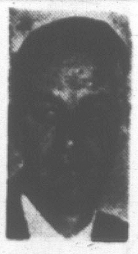
Arthur Mayse

In view of this week's zany developments at Ottawa, I am beginning to wonder whether a royal commission shouldn't be appointed to investigate the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.



First comes a saucy and vexatious questionnaire aimed at Members of a Parliament in session.

Next, when Prime Minister Pearson ventures to protest, commission chairmen Dunton and Laurendeau suggest in effect that he tend his own affairs and not interfere with their project.

While my sympathy for the prime minister is tempered by the fact that it was he who set the juggernaut in motion, it seems to me that he had best waste no time in dealing with what West Kootenay's H. W. Herridge has quite rightly branded an impertinence.

The questionnaire in total is the nearest thing ever to that legal chestnut, 'When did you stop beating your wife?'

Also, even though Mr. Pearson is by no means a Laurier, or even a Mackenzie King, he's the best we've got at the moment, and should be safe from treatment so cavalier.

★ ★ ★

It is now almost a year since the bi-and-bi commission departed Victoria after a public hearing which only an extreme Francophile could label anything but partisan.

Since then, it has munched its leisurely way through a pile of taxpayers' dollars, for which it has so far offered an interim report of dubious content and extremely doubtful worth.

This isn't good enough; and when chairmen Laurendeau and Dunton use their commission as a shelter for the sort of sniping they are presently indulging in, the situation becomes outrageous.

Certainly, a royal commission must be given every protection in the carrying out of its mandate.

But like full many another impatient Canadian, I will be heartily glad when its marathon is at last concluded and its members winkled from their shell.

★ ★ ★

As for the questionnaire which has aroused Parliamentary ire, it reminds me of nothing so much as one of those trick screeds to which the suspect is subjected in a lie-detector workout.

In these, all flows along evenly for a space, one innocuous question following another. Then, without change of tone, comes the sticker: 'Did you murder your Aunt Minnie?'

At a glance, I can see in the bi-and-bi list questions interlarded among the merely banal which the originators must know are packed with political dynamite.

In fact the MP who makes bold to answer the lot is bound to wind up with his foot in his mouth, and would be a fool to attempt the assignment.

Even with a certain latitude as to how he framed his response, how would he handle this one?

'An MP can tell most of the time what his constituents will think about an issue before he even asks them.'

Yes? Then the arrogant fellow assumes those who voted him into office are sheep. No? The man's obviously out of touch with his riding!

By no stretch of the imagination can I see that the reply, either way, contributes anything of value to the commission.

There are also queries which can be construed as blatant propaganda. Take this one, for example:

"A Senate conceived as a 'chamber of nationalities' representing English and French in equal proportions, would be a useful reform to our parliamentary system."

As I see it, to thrust such an inquisition at the members of our federal Parliament is a transgression only removed from striding uninvited past the bar of Commons, and should be protested with utmost vigor.

Field Trips Slated

Uvic Slices Projects As Grant Falls Short

Several projects at the University of Victoria will have to be postponed for lack of money this year, university president Dr. Malcolm Taylor said today.

And university officials were taking another close look at their budget in the wake of the provincial government's announcement of a $3,295,000 operating grant. The grant is $1 million more than in 1964 but less than the university sought.

Mostly, they don't like what they see.

"We are looking at which projects can be postponed this year and still have a genuine four-year university," said Dr. Taylor.

He said some of the things which may be postponed are renovation of some old buildings for use by the university and purchase of equipment necessary for fourth year studies.

FEE INCREASE

"We are hoping a fee increase will not be necessary. We are determined not to raise fees unless we have to."

Student fees were raised $50 last year to meet operating costs. They now stand at $327.

Last year the cost of educating a student was about $1,500.

The total operating budget for last year amounted to $3,800,000, including student fees and provincial and federal grants.

University of B.C. will receive $12,894,000 and Simon Fraser University will receive $2,311,000 in operating grants from the provincial government.

Topics of the Day

Rotary Club of Victoria today presented a $2,600 cheque to St. Joseph's Hospital towards the purchase of a cardiac monitoring machine.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Mosedale, chairman of the board of management at St. Joseph's received the cheque from Rotary president Dr. Robert Stark at the luncheon meeting at the Empress.

Victoria aldermen today recommended shelving the question of multiple polling stations for another year.

"I find we are the only city of any size that has a single polling place," said Ald. Clyde Savage in committee discussion on extending polling stations.

"I think we owe something to the voters," he said, even though the higher cost of multiple polls makes it impossible this year.

"But we should bring it up again next year," Ald. Savage said.

Beer in cans goes on sale in Ontario for the first time April 29 but the B.C. Liquor Control Board plans to stick to bottles.

LCB chairman Col. Donald McGugan today said the question of canned beer comes up periodically but "it's not being considered seriously here."

The fact that cans are not returnable as bottles tends to create a litter problem in areas permitting them, he added.

OPENING SET FOR PROBE OF POLICE

A detailed study of the Saanich police force will begin next week, Reeve Hugh Curtis said today.

The study, a request of the Saanich police commission, will be conducted by retired RCMP superintendent John A. Henry.

Mr. Henry will be introduced formally to the commission on Tuesday.

The study has wide terms of reference, but particularly will examine the manning and organization of the police department.

QUEEN KATHRYN

'ROYAL' PAIR TO SWELL FESTIVAL VISITOR LIST

Two more festival queens — one from Seattle and the other from Puyallup, Washington—arrive in Victoria Friday to boost the ranks of royalty.

Seattle's Seafair Queen and Puyallup's Daffodil Queen, Kathryn Bryson, will join city youngsters Saturday for the giant floral and costume parade through city streets.

The parade, one of a crowded calendar of events for Saturday, starts from Centennial Square at 11 a.m.

More than 300 youngsters will be on hand for the grand march with three bands to provide the martial air.

Eaton's eight-foot-tall rabbit, Harvey, will lead the parade.

The big events Saturday take place in the Inner Harbor where throughout the afternoon rowing and sailing races will take place, water skiers will show their paces and outboard motorboat men will put on a precision drill.

Saturday night the Empress Hotel will be the scene of the Boatmen's Ball to wind up the week-long Spring Flower Festival.

Wednesday night Fred Usher's Daffodil Revue played to a packed house at McPherson Playhouse. The show goes again tonight at 8:30 p.m.

No festival events are planned for Good Friday.

RESIDENTS LEAVE . . . . . . AND TOURISTS ARRIVE

Easter Holiday Exodus Begins

By TERRY IZZARD

The Big Sweep got under way today.

In the next 24 hours Victoria will virtually change hands.

The population swing began around noon as Victorians began a mass evacuation of the city.

By road, sea and air they took advantage of the first long weekend of the year to escape.

Loaded down with everything from tennis racquets and fishing rods to frying pans and kettles they headed for mainland and up-Island points.

Meanwhile, a dribble of American tourists began the seasonal pilgrimage to the land of tea and crumpets.

★ ★ ★

In the next four days they will invade the city, swelling tea-house coffers with their money and making the hallowed city monuments echo to their nasal drawl.

In return the city will turn its sunny smile on full blast.

A host of entertainment from the kiddies Easter parade to frostbite races in Cadboro Bay will mark the start of the summer season.

★ ★ ★

Parks officials today were preparing for a mammoth rush to the city greenery.

Coach-line and ferry services were working full blast in preparation for the thousands who will be on the move.

Hotels and motels dusted away signs of winter slackness from little used rooms.

Victoria's grand old lady, the Empress, prepared for a busy weekend.

★ ★ ★

Housewives and office girls flocked to buy summer frillies. For them it will be a gay Easter of pastel colored dresses and sunny bonnets.

For others it will be a religious Easter.

Clergymen from all over Vancouver Island were in Victoria today in preparation for the days ahead.

Churches will be full to the doors Good Friday as thousands mark the true spirit of the Easter weekend.

For policemen everywhere it will be a hectic Easter.

As traffic builds up on highways all available men will be called in to deal with resulting jams.

Inspector Ray Maitland, head of city police traffic division, warned motorists to follow the simple safety rules:

Avoid speed, give signals, be considerate and leave plenty of stopping space.

For many it will be a disastrous weekend.

Some will die, others will be seriously injured.

Two were killed in the province last year over the holiday. Only a miracle can prevent it happening again.

Sports fans with a stay-at-home complex can take their pick of a weekend soccer tournament and a Western Hockey League game between Victoria Maple Leafs and Portland Buckaroos.

★ ★ ★

It's going to be a lively Easter with something for everyone.

Even Victoria weatherman William Mackie came through with a promise of plenty of sunshine with just a few clouds.

Temperatures will reach to the lower 60's, staying around the 40 mark at night.

All-in-all, a very warm Easter to everybody.

HOLIDAY HOURS BARS CLOSED FRIDAY

All liquor outlets in Victoria will be closed Good Friday.

Bars and beer parlors will lock their doors at 11:30 tonight and leave them locked until Saturday morning.

Major stores will be closed Good Friday as will the Public Library and the Provincial Museum.

Stores will be open as usual on Saturday, but the library remains closed until Tuesday morning.

The Provincial Museum will be open Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Other government offices close at 5 p.m. today and remain closed until Tuesday morning.

$35 Wage Hike Awarded Police

By AB KENT
Times City Hall Reporter

Three metropolitan police departments have settled wage contracts granting increases of up to $35 a month for first-class constables.

An arbitration board sitting on binding settlement of police-fire department matters for Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay handed down reports today.

Full details of the police settlement — which was arrived at amicably during arbitration hearings last week — were not immediately available.

Outcome of the firemen's arbitration, hinging on a six-hour reduction of the work week, was not known.

Firemen emerging from hearings after putting their case for a 42-hour week seemed confident of their position.

Victoria police were getting $502 a month (first class constable) and now will get $520 until July 1 when the rate goes up to $528.

Saanich and Oak Bay departments will grant the same salary for first class constables and the schedule for higher classifications will remain the same as for Victoria.

Saanich police had been at a disadvantage compared with Victoria, first class constables receiving $493 last year.

Settlement is based on a one-year contract.

Deadline Miss Stalls Details On School Rate

The education department missed its statutory deadline today for announcement of provincial grants to individual school districts.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said the grants schedule will not be ready until Tuesday.

The delay could complicate the efforts of some municipalities to meet their statutory deadline of May 15 for striking a mill rate.

School boards cannot determine the school mill rate until they know the size of their individual grants. Municipal councils generally withhold final decision on general purpose mill rates until they know what the school taxes will be.

The department was reported swamped under the load of calculating how the $77,700,000 provincial grants will be divided up this year among the 100 school districts.

Last year the grants totalled $72,200,000.

Mr. Peterson said the $5,500,000 increase would cover normal growth and did not involve any modification of the present sliding scale formula for sharing of operating and capital school costs.

Last year, Greater Victoria school district received a grant of $4,846,402.

GRANTS BUDGET

If the approximately 8 per cent increase in the total provincial grants budget proves to be applicable to the Greater Victoria school district, its 1965-66 grant should be in the neighborhood of $5,200,000.

However, the province's sliding scale formula could increase or lower that figure.

3 Months in Jail

A man convicted previously on two counts of vagrancy was sentenced to three months in jail today for causing a disturbance Wednesday in the Royal London Wax Museum.

Frank Ellis, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to the charge. Police said his breath smelled strongly of alcohol when he was arrested.

It's Enough to Curl Your Fur

"And would you believe it, she came to the show in pin curls. But then what can you expect . . . no breeding, that's the trouble. You only have to look at the fur coat she wears; she wore the same one last year. Not that I mean to be catty, but after all there is a limit. Why, Marmaduke was saying only the other day he'd seen her drinking milk out of a saucer. Isn't it disgraceful? And her entering the same show as us; you know, the international show at Esqunimalt Sports Centre. They say there'll be celebrities on hand from across Canada and the U.S. Of course I'll be there April 24 and 25. But then as you know, darling, I'm invited to all the best shows. Bye . . ." POPULATION at Fishermen's Wharf is thinning rapidly these days as trollers head for the open sea and a new fishing season. Bright in their new paint and with gurdies as yet untouched by salt spray, the boats have until today to get on station off the west coast. After that it's every man for himself with the big catch the dream. Each vessel stays out between 10 and 12 days before heading for a fish packer or home port. (Bill Halkett Photo.)

Liquor Claim Discounted

TORONTO (CP)—No investigation is planned into charges that a Port Arthur restaurant operator was denied a liquor licence after refusing to contribute to Conservative party election funds, Attorney - General Arthur Wishart of Ontario said Tuesday night.

Rudy Bergauer, a former tourist court operator, has claimed he was asked to make a contribution by a "prominent Port Arthur Conservative" after he had filed an application for a wine and beer licence in a dining room he leased from a hotel.

"There has been no suggestion of an investigation as far as I know," Mr. Wishart said in an interview. He was unaware of any claims that a donation had been made a condition for receiving a liquor licence.

Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, charged in the legislature this week that a "toll gate" was operating to collect political donations in return for liquor licences.

QUICK MEETING ASKED . . . . . . AS BALCER REVOLTS

By PETER NEWMAN

OTTAWA — Leon Balcer's dramatic departure from the ranks of the Conservative party last week has detonated an underground shockwave of anti-Diefenbaker reaction among a group of young eastern Tories.

Newman

They have quietly but forcibly begun to urge Dalton Camp, the national president of the PC Association to move the party's annual meeting ahead from late next fall, as now scheduled, to some time in June.

They expect that the narrow defeat of the rebel forces at last February's executive meeting can be turned into a narrow victory in the full forum of a general meeting, where their aim will be to make sure that the party holds a leadership convention before the next election campaign.

One of the chief instigators of this new push to oust the man from Prince Albert is Richard B. Holden, a young Montreal lawyer and president of the St. Antoine-Westmount Progressive Conservative Association.

"It is not enough to deplore the loss of men like Balcer—Holden has written in a private letter to Camp, "the time for clever tactics and subtle manoeuvres is over. John Diefenbaker is slowly but surely wrecking the party. The sooner he confronts an annual meeting, the better."

Aims Attack

Holden anchors his attacks on the Conservative leader not in any particular defence of Balcer's actions, but in the roots of what he considers to be Conservative philosophy.

"In essence," he writes, "we must return to basic Conservative principles of increased provincial autonomy. If this is not possible, then we must be honest enough to admit it publicly."

Holden and others who agree with his position see their party as standing at a vital crossroad. "It will complete the last half of the 1960's under the leadership of John Diefenbaker, Gordon Churchill, Erik Nielsen and Eldon Woollams or under Davie Fulton, Marcel Faribault, Gordon Fairweather, Gordon Aiken, Dalton Camp and Ged Baldwin. The time to decide is the next meeting of the national association. I suggest it be held in June."

Five Areas

While he obviously favors the latter group, Holden does not come out in support of any particular alternate leader, insisting that a change of leadership will not solve the French-English problem in the party. He lists five areas in which the party will have to take a definite stand before it can reclaim its place in the mainstream of Canadian political events:

- The amendment of the constitution.
- The encouragement of bilingualism in the federal administration.
- The rights of French speaking minorities outside of Quebec to be educated in their own language.
- Increased fiscal authority to meet increased provincial legislative responsibilities.
- Recognition of Quebec's special status in Confederation.

What makes this latest rumble more interesting than previous attempts to unseat the chief is that Conservatives like Holden are concerned not so much with just heaving Diefenbaker out as with the longterm preservation of their party as a national force.

Two Parties

They recognize that this is a nation held together by its institutions and the most important of these is the structure of the two national parties.

If the Conservative party reaches a state of disintegration when it can no longer maintain even a foothold representation in Quebec, then Canada is dangerously close to becoming a one-party state. Only the Liberals will be able field a truly national team to govern this large land.

Despite their strong concern, it's doubtful that Holden and his fellow Tories will have much luck in pressing their campaign for a change of date in the party's annual meeting.

Dalton Camp is not empowered to make the decision by himself, and he can hardly call another meeting of his executive to rule on the contentious issue.

The latest attempt to overthrow John Diefenbaker is likely to be frustrated by the mechanics of the situation in which the Conservative party now finds itself: that its constitution simply makes no provision for unseating a leader who isn't willing to step down gracefully.

'Few' Hours Freedom Ends In City Court

A 20-year old youth who got out of jail Monday was sent back there Tuesday for four months.

Charn Dhillon pleaded guilty to unlawfully prowling at night.

He was caught on the roof of a house on Hillside Avenue shortly before midnight Monday only a few hours after his release from jail after serving a term for causing a disturbance.

Dhillon, who also has a previous conviction for assault, told the magistrate he had been drinking "quite a bit."

He said he "didn't realize it was the wrong house."

If one of these problems is holding up the return of your tax form, maybe we can help you out.

1.
You've lost your form?

Go to your local post office. They have lots of regular T1 forms and they'll be happy to supply you with one.

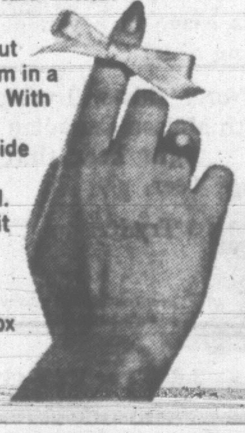
2.
There's a great big line drawn through the address block?

That's easy to explain. Your Personalized Tax Form went to your old address. The Postal Department crossed it out before they forwarded it to you at your new address. However, there is a space to write in your new address on the label itself (and for brides, your new name).

3.
Something's puzzling you?

Call or visit your District Taxation Office. You'll find it listed in the White Pages of your Telephone Directory under Government of Canada. They'll answer any questions you have.

4.
You keep forgetting to put it in the mail?



Try this. Tonight, put your completed form in a stamped envelope. With sticky tape, attach envelope to the inside of your front door just about eye level. Tomorrow remove it before you go out and hold it in your hand till you reach the nearest mail box and drop your completed form in.

Your form is all filled out, but you owe us a small sum and you're short of cash?

We understand. Sometimes the fact you've got to pay more tax catches you unprepared. But you can mail your completed tax form anyway by enclosing a postdated cheque for the sum owing as late as April 30th 1965.

Now, thank-you for your co-operation.
Really.
You've helped us do a more efficient job.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1965–PAGE 21

In view of this week's zany developments at Ottawa, I am beginning to wonder whether a royal commission shouldn't be appointed to investigate the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

First comes a saucy and vexatious questionnaire aimed at Members of a Parliament in session.

Next, when Prime Minister Pearson ventures to protest, commission chairmen Dunton and Laurendeau suggest in effect that he tend his own affairs and not interfere with their project.

While my sympathy for the prime minister is tempered by the fact that it was he who set the juggernaut in motion, it seems to me that he had best waste no time in dealing with what West Kootenay's H. W. Herridge has quite rightly branded an impertinence.

The questionnaire in total is the nearest thing ever to that legal chestnut, 'When did you stop beating your wife?'

Also, even though Mr. Pearson is by no means a Laurier, or even a Mackenzie King, he's the best we've got at the moment, and should be safe from treatment so cavalier.

★ ★ ★

It is now almost a year since the bi-and-bi commission departed Victoria after a public hearing which only an extreme Francophile could label anything but partisan.

Since then, it has munched its leisurely way through a pile of taxpayers' dollars, for which it has so far offered an interim report of dubious content and extremely doubtful worth.

This isn't good enough; and when chairmen Laurendeau and Dunton use their commission as a shelter for the sort of sniping they are presently indulging in, the situation becomes outrageous.

Certainly, a royal commission must be given every protection in the carrying out of its mandate.

But like full many another impatient Canadian, I will be heartily glad when its marathon is at last concluded and its members winkled from their shell.

★ ★ ★

As for the questionnaire which has aroused Parliamentary ire, it reminds me of nothing so much as one of those trick screeds to which the suspect is subjected in a lie-detector workout.

In these, all flows along evenly for a space, one innocuous question following another. Then, without change of tone, comes the sticker: 'Did you murder your Aunt Minnie?'

At a glance, I can see in the bi-and-bi list questions interlarded among the merely banal which the originators must know are packed with political dynamite.

In fact the MP who makes bold to answer the lot is bound to wind up with his foot in his mouth, and would be a fool to attempt the assignment.

Even with a certain latitude as to how he framed his response, how would he handle this one?

'An MP can tell most of the time what his constituents will think about an issue before he even asks them.'

Yes? Then the arrogant fellow assumes those who voted him into office are sheep. No? The man's obviously out of touch with his riding!

By no stretch of the imagination can I see that the reply, either way, contributes anything of value to the commission.

There are also queries which can be construed as blatant propaganda. Take this one, for example:

"A Senate conceived as a 'chamber of nationalities' representing English and French in equal proportions, would be a useful reform to our parliamentary system."

As I see it, to thrust such an inquisition at the members of our federal Parliament is a transgression only removed from striding uninvited past the bar of Commons, and should be protested with utmost vigor.

Field Trips Slated

The intermediate section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Atkins Road.

THE SEA'S STILL chilly, but who cares with a good looker like Lou Else of 1822 Beach Drive around. Lou took an Easter walk on Willows Beach today, just to get that spring feeling.

Uvic Slices Projects As Grant Falls Short

Several projects at the University of Victoria will have to be postponed for lack of money this year, university president Dr. Malcolm Taylor said today.

And university officials were taking another close look at their budget in the wake of the provincial government's announcement of a $3,295,000 operating grant. The grant is $1 million more than in 1964 but less than the university sought.

Mostly, they don't like what they see.

"We are looking at which projects can be postponed this year and still have a genuine four-year university," said Dr. Taylor.

He said some of the things which may be postponed are renovation of some old buildings for use by the university and purchase of equipment necessary for fourth year studies.

FEE INCREASE

"We are hoping a fee increase will not be necessary. We are determined not to raise fees unless we have to."

Student fees were raised $50 last year to meet operating costs. They now stand at $327.

Last year the cost of educating a student was about $1,500.

The total operating budget for last year amounted to $3,800,000, including student fees and provincial and federal grants.

University of B.C. will receive $12,894,000 and Simon Fraser University will receive $2,311,000 in operating grants from the provincial government.

Topics of the Day

Rotary Club of Victoria today presented a $2,600 cheque to St. Joseph's Hospital towards the purchase of a cardiac monitoring machine.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Mosedale, chairman of the board of management at St. Joseph's, received the cheque from Rotary president Dr. Robert Stark at the luncheon meeting at the Empress.

QUEEN KATHRYN, . . . arrives Friday

Victoria aldermen today recommended shelving the question of multiple polling stations for another year.

"I find we are the only city of any size that has a single polling place," said Ald. Clyde Savage in committee discussion on extending polling stations.

"I think we owe something to the voters," he said, even though the higher cost of multiple polls makes it impossible this year.

"But we should bring it up again next year," Ald. Savage said.

Leather-bound copies of the May 1 Maclean's Magazine edition will be presented to the B.C. cabinet Tuesday by publisher F. G. Brander.

Beer in cans goes on sale in Ontario for the first time April 29 but the B.C. Liquor Control Board plans to stick to bottles.

LCB chairman Col. Donald McGugan today said the question of canned beer comes up periodically but "it's not being considered seriously here."

The fact that cans are not returnable as bottles tends to create a litter problem in areas permitting them, he added.

OPENING SET FOR PROBE OF POLICE

A detailed study of the Saanich police force will begin next week, Reeve Hugh Curtis said today.

The study, a request of the Saanich police commission, will be conducted by retired RCMP superintendent John A. Henry.

Mr. Henry will be introduced formally to the commission on Tuesday.

The study has wide terms of reference, but particularly will examine the manning and organization of the police department.

'ROYAL' PAIR TO SWELL FESTIVAL VISITOR LIST

Two more festival queens — one from Seattle and the other from Puyallup, Washington—arrive in Victoria Friday to boost the ranks of royalty.

Seattle's Seafair Queen and Puyallup's Daffodil Queen, Kathryn Bryson, will join city youngsters Saturday for the giant floral and costume parade through city streets.

The parade, one of a crowded calendar of events for Saturday, starts from Centennial Square at 11 a.m.

More than 300 youngsters will be on hand for the grand march with three bands to provide the martial air.

Eaton's eight-foot-tall rabbit, Harvey, will lead the parade.

The big events Saturday take place in the Inner Harbor where throughout the afternoon rowing and sailing races will take place, water skiers will show their paces and outboard motorboat men will put on a precision drill.

Saturday night the Empress Hotel will be the scene of the Boatmen's Ball to wind up the week-long Spring Flower Festival.

Wednesday night Fred Usher's Daffodil Revue played to a packed house at McPherson Playhouse. The show goes again tonight at 8:30 p.m.

No festival events are planned for Good Friday.

RESIDENTS LEAVE . . . . . . AND TOURISTS ARRIVE

Easter Holiday Exodus Begins

By TERRY IZZARD

The Big Sweep got under way today.

In the next 24 hours Victoria will virtually change hands.

The population swing began around noon as Victorians began a mass evacuation of the city.

By road, sea and air they took advantage of the first long weekend of the year to escape.

Loaded down with everything from tennis racquets and fishing rods to frying pans and kettles they headed for mainland and up-Island points.

Meanwhile, a dribble of American tourists began the seasonal pilgrimage to the land of tea and crumpets.

★ ★ ★

In the next four days they will invade the city, swelling tea-house coffers with their money and making the hallowed city monuments echo to their nasal drawl.

In return the city will turn its sunny smile on full blast.

A host of entertainment from the kiddies Easter parade to frostbite races in Cadboro Bay will mark the start of the summer season.

★ ★ ★

Parks officials today were preparing for a mammoth rush to the city greenery.

Coach-line and ferry services were working full blast in preparation for the thousands who will be on the move.

Hotels and motels dusted away signs of winter slackness from little used rooms.

Victoria's grand old lady, the Empress, prepared for a busy weekend.

★ ★ ★

Housewives and office girls flocked to buy summer frillies. For them it will be a gay Easter of pastel colored dresses and sunny bonnets.

For others it will be a religious Easter.

Clergymen all were preparing for Easter weekend services.

Churches will be full to the doors Good Friday as thousands mark the true spirit of the Easter weekend.

For policemen everywhere it will be a hectic Easter.

As traffic builds up on highways all available men will be called in to deal with resulting jams.

Inspector Ray Maitland, head of city police traffic division, warned motorists to follow the simple safety rules:

Avoid speed, give signals, be considerate and leave plenty of stopping space.

For many it will be a disastrous weekend.

Some will die, others will be seriously injured.

Two were killed in the province last year over the holiday. Only a miracle can prevent it happening again.

Sports fans with a stay-at-home complex can take their pick of a weekend soccer tournament and a Western Hockey League game between Victoria Maple Leafs and Portland Buckaroos.

★ ★ ★

It's going to be a lively Easter with something for everyone.

Even Victoria weatherman William Mackie came through with a promise of plenty of sunshine with just a few clouds.

Temperatures will reach to the lower 60's, staying around the 40 mark at night.

All-in-all, a very warm Easter to everybody.

HOLIDAY HOURS BARS CLOSED FRIDAY

All liquor outlets in Victoria will be closed Good Friday.

Bars and beer parlors will lock their doors at 11:30 tonight and leave them locked until Saturday morning.

Major stores will be closed Good Friday as will the Public Library and the Provincial Museum.

Stores will be open as usual on Saturday, but the library remains closed until Tuesday morning.

The Provincial Museum will be open Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Other government offices close at 5 p.m. today and remain closed until Tuesday morning.

$35 Wage Hike Awarded Police

By AB KENT
Times City Hall Reporter

Three metropolitan police departments have settled wage contracts granting increases of up to $35 a month for first-class constables.

An arbitration board sitting on binding settlement of police-fire department matters for Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay handed down reports today.

Full details of the police settlement — which was arrived at amicably during arbitration hearings last week — were not immediately available.

Outcome of the firemen's arbitration, hinging on a six-hour reduction of the work week, was not known.

Firemen emerging from hearings after putting their case for a 42-hour week seemed confident of their position.

Victoria police were getting $502 a month (first class constable) and now will get $520 until July 1 when the rate goes up to $528.

Saanich and Oak Bay departments will grant the same salary for first class constables and the schedule for higher classifications will remain the same as for Victoria.

Saanich police had been at a disadvantage compared with Victoria, first class constables receiving $493 last year.

Settlement is based on a one-year contract.

It's Enough to Curl Your Fur

"And would you believe it, she came to the show in pin curls. But then what can you expect . . . no breeding, that's the trouble. You only have to look at the fur coat she wears; she wore the same one last year. Not that I mean to be catty, but after all there is a limit. Why, Marmaduke was saying only the other day he'd seen her drinking milk out of a saucer. Isn't it disgraceful? And her entering the same show as us; you know, the international show at Esquimalt Sports Centre. They say there'll be celebrities on hand from across Canada and the U.S. Of course I'll be there April 24 and 25. But then as you know, darling, I'm invited to all the best shows. Bye . . ." Deadline Miss Stalls Details On School Rate

The education department missed its statutory deadline today for announcement of provincial grants to individual school districts.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said the grants schedule will not be ready until Tuesday.

The delay could complicate the efforts of some municipalities to meet their statutory deadline of May 15 for striking a mill rate.

School boards cannot determine the school mill rate until they know the size of their individual grants. Municipal councils generally withhold final decision on general purpose mill rates until they know what the school taxes will be.

The department was reported swamped under the load of calculating how the $77,700,000 provincial grants will be divided up this year among the 100 school districts.

Last year the grants totalled $72,200,000.

Mr. Peterson said the $5,500,000 increase would cover normal growth and did not involve any modification of the present sliding scale formula for sharing of operating and capital school costs.

Last year, Greater Victoria school district received a grant of $4,846,402.

GRANTS BUDGET

If the approximately 8 per cent increase in the total provincial grants budget proves to be applicable to the Greater Victoria school district, its 1965-66 grant should be in the neighborhood of $5,200,000.

However, the province's sliding scale formula could increase or lower that figure.

3 Months in Jail

A man convicted previously on two counts of vagrancy was sentenced to three months in jail today for causing a disturbance Wednesday in the Royal London Wax Museum.

Frank Ellis, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to the charge. Police said his breath smelled strongly of alcohol when he was arrested.

Ask The Times

Q. Who is the author of Sex and the Single Girl? S.K.

A. Helen Gurley Brown.

Q. What is a viper-fish? D.A.

A. It is a small elongated deep-water fish with long, fang-like teeth. It is found at 54 to 487 fathoms off the west coasts of the Queen Charlotte Islands and Vancouver Island.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

THIS FIVE-YEAR-OLD FIVE-PLEX
is as attractive an investment as any, and safer than most BECAUSE
(1) It is situated in one of our best rental locations.
(2) The rents, ranging from $64 to $77 are moderate, sensible rents that most people can afford to pay.
(3) Reasonable taxes.
(4) Separate oil furnaces and separate laundry rooms spell happy tenancy and trouble-free management.

DON'T BUY THIS PROPERTY just because we say it's good but we do suggest that it may be to YOUR ADVANTAGE to arrange an appointment with DON BACON to peruse the financial statement and examine all aspects of this investment opportunity. Then, by all means, compare this with others. You will soon draw your own conclusions without any assistance from us.

UNUSUAL PROPERTIES
The following estates are of no interest to the typical average subdivision dweller. Apply only if you are an individualist. Preference will be given to the client who can produce a certificate from a psychoanalyst to show that he has an inner directed personality.

(1) VIEW ROYAL
The ultimate in privacy. 2½ acres of rugged rocky terrain with 64 feet waterfrontage. A home that is unusual. Price $21,800.

(2) VICTORIA WEST
¾ acre of parklike privacy. Towering shade trees and variety of fruit and nut trees. View of the water, the railroad track, the log booms, the city. Big old house (sound) built so long ago that it is a part of our early history. (Some of the lumber was transported around the Horn.) Price $17,000.

(3) TRI-LEVEL TRIUMPH
Built by an individualist. Planned to accommodate a big family. Large living room (with huge plate glass windows) big family-size kitchen (more plate glass). Four bedrooms on the second level. And on the third level a huge family room about the size of a dance hall. Large attached garage plastered to harmonize with the living room. Big lot. Preference will be given to family with seven children, full-grown German Shepherd dog and two goats. Price $15,000.

BIGGEST RAID

200 Planes Bombard Viet Reds

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—An armada of 230 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes bombed a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border from "dawn to dusk" today in the biggest air raid of the Viet Nam war.

U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine aircraft based in South Viet Nam were joined by navy planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway and Skyraider fighter-bombers of the South Vietnamese Air Force. They dropped approximately 1,000 tons of bombs.

It was the first time U.S. Navy planes had gone into action against targets inside South Viet Nam. Previous navy raids have been made on North Viet Nam.

Planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet also carried out the first United States night flight over North Viet Nam Wednesday night. A spokesman said no bombs were dropped or rockets fired because no targets were seen.

Radio Saigon said South Vietnamese fighter-bombers also were over North Viet Nam after dark and that they bombed a military convoy.

A Communist broadcast from Hanoi said the U.S. planes struck at night "in an attempt to avoid the disastrous defeats which had befallen their previous raids conducted in plain daylight."

DENOUNCED THE RAID

North Viet Nam denounced the night raid which it said was over "several villages" and protested to the International Control Commission on Indochina about raids on populated areas.

A U.S. spokesman said the target of today's bombing raid near the Cambodian border was a tangled jungle region nearly two miles wide by 3½ miles long in Cay Ninh province, 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

The raid was directed against "bunker type" installations as well as other Communist targets.

By late afternoon a huge wall of smoke and fire obscured the Cambodian border. There had been six secondary explosions, presumably from Viet Cong ammunition caches.

Kent Guides Nation's War On Poverty

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson confirmed today appointment of his special assistant Tom Kent as chief of staff for the Canadian government's war on poverty and the setting up of a cabinet committee to make plans.

The special cabinet planning committee will oversee the five-point program set out in the throne speech April 5. Mr. Pearson will be chairman and Labor Minister MacEachen vice-chairman.

The program covers a Canada Assistance Plan, the Company of Young Canadians, a rural development fund, labor mobility and training measures, and extension of area development programs to provide new forms of industrial assistance in low-income areas.

A special planning secretariat directed by Mr. Kent, will begin work on four tasks:

1. Analysis of existing federal measures aimed at overcoming inadequate economic and social opportunities.
2. Assessment of the extent and nature of the problems of
3. Development of proposals for further federal measures and for their co-ordination in the interests of maximum effectiveness.
4. Consultation with the provinces so federal action can be made in concert with provincial measures.

Firemen Get 42-Hour Work Week

Victoria firefighters will start a 42-hour work week October 1, city manager Dennis Young said this afternoon on receiving a binding arbitration report dealing with 1965 contract demands.

Report of the three-man board headed by George Rogers, of Vancouver, turned down city requests to have a firemen's telephone allowance cut off and to reduce paid statutory holidays by one. Mr. Young said the shorter week—necessitating the hiring of a dozen new firemen—means an added cost of $15,000 this year and up to nearly $100,000 by the end of the new firefighters' probationary period. Steelworkers Reject Company Offer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union rejected today an American steel industry offer to swap an extension of the May 1 strike date for certain contract improvements.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, announced the rejection of the latest industry offer at a press conference.

Viking Crashes Near Queen's Plane

MANSTON, England (UPI)—A Viking aircraft of Invicta Airways crash-landed at Manston Airport today just as Queen Elizabeth's plane was about to take off.

As the Viking was landing empty on a flight from Rotterdam, it tipped on its nose and was badly damaged.

300 Watch As Woman Burns Herself

LYONS (UPI)—A 37-year-old Frenchwoman set fire to herself in Lyons main post office today before the eyes of 300 horrified onlookers.

Mme. Suzanne Gisclon shut herself inside one of the entrances by roping up the double glass doors at each end. Then she stuck a notice on the door saying: "My brother has been unjustly imprisoned. If justice is not done, I will burn myself alive.'

Bribery Suspect Arrested In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph Frank Polito, 32, charged with attempted bribery in a Seattle University basketball game, was arrested today by FBI agents at the home of his parents.

Polito was indicted April 7 by a federal grand jury in Seattle on charges of conspiring to manipulate the outcome of a basketball game by bribery. Also indicted was Leo Enrico Casale, 24, also of Chicago, who pleaded not guilty to the charge. He is awaiting trial.

WILSON TELLS LBJ:

U.K. Supports U.S. Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today after a conference with President Lyndon Johnson that Britain strongly supports the U.S. position in Viet Nam, but that no aid can be expected from London in the struggle against Communist guerrillas.

Wilson said Britain was unable to offer more than expressed support because it is so heavily committed in Malaysia and the Middle East.

Johnson and Wilson conferred for about an hour before a White House luncheon in the prime minister's honor.

The luncheon itself was delayed more than 30 minutes while the two leaders completed their business talk. Johnson planned to leave later today for an Easter weekend in Texas.

CORDIAL, FRUITFUL

Johnson said the private meeting with Wilson was "very interesting, very cordial, very fruitful."

While mutual monetary and economic problems were high on the agenda, the situation in Southeast Asia, as expected, came in for considerable discussion.

Wilson said:

"I expressed the very warm support our people gave to his Baltimore speech (on Viet Nam). "It was very much welcomed by our people. It answered the doubts a lot of people had all over the world."

At this point, Wilson was asked whether he foresaw an "increased British role in Viet Nam." The prime minister quickly ruled this out on grounds that British strength is "quite fully committed" in Malaysia in addition to extensive peacekeeping efforts in the Middle East.

However, Wilson gave enthusiastic support to the U.S. position as outlined in the Baltimore speech for three reasons. He said it reflected U.S. determination to continue resistance to violence in Southeast Asia, it held out the hope of the discussion and negotiation of peaceful settlement, "and it was forward-looking — raising the horizons by very hopeful suggestions" of co-operative economic development of the area.

"I think the president said quite fully what the position should be on discussions and it is now up to other countries to respond to that position," Wilson said.

Firm Gets Go Ahead On Heavy Water Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — Atomic Energy of Canada Limited has declared "technically sound" the heavy water production process proposed by Western Deuterium Company of Victoria, Industry Minister Drury announced today.

The announcement, in effect, is the go-ahead for Western Deuterium's big heavy water plant at Estevan, Sask. (See story on Page 8.)

EXECUTED

Viet Cong Terrorist Ran Out of Names

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—A Vietnamese firing squad today executed a young Viet Cong terrorist who tried to bomb a hotel filled with American servicemen.

A crowd of about 2,000 civilians watched the execution from roof and tree top perches ringing the soccer stadium.

A ripple of applause could be heard from the spectators gathered atop a railway bridge as bullets tore into the body of Le Dua, 24, a Communist agent with a long record of terrorist activities.

Le Dua was the confessed leader of three separate terrorist squads operating in the Da Nang area. He was captured April 4 as he carried a transistor radio packed with explosives into Da Nang's grand hotel.

A military court quickly ordered the death penalty for Le Dua but he won several reprieves by revealing the names of fellow Viet Cong agents. As Le Dua continued to talk the execution was postponed.

He ran out of names yesterday. A Military tribunal tried him again yesterday and reaffirmed the death sentence.

Reported Seen In Burnaby Area

BURNABY (CP)—A reported positive identification of murder suspect Russell Spears turned a police hunt to this suburban Vancouver municipality today.

But police had found no sign of Spears at noon, 15 hours after the report.

They kept their main activity centred on the Okanagan Valley, where the shot was fired last Saturday that fatally wounded an RCMP constable.

Burnaby police said a person spotted driving a sedan car was identified from a photograph as Russell Spears, 59, of Westbank.

Spears is charged with capital murder in the slaying of Const. N. M. Bruce, 26, who died four days after suffering a gunshot wound last Saturday at a cabin in the Okanagan Valley.

The suspect was driving a sedan with a trailer hitch and Hula-girl mascot in the rear window. The police informants, not identified, did not get the licence number and RCMP in the main search area in the interior said Spears did not own a car of the description given.

Const. Bruce was shot when he investigated a report that a 17-year-old girl was being held against her will near Westbank.

"We don't know just how much importance to attach to the identification by photograph," a police spokesman said. "But we can't ignore it.

"He is still believed to be in the Westbank area but there's always the possibility he could have got a car and got out."

The girl, Beverley Charest, was shot in the jaw in the same incident and is unable to speak. She has written an account of the circumstances for police.

FLAG LOWERED

The flag in front of the RCMP station was lowered to half staff Wednesday as more men and dogs were brought in to intensify the search that has been in progress since Saturday.

Most of the RCMP efforts are concentrated in the rugged Black Canyon-Powers Creek area about 20 miles southwest of here, a region of clear slopes frequently dotted with deep, steep, bush-filled ravines and swift-running creeks. Old prospectors' cabins abound in the area.

There is snow on the ground above the 4,000-foot level.

Police said Spears has a long history of living off the land. It

Wig Thieves Loot Second Toronto Firm

TORONTO (UPI)—Police today linked a $7,000 theft of some 125 hair pieces with an international ring of wig thieves.

A downtown wig store was looted Wednesday night of an assortment of wigs and police said it was possible that the same gang is responsible for a $10,000 theft of wigs from another Toronto firm in February.

"We've been told this has got to be a real big business in the States," said Det. George Hogg. "There's a wig shortage down there and it's possible the stolen goods are heading that way."

Police said it was possible the Toronto thefts were connected with wig thefts in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago, and other American cities.

YOUTH CORPS

Canadian Task Force Head Named

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson today announced initial steps to get his company of young Canadians organized and on the road.

The troop-leader for the job will be 29-year-old Duncan Edmonds, persently executive assistant to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

Edmonds has been associated with a number of student organizations including the Canadian university service overseas which Wednesday received a promise of $500,000 from the government to expand its work.

A former political science lecturer at Carleton University in Ottawa, Edmonds will be the secretary of the organizing committee. Other appointments will be announced soon.

Pearson said the CYC would be a focal point for "the service to the community which many young Canadians are eager to give, both at home and abroad."

Windfall Shares 'Regarded as Loan'

TORONTO (CP) — John Campbell, former director of the Ontario Securities Commission, testified today he got 5,000 shares of Windfall Oils and Mines Limited stock from Mrs. Viola MacMillan.

Mr. Campbell—who held the securities post at the time—told a royal commission investigating Windfall's July, 1964 fluctuations he was handed the stock by Mrs. MacMillan, wife of Windfall president, at a time when he was working to keep Windfall from being suspended by the Toronto Stock Exchange.

He said he regarded the transaction as a loan. The commission had heard previous evidence that he repaid the stock Aug. 4, 1964. He obtained it July 12.

Mr. Campbell testified Mrs. MacMillan handed him the 5,000 shares at a hotel here, where he had gone to try to persuade her and her husband George to provide additional information about Windfall for the exchange. It was threatening to suspend the stock because of lack of information to counteract rumors of an ore strike that had sent Windfall skyrocketing.

ORCHARDIST FEARS FOR SAFETY OF FAMILY

'I Saw Someone Staggering Up . . .'

KELOWNA (CP)—An eye-witness to Saturday's shootings in Westbank said today he will not stay in his own home at night.

George Webber, a fruit farmer, said he takes his family away from their house at night to stay with relatives.

He returns to tend his orchards only during the day.

Mr. Webber, who turned in the complaint Saturday morning that Const. N. M. Bruce was answering when he was shot, said householders in the area are jittery.

He said they fear murder suspect Russell Spears is still in the area.

Mr. Webber said he phoned the Kelowna RCMP detachment Saturday morning after his 14-year-old son told him about a man trying to "corner" him in Black Canyon.

Mr. Webber said his son became suspicious when a car without lights drove slowly past the Webber home about 6 a.m. Saturday.

The boy followed the car about half a mile to a Black Canyon cabin, where a girl called out to him from behind a tree.

A man appeared from the cabin and ordered the girl inside then tried to "corner" the boy.

The youth ran home and told his father. When the police arrived, they parked in Mr. Webber's front yard, he said, and told him to stand by the radio in the car.

Const. K. E. Jones stationed himself atop a bluff near the trail to the cabin, and Const. Bruce walked along the trail.

Mr. Webber said the next thing he knew, Jones was shouting to him to radio the Kelowna detachment.

Mr. Webber said he was unable to operate the radio, and when Const. Jones ran to the car, he too had difficulty.

"Then I saw someone staggering up the trail yelling for help," said Mr. Webber.

"At first I thought it was the constable, there was so much blood. I started to run over that way, and I saw it was a girl . . . she was all blood, all over her face. Her sweater was soaked with it."

Mr. Webber took the girl, 17-year-old Beverley Charest, to hospital in Kelowna.

"I'm a veteran," said Mr. Webber, "but it got me to see something like that right here."

'Obey Civil Rights Law' Alabama Firms Urge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Twenty-two of Alabama's most influential business groups, possibly indicating a crack in the state's "hard line" segregation stand, today called upon the people of Alabama to obey the civil rights law.

"In light of recent developments in Alabama, we feel that the business community has an obligation to speak out for what it believes to be right," the groups said in a full page advertisement in the Birmingham Post-Herald, Alabama's largest morning newspaper.

The far-ranging statement said many Alabama people disagree with the civil rights law, but added, "we do, however, have an obligation to abide by it, and this we will do."

There was no immediate reaction from Gov. George Wallace or other state officials.

But observers saw the statement as an indication of growing support by Alabama business leaders for acceptance of the law, severely criticized in the state.

These observers also sensed a more moderate stand on civil rights by Alabama lawmakers. A special session of the legislature currently is engaged in legislation to ease voter registration requirements in the state.

Canadair Files Suit

MONTREAL (CP)— Canadair Limited today filed a suit alleging contempt of court against the union involved in a strike at the company's suburban aircraft plant.

Mississippi Cresting Due Friday

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, both in a state of emergency, watched the rampaging Mississippi River inch upward today toward an all-time record crest.

St. Paul lowlands were flooded and at least five Minneapolis industrial areas were threatened.

The Mississippi reached 25.5 feet in St. Paul today—11.5 feet above flood stage—and the river is expected to crest at 27 feet Friday and hold that level several days.

The big St. Paul dikes through the heart of St. Paul were holding and engineers were confident they'll stand the crest, although underground water gushed up, flooding a four-mile-long stretch on the east side of the river.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin said today that under present conditions it appears southern Manitoba's Red River Valley will have flood conditions within the next two weeks of "equal dimension" to that of 1948.

This means that "very serious" flooding may be expected in the town of Emerson on the North Dakota border and in Morris, 30 miles north of Emerson.

Flooding could also be expected in the Elm Park area of metropolitan Winnipeg.

WIRE BRIEFS

Third Day of Riots

SEOUL (Reuters) — The South Korean government moved troops into the centre of Seoul today to quell violent riots over relations with Japan. Some 3,500 demonstrators, led by students, fought through tear gas and smoke in clashes with riot police for the third straight day.

Walker In Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—British special envoy Patrick Gordon Walker arrived here today on the first stage of a Far East peace probe over Viet Nam but there was still no sign the Communists would talk to him.

RECENTLY RETIRED Ganges postmaster, A. J. (Pop) Eaton, was presented with a silver tray at a community reception in Ganges Legion hall. Mrs. Eaton looks on. Mr. Eaton, who served the Gulf Islands postal service for 41 years, also received a purse from Island businessmen and an engraved pen and stand.

Good Friday Service To Unite Churches

DUNCAN—Two churches combine here Good Friday for an evening service.

United and Presbyterian congregations will worship together in the United Church and the preacher will be Mr. Ronald MacMillan of the Presbyterian Church.

Combined choirs will sing God So Loved the World from Stainer's Crucifixion and other anthems.

At St. John's Anglican Church there will be a three-hour seven words service Good Friday and regular services Easter Sunday plus a special afternoon service for Sunday school students and parents.

The three-hour devotional service at St. Peter's Quamichan Good Friday will be conducted by Major W. W. Buckston, a Victoria army chaplain.

Rev. Ted Greenhalgh, rector, will conduct the Easter Sunday services which will include a special evensong.

Students Help Loan Campaign

CAMPBELL RIVER—Students of the secondary school believe in the importance and value of student loans.

The Students Council this week made a donation of $100 to the Student Assistance Association which has set a goal of $10,000 in assets.

It is the second such donation to the association made by the group.

Logger Sports to Return As Campbell River Fete

CAMPBELL RIVER — Return of logger sports to Campbell River after an absence of several years, will highlight the rejuvenated July 1 celebrations here.

Logging superintendent Dan McKenzie was named chairman of the celebrations committee this week and promptly named another head logger, Ike Barber, to work with him to organize and run the events.

The two will visit other areas to obtain ideas for a program. Loggers from all over the north end of the Island are expected to compete.

The Rotary Club will take on the parade again this year, Lions Club will stage a gala dance and Jaycees are planning a July 1 salmon derby.

Other events being considered include canoe races, Indian dances and a day-long fair.

Again this year, merchants will work together to promote the community in another "pow wow" days celebration May 20 to 22.

Plans call for competitions between merchants for best window displays, best costumes and best advertising promotion.

A dance at Discovery Inn will wind-up the affair.

Useful suggestions are worth money to employees of Crown Zellerbach's Elk Falls operation.

At a company sponsored dinner last week, a total of $1,729 was handed out to 46 employees for suggestions accepted and put into use during the year.

Highest single cash award went to Clarence Lutes who received $230. Biggest winner was Fred Wood who had six suggestions accepted during the year and collected $356.

Although a new name for Gold River is mooted in some quarters, such a change isn't likely, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said this week.

"Although a suggestion was made to name the new town Strathcona, I feel it would be unlikely Gold River would ever be known as anything else. It will always be referred to as such and any name change is extremely doubtful," he said.
